
CONVENIENCE in an auto accident may not seem like a proper word, but the lettering on the sign near which this car came to rest Wednesday morning following a crash in the city would indicate a convenience. The sign at left advertises auto tune-up and repair. The car was driven by Carl Torgerson, rt. 2, TRF, and was passing another west-bound car at the intersection of Eighth street and Dewey avenue when struck on the left side by a car driven by James Sculthorp, rt. 4, making a right turn from Dewey avenue to go east on Eighth street. The mishap occurred about 11:35 a.m. and the Torgerson car caromed over the curb and knocked down a railroad crossing sign. About $350 damage was done to the Torgerson car and $150 to the Sculthorp vehicle. Charges are pending in the mishap.

Crop Condition

The Times reported last Thursday that I told Rotary that the crop picture is not as bad as it seems. What I told Rotary was that about 10 per cent of the crop was seeded early and another, about 20 per cent was seeded in late June and first part of July. I also pointed out that it's too early to say what the late seeded crop will do. I also said that the only thing some farmers planted were tractors which have been stuck in the field most of the year, particularly in the east part of the county.

The bright spot in the county's agricultural picture is livestock production. In 1959 about 3 million dollars out of 5 million was derived from livestock. (The livestock income was not 1 million dollars, as reported by the Times). More livestock production would further stabilize the farm economic picture. In addition to livestock income the farmers will receive help through various government programs and there will also be some crop income if the weatherman co-operates from here on in and permits filling of late seeded grains and harvest of the hay crop.

I have seen too much of the county crop conditions to report a happy crop picture. The crop condition is most serious.

Farmers May Claim Gas Tax Refund

You may claim a 4 cents per-gallon refund of the federal tax on gasoline purchased and used for farming purposes during the period July 1, 1961, through June 30, 1962.

But you must file a claim on tax form 2240. The deadline for filing this form is September 30. It should be mailed to the office of your District Director of Internal Revenue. In Minnesota this office is located in St. Paul.

A farmer with 200 acres can expect a total refund of $50 to $100. Last year, many eligible farmers failed to file their applications for the refund.

If you have not already received it in the mail, pick up form 2240 at the county agent's office.

Cattle Need Fly Control

Extremely high populations of bloodsucking stable flies and increasing numbers of face flies are making life miserable for cattle. Abundant moisture has provided favorable breeding conditions for stable flies and houseflies. Farmers have an obligation to give their cows relief from flies by applying effective control measures.

For dairy cattle use pyrethrins, ciodrin or DDVP. Ciodrin (pronounced "Sigh-o-drin"), an effective new material approved for fly control in dairy cattle, may not yet be generally available.

Beef cattle may be sprayed with Co-ral or ronnel or any of the materials used on dairy cattle. Barns and other animal housing structures should be treated with a residual fly control material or insecticide such as diazinon (Korlan), ronnel (Cygon), or dimethoate.

For detailed information on fly control pick up Extension Folder 192 "Fly Control For Livestock," at your county extension office.

Erskine Tops in Midget Tourney

Coach Doug Donley's Erskine team proved to be the Cinderella team of the Midgets baseball tournament that was concluded here on Wednesday afternoon. The Erskine team defeated coach Dan Neppel's East Grand Forks club, 5-4, in the finals to win the championship trophy presented by the local aerie of the Eagles lodge, who sponsored and conducted the tournament.

In first-round games played on Tuesday (the tournament had been slated to begin on Monday, but wet grounds forced a one day's postponement), East Grand Forks defeated McIntosh, 10-0; and Erskine edged out Fosston, 6-5.

In semi-finals game played on Tuesday afternoon, East Grand Forks, trailing the Thief River Falls Midgets by a 6-3 score in the fifth inning, rallied for eight runs to defeat coach Gene Sack's locals, 11-7; and Erskine defeated the Crookston club, seeded the number one team in the tournament, 8-5.

Rotary Golfers Edge Lions Club

Experience, Own Scoring Provide Victory Margin

Years of practice and experience apparently paid off for the Thief River Falls Rotary club in the annual golf match against the Lions club Monday evening at the Thief River Golf club. Scoring deftly manipulated by Jarvis Prichard, Justus Larson and L. L. Tygeson, the program committee of the host Rotarians, proved conclusively that the Rotary club scored a decisive victory. The Lions won last year's match.

J. M. Roche, Rotary club president, presided at the combined session which was attended by a large number from both clubs. Dr. O. D. Belch, in the absence of Dr. George Martin, Lions club president, responded for the guest organization. He commented on the good fellowship shown in the matches, to the extent that "Frank Tunberg even let somebody play through".

Regular meetings for both organizations were canceled this week in favor of the combined session. Both clubs will have regular sessions next week.

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank all our friends and relatives for the many kindnesses shown us during our time of sorrow. Sincere thanks to those who brought food to the home, and also to the Germantown ladies aid for serving after the funeral. To Rev. Heltne for his comforting words; to Mrs. Arnold Hammer for her songs, to Gloria Philipp, organist, the pallbearers, the Green Funeral Home, and for cards, letters, memorials and flowers. The thoughtfulness of all will be remembered by the family of Henry Limesand. 1t64c

Card of Thanks
August third was a happy birthday for me. Many dear friends and relatives met me with choice presents and a nice purse of money. The Lord gave me a lovely birthday and the night gave my garden a good shower.
I hope to meet all of the dear people in 1963 and give them the same old right hand. It appears to me, the older you get, the happier your birthdays. Love to all who came to see me. — George Eastman. 1t64c

Card of Thanks
I wish to thank all who visited me, sent cards and flowers. The Ladies Aid for flowers and nurses for the wonderful care given me while I was a patient at Northwestern hospital. Also thank you to the doctors. God bless you all, Mrs. Will Wayne. 1t64p

Thieves Victory Keeps Tourney Hopes Alive

Turning in their finest all-round performance of the season, and with lefty Freddy Jensen throwing a two-hit shutout, manager Joey Poole's Thieves defeated the Fosston Jets 3-0 in a Norman-Polk league tournament game played at Fosston on Wednesday night. The well-played game (only three errors were charged in the contest) was completed in the remarkable time of one hour and 35 minutes for the nine innings.

The Thieves scored what proved to be enough runs for the victory in the opening inning. Paul Klungness opened with a ground single into right field; brother Gary Klungness followed with a single to center field, sending Paul around to third base. Harlie Drees, who played a stellar game at shortstop, lofted a fly ball to center field, with Paul Klungness scoring after the catch, and Gary Klungness moving to second. John Drury banged a double to right field, scoring Gary Klungness. Joey Poole grounded out, second to first, and Marv Lundin skied to left field.

The locals added their final tally by scoring an unearned run in the fourth. With one out, Jensen reached first base when third baseman Walt Olson fumbled a ground ball. Buzz Ward rapped the first of his two doubles into right field, with Jensen stopping at third. Paul Klungness beat out a hit to shortstop, scoring Jensen, and giving the Thieves a 3-0 lead.

Jensen set down Fosston in order in four of the nine innings, and only in the fourth frame did the Jets make a serious bid to score. In the fourth, Jensen nicked Mark Carlin with a pitch, and Stan Otness followed with a wrong-field single down the third-base line. Bill Cline flied out to Drury in left field; Clayt Johnson bounced to the mound, with Jensen making the play at first base; and with runners on second and third, Dave Carlin grounded to second baseman Joey Poole who tossed to Ward for the side-retiring out.

Joey Poole played a wide-ranging game at second base for the Thieves, having two putouts and four assists, and in the sixth he moved far to his left to rob Mark Carlin of a hit, making a fine stop and throw to retire the speedy Fosston shortstop.

As a result of Twin Valley trimming Crookston 10-7 last night at Fertile in the other second-round game, the Thieves will meet Crookston at 8:15 p.m. Friday at the Fosston diamond. Loser of the game will be eliminated from further tourney play.

If the Thieves win Friday night, they will play Twin Valley on Sunday at a site to be selected by the Twins. A final game, if necessary in the double-elimination tourney, will be played Monday night. Crookston and Thief River Falls each have a tournament loss while Twin Valley is undefeated.

Rabbit and Squirrel Hunting Seasons Set

Minnesota game and fish director James W. Kimball today announced the 1962 hunting seasons for rabbits, squirrels, raccoons, woodcock, Wilson snipe, rails and gallinules.

Rabbits, including cottontails, jacks and snowshoe hares may be taken from September 29, 1962 through March 1, 1963, both dates inclusive. The statewide seasons provide for a daily bag and possession limit of 10 and 20 on cottontails, jacks and hares with shooting hours from sunrise to sunset.

Squirrels, both gray and fox, can be hunted from September 29 through December 31. Daily bag and possession limits have been set at 7 and 14 in the aggregate. Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset.

Field reports indicate that there are good squirrel populations this year and that the rabbits, except jacks in some areas, are about the same as last year.

Over 800,000 rabbits and squirrels were harvested last year.

Raccoon hunting, which is permitted 24 hours a day, begins September 29 and extends through December 31, 1962. No limit has been placed on the number of 'coons that can be taken.

Raccoon populations remain at a high level.

The sporty woodcock becomes fair game on September 22 for a 40 day season extending through October 31. This year the woodcock hunting again opens with the grouse season. This will allow hunters to take either woodcock or grouse on the opening day in the area where these species are found together Woodcock may be hunted from sunrise to sunset with a daily bag and possession limit of 4 and 8.

Reports on woodcock from the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service indicate that they exist in about the same numbers as last year.

Wilson or jack snipe will have a 30 day season opening on September 22. Like woodcock they may be hunted statewide from sunrise to sunset with the bag and possession limit 8 and 8, respectively.

Rails and gallinules also open September 22. The season runs through November 10. Daily bag and possession limits for all species except sora rails has been established at 15 in the aggregate by the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

Sora rails will have a daily and possession limit of 25.

Conservation officials announced that further information on 1962 hunting seasons will soon be forthcoming.

Softball League Champions

The V. F. W. team, with Wally Grovum doing the pitching, Joey Poole developing the strategy, and Harlie Drees covering third base, won the city softball league championship on Tuesday evening. That's the league championship, not the city championship. The playoffs, which will begin next week, will determine the city championship.

The Vets, though, owe a debt to the Bridgeman's, for it was the defeat of the Hartz Stores, by a 5-4 score, by the Bridgeman's that gave the Vets their chance at the league title. The two teams were tied, the Hartz and the Vets, for the league lead entering play on Tuesday.

That Bridgeman's vs. Hartz game was of league-championship caliber, and the decision was in doubt until the last half of the seventh inning when the Bridgeman's scored a run to break a 4-all tie. Paul Klungness led off the inning by gaining a "life" on an error. Paul stole second, and then tallied on John Drury's double into left-center. Jimmy Weckwerth of the Hartz produced the game's longest blow, a home run into the tennis court in right field in the fifth, giving the Hartz a short-lived 4-3 lead.

Following the Hartz vs. Bridgeman's game on Tuesday evening, the Vets and the Thief River Grain played off their postponed game of Monday evening. And the Vets, in a six-inning tilt, won by an 8-5 score. For four innings, Wally Grovum, who has developed into one of the better pitchers in the league, had a no-hit and no-run fame, but in the fifth the youthful Thief River Grain squad unloaded for five hits and four runs.

Must mention that one of the more colorful players in the league this season, and who is perhaps as tough a competitor as there is in the circuit, is young John Hellquist, the shortstop of the Thief River Grain. He is all over the field, backing up throws, picking off pop flies, and in general making himself useful. John will be a junior in high school this year, and he should be a possibility for Ralph Skay's baseball Prowlers next season.

A Real Bargain

An effort is being made to secure a bus-load of baseball fans for the Minnesota Twins vs. Boston Red Sox game at Metropolitan stadium on Sunday, August 19. A comfortable Northwest Trails bus is available, with Dale Bruggeman in charge of the tour, for the Sunday date, and for a fee of $11.00, a fellow can make the round-trip, and this includes the admission price to the game. Pretty hard to beat such a deal.

According to present plans, and it is hoped that a group of thirty-five or more fans will "sign-up" for the trip, the bus will leave here at about 5:30 a. m.; and will return the same night.

Anyone interested in the trip should call Dale Bruggeman or Clyde Shumway for further details or reservations.

All Defense

There were 5,500 football fans in the stands in the Bemidji State college stadium on Saturday night for the "controlled scrimmage" game between the Minnesota Vikings and the Dallas Cowboys.

The scrimmage was stacked in favor of the defense, and on the over-all score the defense won by a 49 to 16 score. Broken down to the two teams, the Vikings edged out the Cowboys, 34 to 31. And it's understandable that the defense had the edge when the scoring rules are examined: for the offense, six points were credited for a touchdown, three points for a field goal, one point for a conversion, and one point for a first down; while for the defense, five points were awarded for a pass interception, three points for a recovered fumble, two points for holding the offense on downs or forcing a punt situation, and two points for a safety.

A heavy rain, which ended at seven o'clock Saturday evening, soaked the field and made the running plays of both squads ineffective, and this, too, favored the defensive units. It was just about impossible for the halfbacks to pick up yardage on slants off the tackles, and the two "name" fullbacks, Mel Triplett of the Vikings and Amos Marsh of the Cowboys, were unable to generate much power on their plunges into the line.

Deer Hunters Took 106,763 Last Fall

Minnesota Nimrods Have Best Season in History

Minnesota deer hunters had the best season in history last year with 106,763 deer being taken by firearms hunters and another 490 being bagged by archers, according to the conservation department game and fish division.

The 1961 firearms deer kill went over the 100,000 mark for the second time in the last five years. Best previous year was 1959 when 104,335 of the big animals were bagged by firearm hunters and 390 more taken by archers.

In northeastern Minnesota, considered the prime deer range, the percentage of those hunting who actually bagged a deer was a big 47.5 per cent. Approximately 72 per cent of all the deer killed in the state were taken in this zone. The northeast was also the most popular hunting area with 66.2 per cent of all deer hunters trying their luck there.

Dave Vesall, supervisor of the section of game, said the figures demonstrate again that Minnesota is one of the best white tail deer hunting states in the nation.

"For the past several years, Minnesota has consistently had the highest hunter success ratio and one of the largest total harvests on this species," he said.

Vesall credited a forward looking game management policy, including the "any deer" feature of the hunting season, plus a series of relatively mild winters for the high success experienced by state hunters.

The increasing popularity of archery hunting is indicated by the fact that 13,370 bowhunters were afield last fall, over 1,000 more than in 1960. Archers also took the greatest number of deer in 1961 than in any previous year.

Farmers To Elect ASC Community Officers

Election of community committeemen for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees in Minnesota will be held during the period of September 4 to 14, according to the state ASCS committee. Exact date for the election in Pennington county will be determined by the present county committee and announced at a later date, according to Patrick Culkins, ASCS office manager.

The task of community and county committees involves the administration and supervision of the price stabilization and conservation program of the USDA—a large share of the USDA budget. Currently serving on the state committee are Robert Bergland, Roseau, chairman; Milton Maxwell, LeSueur; and Russell Johnson, Cokato.

Method of election this year will be at an open meeting with nominations from the floor and election by secret ballot. For a number of years the mailed ballot has been used and this year will be in effect only in Cook, Lake, South and North St. Louis and Itasca because of distance and area problems.

Regulations call for township and county elections to be held sometime between July 1 and December 30 of each year. In an effort to get more voters out for balloting, the state committee set this year's election for early September, Bergland said. The attempt is made to select a date when as many farmers as possible can get to the meeting and vote.

Regulations state that any person of legal voting age and who has an interest in a farm as owner, tenant or sharecropper may vote providing his farm is ASCS approved. Persons not of legal voting age may vote if supervising a farm in operation that meets ASCS requirements.

County conventions follow the election of community committeemen and must be held not earlier than three days and not later than 10 days after the last township election. At the county convention, township chairmen or elected alternates cast ballots on the county committee. County chairman, vice chairman, regular member and two alternates are elected by plurality vote.

The three-member county committee hires the county office manager who serves at the will of the committee. Tenure of his position is not definite, except that he can not be dismissed within 60 days after a new committee takes office.

"I believe the farmer committee system has proved successful since its inception in 1934," Bergland stated. "Through the process of holding community elections, it makes it possible for the farmers in each township to elect farmers to represent them. I don't know of any other method of administering government farm programs that would operate as successfully as the farmer committee system."

Road Edge Striping Program Expanded

White Reflectorized Paint Is Being Applied

The edges of more Minnesota highways will loom sharply in headlight beams this year, thanks to an accelerated program of white edge striping. The speed-up will greatly advance plans to outline most of the state's surfaced roads.

Highway department's maintenance areas have ordered 43,765 extra gallons of white reflectorized paint, enough to stripe both sides of 2,307 miles of highway. This will be in addition to the striping previously scheduled for the year.

Prior to 1958, there were no highways in the state with edge stripes. But each year has shown a steadily increasing mileage. Last year 2,163 miles were painted and the original 1962 schedule alone would have about doubled the previous striped mileage.

Experimental edge striping has proven extremely popular with night drivers who find the gleaming white lines easy to follow. Tests are now being conducted to determine how much safer roads will be with striping. It is expected that striping will provide safer driving in fog and in such hazardous areas as sharp curves, intersections and bridge approaches. It is also expected to discourage traffic on shoulders, thus reducing maintenance costs.

However, traffic engineers do not plan to stripe all highways in the state. Frequently, the contrast between the pavement and the shoulder is clear enough to satisfactorily outline the highway. Also, some narrow roads apparently could become more hazardous when stripes exaggerate their narrowness and tempt drivers to cross center lines.

Spotting Drivers with Suspended Licenses

Minnesota police officers have a handy device for spotting cars which may be driven by persons with revoked or suspended licenses.

Uner state law, registration plates are impounded when a car's operator is convicted of driving with a suspended license.

However, special plates with numbers beginning "XW" can be issued when the court orders the original plates turned in. The special plates are provided so that family members or other persons may continue to use the car, but the code number alerts police officers to check whether or not the car's driver has a valid license.

The "XW" plates cost $3.25 and are exchanged for the original plates when the revocation or suspension is lifted.

In 1960 and 1961 there were 504 "XW" plates issued. So far in 1962 there have been 241 issued.

Minnesota highway patrol officers as well as city police and county sheriffs are on the lookout for cars bearing the coded plates in order to check their drivers for proper licenses.

Other letter combinations containing "X" have no special significance, according to safety officials.

Child Evangelism Crusade Aug. 13-17

Nebraska Evangelists at Gospel Tabernacle

Evangelists Mildred Larson and Linda Stiver of Neligh, Nebr., will conduct a children's evangelistic crusade at the Thief River Falls Assembly of God Tabernacle starting Monday, Aug. 13, and continuing each evening thru Friday at 8 to 9:30.

Miss Larson and Miss Stiver are trained in the field of child evangelism and have been in this work for a number of years in the Assembly of God churches in the Mid-Western states.

The crusade will have many features to bring children from ages 4 thru 14 a better knowledge of the Bible.

Music, singing, stories, filmstrips, felt pictures, puppets and scripture verses all will blend into the work of the crusade.

Pastor Waldo Trask of the Assemblies of God Tabernacle extends an invitation to all churches and Sunday schools of the community to attend. The services will be conducted without denominational emphasis.

Apprentice Act Stamp Issued Here September 1

Marking the 25th anniversary of the National Apprenticeship Act and honoring the national apprenticeship training program, a four-cent commemorative stamp will be available at the Thief River Falls post office on September 1. The stamp will be first placed on sale at Washington, D. C., on August 31.

Printed in black on buff colored paper, the stamps depict a gnarled hand offering a micrometer to an outstretched young hand. Initial printing will be 120 million.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington 13, D. C. Cover requests must be postmarked not later than August 31.

One-fourth of all Minnesota drownings involve children of 10 years and under. Studies of these tragic deaths by the water safety section of the Minnesota Safety Council have pinpointed parental neglect as the dominant cause of loss of these young lives. You can and should enjoy the magnificant water recreation opportunities in your Minnesota. But you must maintain constant vigilance when your children are at play near water areas.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

Few Stickers May Go on Windshields

Only Four Types Legal, State Patrol Reports

A clean windshield is not necessarily a clear windshield, especially if it has illegal stickers on it, says the Minnesota highway department.

To be legal, stickers must be authorized by law, by the Director of Civil Defense or by the Commissioner of Highways At the present time, only four types of stickers are legal: State park; civil defense; auto registration application; and safety check.

The state park sticker is issued, for a fee, on an annual basis and only the current year's sticker may be affixed; the Civil Defense sticker is to be displayed on the windshield as long as the owner or operator is engaged in Civil Defense activities; the registration application sticker is to be removed as soon as the license plates are received, while the safety check sticker should be removed prior to the next year's safety check.

All other stickers, the Department points out, must be removed from windshields, side and rear windows of motor vehicles in the interest of safety, regardless of any "understanding" or assumption that they are permissible.

Also on the illegal list are objects suspended between the driver and the windshield, such as baby shoes, "king size" dice, leis, etc., which obstruct the driver's view.

Nearly 50 per cent of the deaths by accidents to farm people involve motor vehicles and more than 50 per cent of these mishaps occur at night.

Editorials . . .

"The true rule, in determining to embrace or reject anything, is not whether it have any evil in it, but whether it have more of evil than of good. There are few things wholly evil or wholly good. Almost everything, especially of government policy, is an inseparable compound of the two, so that our best judgement of the preponderance between them is continually demanded."

Abraham Lincoln

The Law of Averages

There are good crop years and there are poor crop years.

There are excellent crop years and there are bad crop years.

There are best-ever crop years and there are worst-ever crop years.

This year, by general consent, will go down into the records as this area's worst crop year. We have yet to find an old-timer who does not agree with this classification.

Adding to the area difficulty is the fact that this worst crop year followed a bad-crop year. Last year's crop was far below average. For some farmers it was worse than this year.

But what, under the circumstances, pleases us mightily, is the cheerful attitude of our farmers who are taking this measure of adversity with a smile. They seem to be reconciled to the fact that there isn't anything we can do about the weather.

We are hopeful that the law of averages is still working. If it is working then we are due for a long period of normal weather and excellent growing conditions. If the law of averages is working then we have several especially good years ahead of us.

Caution Was Justified

There has been much criticism of our drug testing procedures as a result of the horrible effect in some instances of a sleeping tablet called thalidomide. The drug has been marketed in Europe and Canada, and clinically tested in our country, though never cleared by the Federal Food and Drug Administration. Some pregnant women who had used thalidomide gave birth to hopelessly deformed children.

As a result there now is in the making a general reexamination of pre-marketing tests. Medical scientists, drug manufacturers and public health authorities are concerned about whether new drugs are tested thoroughly enough to assure that they are safe.

We can see little justification for criticism of the manner in which this particular drug was tested in our country. Thanks to Dr. Frances Kelsey, a physician and a pharmacologist, and a medical officer with the food and drug administration, approval of this drug for marketing had been withheld. She now is being toasted as the woman who single-handedly kept thalidomide off the prescription market, possibly preventing the birth of many deformed children.

Nearly two years ago she received a routine assignment to study the drug for which an application for food and drug administration approval had been made. She proceeded cautiously, and her caution should strengthen our faith in the service she represents. It is reasonable to assume that the entire service will be more cautious from now on.

And after we have recovered from our hysteria, let's keep in mind that many drugs are dangerous and that it is important that they be used only as prescribed. In recent years many new drugs have been made available to us after extensive testing, and some of them have enabled many sick people to live longer, happier and healthier lives. Thalidomide was an unfortunate mistake. Thanks to Dr. Kelsey, and the food and drug administration, few Americans are likely to suffer because of that mistake.

The Spur of Necessity

A Wall Street Journal report informs us that the California Department of Agriculture gave cling peach growers permission to destroy a part of their crop after farmers voted in a last-minute action to trim this year's record harvest. As reported by the Journal:

> "Practically all of the cling peach crop, grown only in California, is canned. It makes up nearly 40 per cent of the nation's canned fruit and a glut of clings would push down the retail price and that of most other canned fruit, which must stay competitive.
> "The California Department of Agriculture, acting on a growers' appeal, authorized growers to destroy a portion of the huge harvest. The order came after over 70 per cent of the state's nearly 3,000 growers backed the disposal in a swift mail ballot sponsored by the department.
> "Destruction will be carried out by a "green drop," that is, either shaking unripened fruit off the trees with poles, or clipping branches off with cutters. The representatives of the growers' panel oversees the disposal in the field."

The fruit growers are well organized and for years they have been doing a good job of controlling their production and marketing. They are not asking for government controls and price supports. They seem to be well satisfied with the manner in which they manage their own affairs.

It has been suggested that the government serve notice on all farm groups that all government price support programs be terminated gradually over a period of ten years, reducing the federal grants by ten per cent each year. Each segment would be authorized to organize in its own behalf and set up its own production and marketing controls.

Back in the 30's, under the able leadership of John Brandt, the dairy industry set up an effective marketing organization that worked well until World War II came along and disrupted all markets. Under the present program the industry is divided into thousands of independent kingdoms, maintained by taxpayers' dollars. The leaders like things as they are and prefer not to be disturbed. They will not act in their own behalf unless forced to by necessity. Let's make it necessary.

The fruit growers have set a good example for all growers.

Getting Experience

President Kennedy faces a difficult problem in the Pacific northwest. Our west-coast lumber industry is complaining about Canadian competition, and is demanding protection.

Bruce Hutchison, reporting in the Christian Science Monitor, states:

> "The huge forest industry of British Columbia enjoys growing markets in the United States, but it does not believe that its exports are the real cause of its American competitors' difficulties.
> "Much more serious, according to the Canadian view, is legislation compelling the shipment of American lumber from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast at excessive cost in American vessels.
> "For many years, Canada has bought far more in the American market than it has sold there. It has run a deficit in this trade of about $1,000,000,000 annually, or the equivalent of some $14,000,000,000 in terms of the much larger American economy.
> "It was this deficit in the United States that produced Canada's foreign exchange crisis a few weeks ago, compelled the devaluation of the Canadian dollar, and drove the government into a program of "austerity,"-including emergency tariffs.
> "How, Canadians ask, can the United States fairly restrict the goods of an adjoining nation which almost went broke buying too many American goods?."

In recent emergency measures Canada has boosted the tariff on a few items bought from us in the past, and the devaluing of the dollar has given some of her industries an advantage in our market. The difficulty points up how complicated international trade can become, and some of the difficulties that will become more serious if and when we become a part of a common market. Now is a good time to get some practical experience in our dealings with friendly Canada.

A New Start, Maybe?

The Court of International Justice at the Hague has ruled that all member nations of the United Nations must pay their proportionate share of any police actions authorized by the United Nations. Unfortunately this court has no way of enforcing its judgement insofar as the United Nations is concerned, and the 9 to 5 decision has little meaning other than its effect on international thinking.

The New York Times thinks that the decision does have political significance, stating:

> "It forecasts—according to the use that will be made of it during the months to come and especially at the next meeting of the General Assembly—the future of the U. N. Whether the U. N. finally lives or finally dies, whether it breaks up into hostile alliances or continues as a debating society that can sometimes act, may depend on the reasoning in this decision and the use that is made of it.
> "In the nature of the case, the United States will make one use, the Russians another. The cold war will continue in the struggle over interpretation of the Charter.
> "But it is of no use to have a Charter if the Charter's principles are not obeyed. It is of no use to have a Court if its decisions are not respected. And it is of no use to go through the forms of democratic voting in the Assembly if minorities refuse to be bound by the results. If the U. N. is to be real, effective and enduring, the Court's opinion points a way toward that end."

Maybe the court's decision marks the beginning of the end of the United Nations organization, or maybe it is the start of a new approach to the problem of maintaining an effective international peach organization.

Driving Is Privilege and Not a Legal Right

Nobody has the "right" to drive a car.

Driving is a privilege granted by the state. If it were a legal right, those who drive carefully and safely would have no control over the excessive speeder, the drinking driver, the right-of-way violator and other careless drivers who cause the tremendous annual toll in highway damage, injury and death.

To get your Minnesota driver's license — or privilege to drive — you must be at least 15 years old, pass a vision test or obtain corrective glasses, and score 70 or more on traffic law and traffic sign examinations and a road test given by a highway department examiner.

The only persons who can drive in this state without a driver's license or instruction permit are licensed chauffeurs performing their duties; U. S. Government employees on official duty driving official cars, and non-residents at least 15 years old who hold licenses issued by other states. Nonresidents at least 18 years old from other countries may drive for 90 days, and new residents over 21 with licenses from other states may drive for 60 days before getting a Minnesota license.

Many persons get into trouble because they think it is lawful to practice driving on streets and highways without a permit if they are with a parent or another licensed driver You cannot practice without an instruction permit, which cannot be issued to anyone under 15 years old.

A person under 18 who wants a driver's license must have the consent of his father. If his father is not living, his application must be approved by his mother, legal guardian or employer, in that order.

The vehicle you bring for your road test must have a horn, windshield wiper, rear view mirror, both a foot and emergency brake, a muffler, headlights and tail lights, license plates and directional signals — all in correct operating order. If equipment is defective, the examiner can refuse to give the road test.

The Minnesota Drivers Manual is a "text" of correct driving procedures in this state. Know it thoroughly before you apply for a license and — remember it afterwards. You can get one at any driver examining station or the State Highway department.

Illegal Signs to Get State Action

Highway Department to Check Right-of-way Signs

The Minnesota highway department is taking steps to protect the public against any encroachments on highway rights of way by improper advertising signs.

Road authorities, including state, county, municipal and township, all have the same legal right to prohibit the placing or maintaining of advertising signs within the right of way limits of any highway under their jurisdiction. They also have the same authority to take down, remove or destroy any violating sign or structure by authority contained in Section 160.27, subdivisions 5 and 6, Minnesota Statutes 1961.

Although the department does not have the authority to suggest or direct the actions of local authorities on their own road systems, it does have certain jurisdiction over the county state-aid system and will recommend regulations on roadside advertising that will help minimize the hazards such practices create.

Newfolden Music Students Named To State Choir

Mark Carlson, Sharon Nelson Selected for Two Educator Meetings

Mark Carlson and Sharon Nelson, students in Newfolden high school, have received word that they were selected for the all-state choir which will perform on October 25 for the Minnesota Education Association state convention and in March of 1963 for the North Central division of the Music Educators national conference (comprising ten states). Both of these performances will be in Minneapolis. Paul J. Christiarison, director of the Concordia choir, Moorhead, will be the guest conductor.

Basis of selection to this all-state choir was on an audition before the district audition committee which selected the 278 students throughout the state of Minnesota to membership in this select group. The choir will hold several regional rehearsals in September and October before being brought together at Minneapolis for rehearsal and performance. The group will sing six selections which the members must memorize.

Mark, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carlson, will be a senior, and Sharon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nelson, will be a junior this coming year.

X-Ray Technicians To Meet in Moorhead

Twenty-fourth annual convention of the Minnesota Society of x-ray technicians will be held Sept. 28 and 29 at the Fredrick-Martin Hotel in Moorhead. Registration will start at 11 a. m. on Sept. 28 and the first meeting will be at 1 p. m.

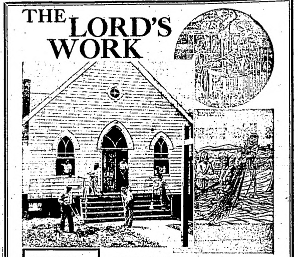
THE LORD'S WORK



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The dignity of willing labor is one of the principles which Christianity has established among us. It is a natural by-product of a faith whose founder was the Carpenter of Nazareth, whose first adherents were fishermen of Galilee.

Those who are eager to serve God and their fellow men find rich opportunities in the life of the Church. There are tasks for a man's hands, for his voice, for his pen, for his mind. There are needs that our offerings cannot supply . . . challenges that call for the talents and time of earnest men and women.

That friendly church which inspires us on Sunday is busy with the Lord's work all week. That man in the next pew is finding new happiness in willing Christian service. Are you?

Committees in Action

C of C Plans Busy Schedule for Several Coming Months

Busy months lie ahead for various committees of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce as a number of activities are being planned by the organization. Several of the events will be for persons within the organization but most will be of special interest to the city and rural residents of the Thief River Falls trade area.

To assure the successful completion of the Chamber's program of work, delinquent dues will be collected during the next week. Letters to delinquent members will be sent out on Wednesday, requesting dues to be paid by the middle of next week. As a special emphasis following the mailing, the membership and finance committee will conduct a "Redcoats Are Coming" clean-up drive. John McGinley is in charge of the group which has secured red jackets to be used in the personal contact for dues collection.

On August 27 at 3:30 p. m. in the Lincoln high school cafeteria, the annual Chamber-Faculty coffee hour will be held. Sid Lieberman and Arnt Aune are co-chairmen for the event designed to welcome teachers to the community. Also in progress at the present time is the industrial survey and the organization's promotional billboard program.

Chamber Week

Chamber of Commerce Week will be ovserved September 16-22. The special observance will incorporate a board meeting, general meeting and meeting of all standing committees which include agriculture, business and industrial development, community welfare, education, government, public relations, membership and finance; transportation and communication and retail trade.

Also to be staged will be an LPA Jamboree—a retail trade promotion designed to meet the fancy of discriminating shoppers throughout the trade territory. Courtesy Days are also planned to provide retail employees with training sessions on telephone use and employee-customer relationships. Employees will be given time off from thier regular store duties to attend the training sessions.

On October 4 a job climate conference will be held as previously announced. A general meeting is also planned for October when the 1963 program of work will be arranged and honorary life membership in the organization will be presented. Banquet for consignors to the purebred ram sale will be held on October 9 in the Rex Cafe.

"Town & Country Days"

October 18, 19 and 20 have been selected as "Town and Country Days" when soil testing collection station will be in operation and the Northwestern Minnesota industrial show will be held in the municipal auditorium. Top of the Nation dairy sale will be held on October 18, the Northwestern Minnesota Livestock Clinic will be held October 19 and Princess Kay of the Milky Way will visit the city's supermarkets the same day. October 19 and 20 will mark the annual Turkey Days observance.

On November 1 the annual 4-H achievement banquet, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held at the armory. November 13 is the date of the Chamber Leaders Training Institute to be held in the Frederick-Martin Hotel in Moorhead and to be attended by a delegation from the local Chamber of Commerce. City, County Share In Distribution of Liquor, Cigaret Tax

Checks totaling $5 million were mailed Thursday to all Minnesota municipalities and counties by State Auditor Stafford King.

The checks represent a 91 cents per capita cigaret tax distribution for the first six months of 1962 as compared with 78 cents for the same period of last year.

The liquor tax distribution was 56 cents per capita as compared with 54 cents a year ago. Amounts are figured on the basis of population based on the 1960 census.

County Treasurer Ellsworth Jorgenson received $4,470.83 in cigaret tax proceeds, which goes into the county's general revenue fund; and $2,751.28 in state liquor tax proceeds, which will be divided among the townships on a per capita basis.

The city of Thief River Falls received $10,511.97, including $6,507.41 in cigaret tax proceeds, and $4,004.56 as its share of liquor taxes. The money will go into the general revenue fund.

Cigaret tax receipts amounted to $3,106,000 as compared with $2,662,813 for the same period of 1961, an increase of more than a half million dollars.

Liquor tax receipts distributed total $1,900,000, compared with $1,843,486 for the half year of 1961.

King explained the cigaret tax revenue was considerably higher because of the additional two cents a pack cigaret tax voted by the 1961 legislature, effective July 1, 1961.

Power Conversion Postponed Here

Due to receipt of an incomplete shipment of needed material, the city power conversion from 2,400 to 4,160 volts did not take place as scheduled on Sunday, according to Morris Owen, superintendent of utilities. Langen Reviews Steps Involved for ARA Funds

Congressman Notes Any Funds Must Come After Local Program Work

Further information on the designation of Pennington county as being eligible for participation in the Area Redevelopment administration has been received by the Times from Rep. Odin Langen. Announcement of the designation was made in last Thursday's edition of this paper.

In a telegram received from Langen last week, the Congressman stated that "this designation is the first step before Pennington county can receive federal assistance. It must organize a representative local committee and draw up an overall economic development program that details the area's problems, assesses its resources and spells out a step-by-step program for economic rehabilitation.

"After these programs have been drawn up at the local level and approved by ARA, the federal agency will be able to consider local applications for loans for new or expanding industries, loans and grants for public facilities directly associated with establishment of new firms or expansion of existing ones, technical assistance to help break bottlenecks to economic progress and job retraining programs including subsistence allowances to help workers acquire new and marketable skills."

Work Started On Looping of Lakehead Line

Construction Expected To Cost $8 Million for Looping, Stations

Preliminary work has begun on the laying of 38 miles of 34-inch diameter pipe in two loops between Clearbrook and Superior, Wis., it was announced today by R. E. Trammell, general manager of Lakehead Pipe Line Company, Inc.

The work is being carried out by Majestic Contractors, Inc., of Houston, Tex., and is part of a construction program that will cost Lakehead about $8 million this year The "line-looping" program is expected to cost about $4,400,000, while construction of six new pumping stations will make up the balance.

The 34-inch pipe is the largest used so far by Lakehead Pipe Line. It will be laid parallel to the existing 18-inch and 26-inch pipe lines on the Lakehead route to Superior, Wis.

On both sections, the 34-inch line will be tied in as loops to the 26-inch line. The first section consists of 23 miles of line from a point near Bena to the Deer River pumping station. This section will cross the Mississippi River near Bena. The second section consists of 15 miles of line to be laid near Floodwood.

Majestic Contractors began clearing the right-of-way on July 30 with completion of the project scheduled for no later than October 26.

The big-inch pipe is being supplied by the Kaiser Steel Corporation from its Napa, Calif., mill. The transportation of the pipe is being made by rail to the job sites. The first 10 carloads of pipe were shipped from the mill July 27 and shipments will continue on a daily basis until the order is completed.

Addition of the 34-inch loops will increase the maximum capacity of the pipeline between Clearbrook and Superior, Wis. from 376,000 to 404,000 barrels per day.

Offer Action Course in Practical Politics

VALUES of the course in practical politics were discussed by Glenn Scott, district manager of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, at a noon organizational meeting held Friday at the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls. He is pictured above as he outlined the series of nine discussion topics to be included in the non-partisan course which is designed to stimulate political interest and show the values of organization.

Nine Session Course To Begin August 20 With 20-Member Unit

Organization of an action course in practical politics took place at a meeting held Friday noon in the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls. With membership in the initial class limited to 20, sessions will begin on Monday, August 20, in the Rex Cafe at 7 a. m. The nine-week course will be held each Monday morning from 7 to 8:30 a. m. with Peter Probasco serving as discussion leader.

Speaking at the organizational meeting on Friday was Glenn Scott, district manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce. He noted the community impact of such a course and stated that more than 300,000 persons have completed the practical politics training since it was initiated by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce three years ago.

"There are too many people in the United States with a 'couldn't care less' attitude," Scott told the group at the organizational session. "People are not interested because they don't know how politics works. They need to know what is going on in government if they are to nominate and elect responsible people to government positions. This course will show them how to elect their candidates."

The Chamber of Commerce official noted that the AFL-CIO labor union has a force of 430,000 people working on legislation and legislative problems. Much of the information to be provided in the course comes from the general paths followed by the unions in becoming the force they are in the nation today. Informed, thinking, active citizens are necessary for the maintenance of our way of life, Scott said.

"We have in too many communities what we refer to as 'vertical vibration'," the Chamber official added. "By that we mean people jumping up and down and not going any place. This course offers the knowhow to provide organization which directs the generated activity in a worthwhile direction."

Entirely Non-Partisan

Entirely non-partisan and of interest to both men and women, the course will be limited to the first 20 persons registering at the Chamber of Commerce office in Thief River Falls. Seven persons at the organizational meeting indicated a desire to take the course which is described as "down to earth, forthright, streamlined, stimulating and instructive".

Everyone taking the course is invited to take part in workshop discussion sessions. There are no lectures. A series of eight pamphlets, to be read in advance, is used in the course to cover separate important aspects of politics. These include the individual in politics, political party organization, the political precinct, the political campaign, political clubs, political leader's problems, political meetings and businessmen in politics. Political issues will not be discussed but political organization will be thoroughly dissected.

Cost of the course to the individual will be $250 to cover the cost of pamphlets which become the property of the class member and should be used as reference material in the future. The first 20 persons registering at the Chamber of Commerce office will be accepted for the course, and further information may be received there.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. LLOYD HANSON

There isn't any doubt about what interests area homemakers these days, if the number of suggestions for preserving the current fruit crop is any indication.

Perhaps you haven't tried uncooked jam as yet; it does sound a bit unorthadox, since it requires no cooking. It has its disadvantages, as it does not have the keeping qualities of the cooked variety, but when stored in the refrigerator or kept frozen in your deepfreeze, can be kept over a long period. It retains much of the fresh flavor of the uncooked fruit, which compensates for the slight inconvenience of storing it properly.

This recipe, we were happy to note, can be adapted to suit the needs of dieters and diabetics. The MCP company puts out a low-sugar pectin which is ideal for use by these people, as it allows them to have their sweets without the penalty. Directions for its use can be found on the package.

UNCOOKED PEACH JAM

3¾ cup ground or chopped peaches
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup light corn syrup
1 pkg. MCP pectin
5½ cups sugar

Put fruit and lemon juice into a large kettle (4 or 6 qt.) and stir in the package of pectin. Mix well. Set aside 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add the corn syrup. Mix well. Measure 5½ level cups sugar. Add to crushed fruit mixture. Warm to 100 degrees (or the temperature you would use for the baby's formula) Do not heat above this temperature. When the sugar is dissolved, the jam is ready.

Pour into sterilized jars. Seal.

Store in refrigerator or in the deep-freeze. This is good as is on toast. For ice cream topping, add ½ cup corn syrup to 1 cup of the jam.

The homemaker who supplied this recipe lives with her husband and two children on Spruce Ave. in this city. Her children are Frances Claire, who is 11, and in the sixth grade, and Donald, 5, who will begin kindergarten this fall.

Mr. Hanson is employed in road construction.

Mrs. Hanson enjoys her career as a homemaker, but she also has outside interests, especially reading and simple art.

Basic Food Needs Are Necessary for Health

Food fads come and go, but the same foods remain basic to a healthful, balanced diet for everyone from astronauts to farm workers, business and professional people, homemakers, teenagers and children, reports Miss Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent.

Each day, include in your family meals servings from the four food groups: two to four glasses of milk, two servings of meat, fish or eggs; four servings of fruits and vegetables; and four of bread or cereal. These foods will supply you and your family with proteins for growth and for repair of body tissues; minerals, vitamins, fats and carbohydrates for normal body functions. To round out the meals and to satisfy special cravings, you'll want to add some fats, sugar and perhaps some baked goods or other grain products.

Everyone needs milk each day. However, you can substitute ice cream or cheese for some of the milk and count the milk you use in casseroles, puddings or creamed vegetables Children should have three to four 8-ounce glasses of milk; teenagers and pregnant women four or more; nursing mothers, six or more; and all other adults, two or more.

Beef, pork, lamb, veal and poultry are among the meats included in the meat group. But you can also include liver, eggs, fish and shellfish. Dry beans, peas, nuts or peanut butter can serve as alternates for one of the fat servings.

Select your fruits and vegetables carefully. Be sure to include in your four or more servings at least one food rich in vitamin C like cantaloupe, oranges, grapefruit, fresh strawberries, broccoli or peppers. Or you'll get approximately the same amount of vitamin C from two servings of honeydew melon, watermelon, tangerines, asparagus, raw cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes cooked in their jackets, or greens.

Also include a serving of dark green and yellow vegetables and such fruits as apricots and cantaloupe that provide vitamin A.

Check the label when you buy bread or cereals to be sure they are enriched whole grain or restored so you get the benefit of the B vitamins and iron.

Protestants Plan Bemidji Workshop

Session Scheduled for Wednesday, September 26

Eight regional one-day workshops on "Ecumenical Church Life in Minnesota" are being planned for September and October under the sponsorship of the Minnesota Council of Churches. Purpose of the workshops is to discover some of the most significant needs facing the churches in different areas of the state with the hope that new ways can be suggested by which church leaders may serve their communities more effectively. Fifth of the series of meetings will be held in Bemidji Wednesday September 26, at the First Presbyterian church, with Rev. T. S. Smatla as chairman.

Each Protestant church in the state is being invited to send four delegates: the pastor, an official board member, a church woman, and a Christian education leader. Registrations are made directly with the area chairman.

Further information and registration forms can be secured by writing to the Minnesota Council of Churches, 122 W. Franklin Ave., Minneapolis 4, Minn.

WAREHOUSE EXPANSION SALE

When we built our new warehouse on the Soo Line tracks, south of Land O' Lakes Poultry processing plant, we thought we had our storage problem solved. Adequate storage enabled us to buy in quantity lots, at a saving. It enabled us to offer better values to our customers. Now we find that the additional space we provided at that time is not adequate, and next week the Prichard Brothers Construction Co. will build an addition that will give us 1152 more square feet of of floor space. To make room for them to work we will have to reduce substantially our storage stock, and we are moving this stock into our store — to sell. And to make sure that the surplus is sold we are making these price cuts. While they last, these are truly great values. Come and see what your dollars will buy. And you have up to two years to pay.

1962 Princess Kay of the Milky Way Will Be Crowned August 25th

Minnesota's ninth Princess Kay of the Milky Way will be chosen from one of 11 lovely state dairy farm girls who are counting the days until the opening of the 1962 Minnesota State Fair, August 25. Among the contestants is Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle, crowned here in June as Northwest Dairy Princess.

Finalists in the annual state dairy princess contest will gather in Minneapolis Wednesday, August 22, and immediately begin the three days of contest activities.

The winner will receive her crown and robe from reigning Princess Kay, Diane Kramer of Worthington, in ceremonies which will be held in front of the State Fair grandstand just before the regular evening program Saturday August 25. Miss Kramer, who will have made more than 700 appearances when she gives up her title, also will pass along the responsibility of being the full-time goodwill representative for Minnesota's 81,000 dairy farm families and all of the state's dairy processors.

Each of the 11 candidates is the winner of her home region's dairy princess title. Regional contests, preceded by similar events at community and county levels, all were held during Minnesota's observance of national June Dairy Month.

A total of 1,592 dairy farm girls participated in the various contests leading up to the 1962 state finals, according to Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the sponsoring Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee.

"Our regional judges did an excellent job throughout the state again this year and have passed along a tough job for those who will be judging the state contest," Conlon said. "Our state contest judges, as always, will be from outside Minnesota."

There has been no change in rules of the contest. All candidates have been reared on dairy farms and will come into the contest as representatives of geographic areas of the state which include from six to eleven counties each. They will be judged for appearances, poise, speaking ability, personality, sincerity and natural enthusiasm.

Beyond the state contest lies the possibility of the winner's becoming the eighth American Dairy Princess. The newly-crowned Princess Kay will represent Minnesota in the national contest, sponsored by the American Dairy Association in Chicago, Sept. 9-12. In the event that she wins, one of Princess Kay's two attendants will become the state dairy princess for the remainder of the year.

IF THE FISH ARE THERE, this pretty miss will find them. The device she's holding is a precision instrument designed by Minneapolis-Honeywell to help the angler catch more fish by pinpointing the depths at which various fish live in fresh water lakes. The device—called the Fish-O-Therm—consists of a temperature-sensing element attached to the end of a 60-foot wire. A table on the handle shows the temperatures most favorable to the various kinds of fish. To operate it, the fisherman sets the dial for the proper temperature and lowers the line into the water. The indicator above the dial tells when the desired temperature has been reached. The fisherman then reels in the wire, which is marked to show depth, and drops his bait to the same level.

Yard'n'Garden

Harvesting Fruits and Vegetables

To get the most out of your garden, harvest your produce at the proper stage of maturity. Many vegetables like sweet corn, beans, peas, broccoli and cauliflower deteriorate rapidly after picking. They tend to dry out and the sugars change to less desirable starches. Quality cannot be improved after the produce is harvested but it can be maintained if the produce is cooled quickly.

Allowing vegetables, like beans, cucumbers and tomatoes to overmature on the vines will reduce the total yield of the plant.

Use the thumbnail test for sweet corn. If the kernels are fully filled out and in the milk stage, the watery substance will squirt out freely when the kernels are pressed with the thumbnail. This is the ideal stage for harvest. The silks are also dry and brown at this stage.

Leave tomatoes and melons on the vine until ripe. Pick tomatoes when they have a uniform red color and remove the stems before placing the fruit in the picking container. Often a simple twist of the wrist when picking tomatoes will leave the stem on the vine.

Muskmelons are ripe when the stem slips easily from the melon, leaving a clean scar. Watermelons are ready when the underside of the fruits turn yellow or when snapping the melon with the fingers produces a dull, hollow sound.

Use summer squash when it is 6 to 10-inches long and before the skin and seeds are hard. Winter squash, on the other hand, should be allowed to ripen on the vine. When the skin resists pressure of the fingernail at the stem end, the winter squash is ready for harvest.

Cucumbers should be harvested with a little of the stem on the fruit so they will not shrivel or wilt rapidly.

Pears should be picked before they become soft on the tree. Remove them when they are a little on the green side and allow them to ripen in a cool basement.

Don't harvest apples for winter storage until the fruits have a good waxy covering to improve their keeping quality. Store only fruits that have not been bruised. Windfalls do not keep well.

KELLY HARDWARE
Third St. at Main

The Library Corner

by Tom Lynskey

The bitter strike against the Minneapolis Star and Tribune finally ended last week. The newspapers had been silenced for 113 days, nearly two weeks longer than the previous record, established during a 1953 strike of the Seattle Times.

John Cowles, President of these two great metropolitan newspapers, recognizes that "the public interest is clearly involved whenever so many people's access to the news, as well as so much business activity, is so sharply curtailed. The cost of the strike to the reading public in terms of late or unavailable information, as well as inconvenience has been very considerable." Cowles, therefore, expressed his gratitude to the reading public "who were a remarkably patient victim of the strike." As the Star and Tribune get back into print, it is painfully clear that in the long and expensive strike everyone was the loser, including those who only stand and read.

Seldom has a tragedy been surrounded by the mystery and confusion that have clouded the facts of the fiery destruction of the German Zeppelin Hindenburg at its mooring mast in Lakehurst, New Jersey, in May, 1937. Long fascinated by the mysteries of the Hindenburg disaster, A. A. Hoehling spent years investigating the evidence surrounding the explosion. He traveled thousands of miles, visiting Friedrichshafen, the famous Zeppelin center, and the homes of all the living survivors. A. A. Hoehling's book, "Who Destroyed the Hindenburg" is a fast-paced narrative, full of suspense.

The Hindenburg was the largest and most luxurious airship ever constructed. Nothing upon the commercial airways has exceeded her in size. The Hindenburg, in her first transatlantic flight, had proven to be a dependable and safe method of long-distance transportation. Collier's magazine, in an issue on the newstands the day of the explosion, stated that "only a stroke of war or an unfathomable act of God will ever mar this German dirigible's safety record." Yet in less than a minute the luxury liner Hindenburg became a flaming inferno, and then a charred and twisted skelton lying upon the earth.

The investigation that took place at Lakehurst was doomed from the first to miscarry. The crew members mortally feared Nazi power, and proof of sabotage would have been a stunning blow to the Nazis' proud myth of invincibility. The investigation commission could not know what the witnesses suspected. Nowhere did the truth about the disaster emerge.

A. A. Hoehling reveals for the first time the fatal occurrences that led to this disaster and provides a convincing answer to the question "Who Destroyed The Hindenburg?"

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Prairie Cordgrass sod is preventing erosion where field drainage ditches empty into the deep county ditch along the farm of Wilfred Conuette, cooperator with the West Polk S&WCD. Conuette told Don Lawrence, SCS work unit conservationist at Crookston, that he likes the way tough cordgrass held his soil during recent heavy rains.

Tired of watching his soil blow away when there was no snow cover in winter, and weary of soil that was hard to handle during spring work, Wilkin county farmer Oswald Lyngaas tried stubble mulching. In 1961, driest season in many years, Lyngaas' stubble mulched fields yielded twice as much grain and straw as did his plowed fields. And earlier this year Lyngaas told Glenn R. Chambers, Wilkin county agent, that grain on stubble mulched areas looked better than grain on plowed ground.

"No more up and down hill farming for me," says Bob Reiser, cooperator with the Pine County SCD. He likes his contour strips so well he requested Ken Bergum, SCS soil conservationist at Hinckley, to install strips on 10 more acres this spring. "Besides being easier to work, erosion was greatly reduced and my yields were increased even with the very dry summer of 1961," Reiser added.

Eleven Brazilian agriculturists are now nearing the end of a three-week visit to Minnesota. They've observed the organization and operation of soil conservation districts, rural cooperatives and other farmer operated and controlled organizations. And they visited and stayed overnight on farms in the Little Falls and Spring Grove areas. Russel Jongewaard, SCS work unit conservationist at Little Falls, accompanied the group as they toured the state.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the V A Contact office at the Fargo VA Center, Elm street and 21st Ave. North, Fargo, N. Dakota.

Q—May Spanish-American War veterans receive outpatient treatment at a VA clinic?

A—All disabilities of veterans of the Spanish-American War (including the Philippine Insurrection and the Boxer Rebellion) are considered service-connected for purposes of VA outpatient medical treatment.

Q—What is the deadline for entitlement for GI loans for veterans of the Korean Conflict?

A—Entitlement for each Korean Conflict veteran extends for ten years after the date of his discharge from active duty plus one year additional for each 90 days of active service. In no case may a Korean veteran's GI loan entitlement expire before January 31, 1965, nor continue beyond January 31, 1975.

Q—Has the so-called Long insurance bill been passed by this session of Congress?

A—A new version of the Long bill, as well as several other bills which would reopen GI insurance for World War II veterans, have been submitted to Congress but neither the House nor the Senate has of yet acted upon them.

Q—I sent the VA a notice of my new address the day before I moved but I have not received my pension check.

A—Checks are mailed by the Treasury Department. Your check may have been mailed to the old address before the VA could get a notice of your change of address to the Treasury disbursing office. You would have received your check promptly, nevertheless, if you had also given the post office a notice of your change of address over your written signature.

Q—I receive pension checks from the VA, and I have been told I should immediately report any change in my income from outside sources. Since I report my income annually, why isn't that enough?

A—If you wait until your annual report to advise VA of the change, you may be required to repay pension payments you received during the year to which you were not entitled because of a change in your income.

Q—As a Korean veteran holding "RS" GI insurance, if I choose the new lower-rate term insurance in order to collect a dividend, must I convert to a permanent type of insurance within a short time?

A—You can convert to a more permanent type anytime before you reach age 50.

AMERICAN MAY BE ON MOON BY 1966

A moon landing by the U. S might be possible as early as 1966, says Dr. John C. Houbolt of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). Dr. Houbolt suggests a plan which he says will be easier to accomplish than the usual concept of shooting a spacecraft from the earth directly to the moon: A space vehicle would be placed in orbit around the moon and a small manned "lunar lander" would separate and descend to the moon's surface. Mission accomplished, the "lander" would rendezvous with the orbiting craft which would then return to earth. Some American experts feel this is the course being pursued by Russia.

Popularizing lamb with the American consumer is the objective of a U. S. Department of Agriculture study. The program, which has revealed that lamb gets its characteristic flavor from the fat, hopefully will show the way to enhance or modify the taste.

Take a card, any card: a new information storage system has half a million it its "deck." It requires an average of only 20 seconds to bring any one of them to view from among the 500,000 microfilmed pages. The system is about the size of a desk and costs from $15,000 to $300,000, depending on the amount of work it can do and how automatically it will do it.

Flame-cutting of metal parts has received a boost with a new automatic control system that guides multiple-torch machines electronically. The National Cylinder Gas system, called the X-Y coordinate drive, can translate a simple pencil drawing into as many finished parts as desired. The drawing can be used repeatedly since it is touched only by a beam of light from the control's photoelectric scanning system. Flame cutting is used when the metal plate is too heavy to be stamped or the number of parts to be made is too few to justify the expense of making a die.

U. S. standard of living would sink to the level of the great depression of the 1930's after a large-scale nuclear attack, according to the National Planning Association. But, the group added, the nation would be off its knees again within months if a well-planned recovery program were put into effect immediately.

Thieves Trip Pirates 6-5 to Enter Regional

A 3-run rally by Crookston in the top of the eighth inning, and a 4-run counter-rally by Thief River Falls in the last half of the inning, featured the Norman-Polk league playoff game played at Fosston on Friday night, and which found manager Joey Poole's Thieves defeating the league-champion Pirates, 6-5, and gain a berth in the Region 2-B tournament. The defeat shunted the Crookston team to the sidelines.

The Region 2-B tournament will be played at Twin Valley on the following dates: August 18-19, 22-23, and 25-26. The Twin Valley Twins and the Thieves will represent the Norman-Polk league in a double-elimination series against two teams from the Western Border league.

For eight innings on Friday night at Fosston, the Thieves vs. Pirates game rocketed along in a 2-all pitcher's duel between the locals southpaw, Freddy Jensen, and Crookston's veteran curve-balling righthander, Orv Bergman. Jensen, who was making his third start on the mound in five days (the lefty pitched nine innings against Crookston on Sunday, hurled nine innings against Fosston on Wednesday night, and went seven and a third innings on Friday) and it was obvious that he was laboring.

In the Crookston half of the eighth, after Pete Mickelson had been retired on a play, pitcher to first; Jerry Lindell drew a walk, the lone base on balls given up by Jensen; John Kraft sacrificed, pitcher to first, moving Lindell to second; and when Dale Perusse's ground ball to shortstop was fumbled, Lindell came home with the run that broke a 2-all tie. Fritz Forrester singled sharply to center field, and with two runners on base, Orv Bergman slammed a double to the fence in left field, scoring two runs and giving the Pirates a 5-2 lead.

But the Thieves ripped back for four runs to take the lead and the game. Paul Klungness legged out an infield hit to shortstop, and then promptly stole second. Gary Klungness beat out a hit to second base. Harlie Drees sliced a double to the corner in left field, scoring Paul Klungness from third and Gary Klungness from first. John Drury sent a hard ground ball that skipped through third baseman John Kraft, with Drees moving to third on the error. Bergman uncorked a wild pitch on what was intended to be an intentional walk to Joey Poole, and Drees came in with the tying run. Drury, who had taken second on a throw to the plate, and advanced to third on the wild pitch, scored the winning run when Poole grounded out, second to first. Marv Lundin lined a triple to right-center, and that blow brought in Pete Mickelson in relief for starter Bergman. Mickelson, after giving up a walk to Mickey Hanson, retired Larry Ward on a fly ball to center, and John Aune on a fly ball to right field.

In the top of the ninth, Crookston made a bid to tie the game, when Eldy Nelson opened with a ground single past third base. Stew Uggen was called out when his sacrifice bunt try on third strike was called a foul ball. Mickelson skied to center field for the second out. Lindell was nicked by a pitched ball. Kraft lofted a high pop fly that was gathered in by Drees for the game-ending out, giving Mickey Hanson, who came on in relief of Jensen in the eighth, the win.

Trap Club Individual Tournament

The 1962 schedule of the Thief River trap shoot league will be concluded on Thursday evening. And in addition, the fifth annual trap club individual tournament will be held. This event, which is a fifty-bird competition, will be held in conjunction with the league matches, and shooters will be given credit for the twenty-five targets in the league matches.

In last week's matches, which found the Times' squad winning the league championship for 1962, was featured by the defeat of the two front-running teams, the Times and the Wilson Bros. The Times dropped a decision to the Ekeren Pharmacy, 107 to 106, and the Wilson Bros., lost to the Ben Franklins, 116 to 111.

The evening's high team total was recorded by the Coast-to-Coast squad who scored a 119 to 108 win over the Northern Chevrolet. For Don Olson's squad, Fred Mittelstadt had a 20-5, Darrell Wood a 21-4, Frenchy Cloutier a 14-7, Ike Hoglin a 16-8, and Reuben Carlson a 19-5. The Northern Chevrolet squad had a twenty-five straight in Jim Buening's 25-0, and other Chevy scorers were Roy Jorgenson with an 18-4, Ted LaCoursiere with an 18-5, George Mackenroth with a 15-5, and Erling Torgerson with a 17-1.

The Ekeren Pharmacy, in defeating the league champion Times, had a 20-3 from Ole Ekeren, a 20-0 from Tony Dorn, a 21-1 from Stub Pahlen, a 17-5 from Stan Ranum, and a 14-5 from Dr. Earl Dagg. While the Times' scorers were Bob Mattson, 21-0, Marv Lundin, 21-3, Jim Rude, 19-2, Leif Erickson, 20-1, and Bill Dahlquist, 16-4.

The defending league champion Ben Franklin, who hold third place by one third over the fourth place Bjorkman's, defeated the high-average Wilson Bros., 116 to 111. For the Franklins, Bill Pederson had a 19-6, Gene Gaer an 18-5, Bill Ranta a 17-4, Cliff Bjorkman a 21-3, and Dr. Jim Disse a 20-3. Si Schantzen had a 24-0 to pace the Wilson squad, with Stan Wilson having a 21-0, Wally Vagle an 18-5, Roy Peterson a 21-0, and Merv Skadsen an 18.3.

Support Bulletin on Conservation

Three Groups Join in Asking Full Schedule

Three major Minnesota organizations have adopted resolutions calling for reinstatement to full schedule of the Conservation Volunteer, official bulletin of the Minnesota conservation department.

They are the Minnesota Izaak Walton League, Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce and the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, jointly representing over 12,000 members. In addition, the Minnesota Conservation Federation, with its 117 affiliate clubs, has announced it will place a "Volunteer support" resolution before its general membership this month.

By legislative act, the Volunteer was placed on a four-edition per year publication schedule, rather than previous bi-monthly status. Summer editions were dropped because all school libraries are numbered in the 36,500 Volunteer circulation.

John G. McKane, Volunteer editor, said all resolutions and letters directed to the Department will "be forwarded to the appropriate legislative committee, since our publication schedule is a matter of legislative authority".

The next edition of the magazine will be distributed in September.

A subscription to the Times costs only $4.50 per year in Northwestern Minnesota.

TROPHY presentation to the Erskine Midgets, champions of the tournament held last week in Thief River Falls, is made by Lowell Collins, right, chairman of the youth activities program for the local Eagles Aerie, tournament sponsors. At left is Doug Donley, coach of the Cinderella Erskine team, and in the center of the photo is Marv Hanson, team captain. The Erskine club edged Fosston 6-5 in the first round of the tourney and then nipped coach Dan Neppel's East Grand Forks team 5-4 for the championship.

Shooting a consistent brand of golf, posting a four-man team total of 144 strokes, Rog Tunberg's Tunberg Motors squad continues to pace the city golf league in its second half of play.

The Hamm's Beer foursome, the previous week's runners-up, carded a 152-stroke total and dropped to fifth place in the league standings.

The low team total for the afternoon was chalked up by the Union State Bank squad of Ken Onken, Jim Womack, John McGinley, and Bob Flynn. This foursome scored a 135 and moved up from seventh place in the league standings to third place, ten strokes behind the Tunberg Motors. For the Union State Bank, Ken Onken has a gross 44 and a net 32, Womack a gross 42 and a net 30, McGinley a gross 47 and a net 34, and Flynn a gross 44 and a net 39.

Lloyd Bennes carded the individual low net score with a 28. Bennes, with an eight-stroke handicap, had a gross of 36, and this gross score shared the afternoon's medal honors with Ron Solheim, who also carded a 36.

This week's playoff schedule:
Monday, August 13 —
V.F.W. vs. Hamm's Beer
Tuesday, August 14 —
Hartz Stores vs. Bridgeman's.

Last week's schedule-ending games proved to be the league-championship games, too, and the combination of the Bridgeman's defeating the Hartz Stores, 5-4, and the Vets besting the Thief River Grain, 8-5, gave the Vets the league title.

Joey Poole's V. F. W. team and the Hartz Stores, prior to Tuesday evening's game, shared the league lead with marks of seven wins and two losses apiece.

The league playoffs are slated to start this week, with this evening's play, Monday, finding the Vets playing the Hamm's Beer; and on Tuesday evening the Hartz Stores will play the Bridgeman's. The winner of the Monday evening game and the winner of the Tuesday evening game will then engage in a best-of-three series series for the playoff championship.

National Audubon Society Asks Ban on Duck Hunting

The president of the National Audubon Society urged Wednesday in Washington that the government ban hunting of ducks this year.

President Carl W. Buchheister told the National Waterfowl Advisory Committee that this is a critical year, because duck numbers have been reduced by several years of drought in the principal nesting areas.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Fred the Iron Man

It was largely through the efforts of lefty Freddy Jensen that the senior baseball Thieves moved successfully through the preliminary rounds of the Norman-Polk league playoffs and gain a berth in next week's Region 2B tournament. And it was in the role of an "iron man" that the Thieves' forkhander sparked manager Joey Poole's club to three wins in four playoff games in the past ten days.

Here's the log on Fred's pitching efforts during the Thieves' stretch run: on August 2, in a fourth-place playoff game against the Fertile team at Fertile, Jensen pitched eight innings, giving up four hits and two runs as the locals won, 13-2; three days later, on August 5, on a hot and humid afternoon, Fred hurled against the league champion Crookston Pirates at Crookston, giving up nine hits and five runs in nine innings as the Thieves' lost, 5-4; three days later, on August 8, Jensen was sent to the mound against the Fosston Jets in a "must-win" game played at Fosston, and the southpaw came up with a two-hit, 3-0, shutout in nine innings; and on Friday night, with but two days rest, Jensen started against the Crookston Pirates in another "must-win" tilt, and he pitched seven and two-thirds innings, allowing eight hits and five runs as the Thieves scored a surprising 6-5 win. Righthander Mickey Hanson came on in relief in the eighth when Jensen's arm began ailing. Hanson, on the Thieves' 4-run rally in the last half of the eighth, gained credit for the win.

In Friday night's tilt, which was played at Fosston on Crookston's privilege of naming the site of the playoff game, Jensen was forced to rely on his slow curves because of the lameness of his arm. The finest pitch he threw that night was a very slow curve to Crookston's Rod Olstad. The Pirates' manager, with a man on second base in the seventh, whiffed on the slowest curve that Fred said "was the slowest I have ever thrown".

Mick Hanson Relief Pitcher

And credit must be given to Mick Hanson for coming in in the eighth inning and stopping the rallying Pirates. Mick, to, had to pitch with courage, especially in the ninth inning when, with Crookston runners on first and second and two out and the dangerous lefthanded-batting John Kraft at bat, and the call being three balls and two strikes, he came in with a pitch that Kraft lofted to shortstop Harlie Drees for the game-ending out. Yes, there was plenty of drama in last week's playoff games.

Mickey is home on leave and will be leaving for Newport, R. I. in a short while for some specialized training, after which he will be sent overseas for duty. And Fred, too, is due to enter the service in October, having volunteered for a two-year hitch in the army.

Another Call

Bill Herzog, of the Prowlers' coaching staff, issued another reminder to the boys planning on participating in varsity and 'B' team football that they must have their physical examinations before they will be permitted to draw equipment.

It is a "must" for the boys to have their physical examinations, and, as Bill says, the time is now.

Trap Shoot League Champions

After having the league trapshooting title out on "loan" to the Ben Franklin squad for a year, the Times team took possession of the championship this season.

In league matches held last Thursday, the Times dropped a 107 to 106 decision to the Ekeren Pharmacy squad, but the printers "backed in" to the title as the runner-up Wilson Bros. team also lost, being beaten by the Ben Franklins, 116 to 111. That's one characteristic of this season's Times squad, they weren't too proud to accept the title by losing!

It's going to be a long winter for Mel Zitzow. Mel was a member of the Times for the past several seasons, but this year he decided to forego trapshooting, and he has been making dire predictions of how his absence would handicap the team. Well, Mel will be told again and again by Bob, Clarence, Bill, Jim, Leif, Marv, and George of how much the Times' missed him this season!

Thieves Defeat Twin Valley in Playoffs

The Thieves continued on their winning ways in Norman-Polk league playoff competition when, in a finals round game played at Twin Valley on Sunday night, manager Joey Poole's club scored an 11-8 win over the previously unbeaten Twins. As a result of their win last night, the Thieves will make another trip to Twin Valley tonight, Monday, for a playoff championship tilt and determine the league's number one seeded team for the Region 2B tourney.

Righthander Dennis Bakke hurled seven innings for the Thieves, and the former Newfolden Nordics athlete limited the Twins to five hits and five runs. Tony Poole came on in relief in the eighth, and the Prowler righthander gave up but two hits, and would have escaped unscathed run-wise but for a pair of costly errors in the ninth inning.

The Thieves raked the offerings of four Twin Valley hurlers for fifteen hits, including four doubles. Al Santwire, the Twins' number one hurler started the game and pitched the first three innings, giving up but three hits and one run, but arm trouble forced the slender righthander off the mound, with Tom Hanson coming on in relief.

The locals, with two men away, erupted for five hits and five runs to move into a 6-2 lead.

The Twins, with a three-run flurry in the seventh, pared the Thieves' lead to one run, but manager Poole's club, with Harlie Drees banging out a bases-loaded double in the eighth, scored three runs to regain control of the game.

CAKE BAKING and decorating have provided a challenging and interesting hobby for Mrs. Gil Sannes of rural Thief River Falls. In her modern farm kitchen, which has a large window overlooking the trim yard and nearby river, she turns out as many as seven fancy cakes on a single weekend. Starting from a nearly-disastrous beginning in 1945, the hobby has grown to the extent that she has made 196 cakes in the past two-year period. Shown in the background are two special occasion cakes—one for a birthday and the other for a baby shower.

ARTISTRY is practiced by Mrs. Gil Sannes of rural Thief River Falls as she fashions a rose for use in her cake decoration hobby. Although the frosting flowers may be made in advance, Mrs. Sannes prefers to make them while in the decorating process of an individual cake. With a practiced hand and the benefit of 17 years experience, she can complete a finished flower in a matter of seconds.

No Job Too Difficult . . .

Mrs. Sannes Fashions Cake Baking Miracles

by Mrs. Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

With a deft touch developed by 17 years of persistent practice, Mrs. Gil Sannes fashioned a delicate, pink frosting rose and applied it to one layer of a three-tiered white cake. The scene was the kitchen of the Sannes Brothers' farm four miles north of Thief River Falls and the occasion was an interview with a Times reporter, drawn to the scene by the frequency with which Mrs. Sannes' name appears as a cake artisan in the wedding stories crossing the society desk.

Here, our instinct told us, was a woman who must "have something." What we saw in her kitchen proved our instinct correct. We discovered, moreover, the modesty which seems so characteristic of the genuinely gifted. "You want to do a story about ME? My goodness! Nothing like this has ever happened to me before!"

How did it all begin, this fascinating sideline of hers? She apparently had a sense of the artistic and had developed it to a high degree. But what else?

"A Love of Baking"

"A love of baking, basically," she said. Then she recalled her first commercial venture: "Almost a calamity," she confessed. "I tried using a boiled icing, which of course didn't work By the time I'd finished, there was frosting all over the place, and I was in tears. A boiled icing for that kind of job; imagine that!"

That was 'way back in 1945 when, at the request of Mrs. LaVern Randorf, Mrs. Sannes made her first special cake for other than the family's use.

Out of the tears and the frustration — which apparently ended in a surprisingly good finished product despite its almost-disastrous beginning — grew a highly successful venture, publicized by word-of-mouth alone. The beginning was slow, only one or two cakes the first year, but it snowballed to the point where she is now called upon to turn out her elaborate creations to the extent of 196 in the past two-year period alone! In addition to that, she has had to turn down many more simply because there just wasn't enough time.

Practically every weekend, she says, finds her with at least one or two orders to fill and she has had as many as seven! Two electric ovens are pressed into service at such times, as each large cake requires a dozen or more batches of batter.

Powdered sugar for each large tiered cake runs to at least a dozen pounds, which she buys, along with the granulated sugar, in 100-pound lots. "No cake mixes for me!" she declared, adding, "A special cake requires that home-made touch."

Full Day's Work

"It takes an entire day of mixing and baking for one cake," she informed us. "Decorating takes another day. I must say that my family cooperates beautifully, keeping the pastry tubes filled with frosting and washing up the dishes as fast as they are emptied. Without their help, I just couldn't do it on rush day, you know."

Seven huge cakes in one weekend! We call that "rushing" with a vengeance. How she does it is simply beyond us! Despite the press of time, she does the festoons, scallops and the other detailing with such precision, they would seem to be the work of a machine instead of that of a human hand.

Her recipe? A feathery, white concoction which she has developed over the years by "the trial and error method, hit and miss," and now does "by rule of thumb; a handful of this, a pinch of that." She does not use vanilla flavoring, since that would tend to darken the stark whiteness most people seem to prefer in cakes of that kind, she explained. Lemon flavoring is preferred.

Freezer Is Helpful

Sometimes, when the orders pile up and mass-production techniques are in order, she freezes the cakes to insure their freshness. She has developed a frosting which, she says, "freezes like a dream." At times, she has frozen the entire cakes, decorations and all. But this takes up too much freezer space to be practicable, as a rule. This frosting keeps soft and moist indefinitely.

Her designs are original. "I never know when I start out what the finished product will really look like. The customer states her color preference, and I take it from there." Originally, the cakes were all done in white, but gradually touches of color were added. "Most of the orders are still for pink decorations, but I get orders for other colors too. Red is becoming increasingly popular for roses. I use dragees too, especially on anniversary cakes. They make them in gold now too, you know."

Special Occasion Cakes

We exclaimed admiringly over a cake she had just designed for a baby shower. Fashioned in the shape of a baby's sweater, it was trimmed so artfully as to look, from a short distance, to be crocheted. She did that one in a soft shade of green.

Her masterpiece? Well, she didn't want to call it that. "My best effort, the one of which I'm proudest, is this one I did for my son Gene's wedding." Five tiers of flawless beauty, we saw in the picture. It featured a winding staircase of styrofoam spiraling from the top tier to the bottom, with the wedding party descending the steps from the church at the very top.

In her airy, sparkling, farm kitchen, done in off-white with pink, and touches of brown and gold, and seating us at a modernistic table before a picture window overlooking the lovely yard and the river, Mrs. Sannes graciously served up a sample of her wares.

A "second love" with Mrs. Sannes is sewing, which she manages to work in with the care of her lovely home, feeding and caring for the four men of the household, and her cake making. We couldn't help but marvel that so much talent and energy can come in a single package, wrapped 'round with such graciousness and with no apparent signs of pressure.

A neat trick, if you can manage it. And obviously, Mrs. Sannes does—and beautifully!

Steinhorst New City Patrolman

David L. Steinhorst, 23, a native of rural Bagley, assumed his duties as police patrolman in Thief River Falls on August 1. Steinhorst is a veteran of four years service in the U. S. Air Force and his appointment brings the total compliment of city police officers to twelve.

They're Not Dying Young
Since the beginning of this century; the nation's population has more than doubled. Most people just aren't dying as young as they used to. In fact, the number of people over 65 has not merely doubled—it has quadrupled since 1900. Folks are living longer, healthier, happier lives — because of the wonder drugs in the prescriptions that doctors write today. That's why we say . . .

"Education does not mean teaching people what they do not know. It means teaching them to behave as they do not behave. It is not teaching the youth the shapes of letters and the tricks of numbers, and then leaving them to turn their arithmetic to roguery, and their literature to lust. It means, on the contrary, training them into the perfect exercise and kingly continence of their bodies and souls. It is a painful, continual and difficult work to be done by kindness, by watching, by warning, by precept, and by praise, but above all-by example."

Spend More, Tax Less?

President Kennedy seems to be a little bewildered about the tax problem. At the lower levels of government ordinary people seem to have a fairly good understanding of taxation. Town board members know that taxes are levied to pay the costs of township government. They know from experience that as they spend so they must pay. They know that the way to cut taxes is to cut spending. They do not take much stock in the advice of college professors who say that the way to make their people prosperous is to spend more and tax less.

As government becomes bigger, and the tax spenders are farther away from the tax payers, the problems become more involved. At the local level the tax payers do not often make unreasonabl requests because they know that they are going to pay their full share of the cost. As government becomes more remote this relationship is not so clear, and taxpayers often ask the government to do certain things for them, not realizing that, directly or indirectly, they will have to foot the bill.

President Kennedy is the benevolent type of fellow who wants to give everybody everything they ask for. Some of the professors have told him that that is the way to make the country prosperous. Another way to make the country prosperous, they have told him, is to reduce taxes, so that the people will have more to spend for other things.

Maybe it would be well if the fellows who make the decisions for us at the state and federal levels would use the same good judgement they have learned to use in the management of their own affairs. The problems are basically the same.

Report Was Factual

County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk is being criticised for the report he made at a Rotary Club meeting two weeks ago, as reported by the Times. His talk was a report on crop prospects in the area this year, at best a dismal subject.

We liked his report. As usual, he was factual. He recognized the obvious, that the harvest of field crops will be very low.—it isn't possible to have a good harvest of crops that haven't been planted. He stated that the limited acreage that was planted might produce a good crop under favorable conditions from then on in. Since the time he made that statement conditions have worsened.

Mr. Stelmaschuk's encouraging predictions were based on an anlysis of our normal sources of farm income, and as a base for his comparisons with this year's prospects he used the records of the year 1959. In round figures he estimated that year's farm income at five million dollars. Of this total, three million dollars came from the sale of livestock products, dairy, beef, sheep and poultry. Another million came from soil bank payments, the total figure being about $917,000.

He estimated that this year's income from these sources would be about what they were in 1959. In other words our normal main sources of income have not been adversely affected seriously by this year's poor crop prospects. While soil bank payments this year are down to an estimated $758,000, this decrease from the 1959 total is more than offset by crop diversion payments estimated at about $800,000.

We are sure that all who heard Mr. Stelmaschuk's report were favorably impressed with it as a factual presentation of conditions as they are. Possibly in our report of what he said we overemphasized that which was encouraging. Most commentators, we think, try to present the hopeful point of view when prospects are gloomy. In this instance any misunderstandings as to what Paul Stelmaschuk actually said when he talked to the Rotary Club might be attributed to the headline, which stated "County Crop Picture Not Dark as it Seems." A more realistic headline would have stated "Farm Income Picture Not Dark as It Seems."

This would have been more in keeping with what Mr. Stelmaschuk told the Rotarians. We do admit occasional error. But Paul Stelmaschuk's report was factual

The Important Question

In a recent speech Secretary of State Dean Rusk made some interesting observations on our ability to hold our own in competition with other industrial nations that now are taking advantage of mass-production methods and mechanization. He pointed out that in spite of our higher wage scales our exports still exceed our imports by more than $5 billion. As proof of his statement he cited these examples:

"Our coal miners receive one of the highest hourly wages in American industry, yet we are the world's lowest-cost producer of coal. American agriculture is especially competitive on world markets, and export markets are particularly important to American farmers. The produce of one-sixth of our harvested crop land is sold abroad; in tobacco the figure is one-third."

The Secretary is correct. Our mines are competing in world markets with low cost coal in spite of high wage scales. High wage scales do not necessarily mean high labor costs. Well paid labor, operating efficient machines, can mean lower per unit production costs. Labor bosses John Lewis never objected to better machines providing they meant higher wages, even tho better machines did mean fewer jobs in that particular operation.

And we know that better machinery has made it possible for a few farmers to produce more abuntantly than was possible by many farmers working with horses and hand tools. This great efficiency released men for other jobs and was an important factor in our higher standard of living. But, here again, the number of workers in the farm operation was greatly reduced.

The examples cited by Secretary Dean Rusk are excellent. We owe most of our economic progress to the machine. And the past benefits will continue into the future if we take in stride the adjustments that will be necessary for continuing production expansion.

Gradually, over a period of time, we will be able to choose between more production or more leisure. We will decide whether we want less work or more of the things that are produced by labor — and machines.

At the present time the crying need of the world probably is more of the things that are produced by labor and machines, rather than shorter working hours.

Disunity?

Europe has accepted President Kennedy's appointment of General Lemnitzer to succeed General Norstad as commander of the Allied forces in Europe, but there has been some grumbling and evidence of resentment by European leaders because they were not consulted in the matter.

The Manchester Guardian, Britain, reacted with the following significant comment:

"President de Gaulle has taken the occasion of General Norstad's resignation to say once more that he does not like the way the North Atlantic Alliance is run. The United States Government gave him an ideal opening by announcing the appointment of General Lemnitzer as commander of US forces in Europe, apparently without full consultation beforehand. Since the beginning of NATO, thirteen years ago, this job has carried with it the supreme Allied command in Europe; and there has been no evidence that the European Allies were asked whether they approved of Eisenhower, Ridgeway, Gruenther, or Norstad before appointment. But the importance of the Allied job has grown greatly and so has the proportion of non-American forces.

"A man who does not easily gain the confidence of the European allies and does not succeed in building a truly allied headquarters cannot do the job of Supreme Commander as it must be done. At this stage the command should continue to be in American hands. The arrangements for tactical nuclear weapons depends on combining in the same man the American national command and the Allied command. In any case, there can still be no doubt where the real strength in the Alliance lies, even if on paper the Germans have twice as many divisions in Europe as the Americans.

"The choice of General Lemnitzer is not in question because of his nationality. What General de Gaulle has usefully reminded President Kennedy is that the choice ought to be the subject of a collective Allied decision."

Commenting on General Norstad personally, the Guardian pays him the following tribute:

"General Norstad's retirement as Supreme Commander in Europe may or may not be simply because he has served in the job for six years and in NATO for twelve. He has been an admirable Supreme Commander and his departure will raise many problems. He has carried on his shoulders the burden of knowing that, in an emergency, he would have to decide whether or not to use nuclear weapons—and in what numbers and against what targets. He has, it is true, been able to maintain close touch with the President in Washington.

"But, unlike the President, he was the servant of all 15 nations. He had built up over the years a high degree of confidence between himself and the 15 Governments—who were grateful to him for accepting responsibility. A new Supreme Commander will not quickly gain the same confidence."

Interesting Opinions

"If we in Australia are really serious about developing trade with Asia and want Asian businessmen to come here we shall have to be prepared to be more liberal in applying our immigration laws.

"Perhaps our desire for trade—or our pockets—will tend to weaken our prejudices where other considerations have failed."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

After looking in his pay envelope, a Chinese cook in a logging camp sought out the boss and told him he had received too much money.

The boss explained, "I gave you a raise because you've been such a good cook for so many years."

The cook turned his head, thought for a while, and replied, "You cheat me for a long time, huh?"

Should the creation of new jobs in Thief River Falls be the responsibility of our own business leaders who are dedicated to local development through voluntary free enterprise or should the task be attempted by a government bureaucracy which swaps federal control for local control and then makes the local taxpayer pay the bill at inflated prices?

If you are a thinking person you may answer this interesting question easily by merely comparing the two methods in action.

Once could go into an elaborate discussion on this subject along with many others, however, it would take more space than there is in this paper. Our U. S. Congress has been arguing this for years and we dare say that there are volumes of comments filed in the Congressional Record files on the subject.

First, we should all recognize one basic, historic fact. "Nobody gets nutin' for nuthin' ". One short definition of Federal Aid is when "a community sends a dollar down to Washington, D. C.—they send us fifty cents back, we match it and that's Federal Aid". Although the proportions illustrated might not be quite exact, the principle involved is precisely along those lines.

Recently Pennington county has been qualified by the politicians for benefits afforded through the ARA. So, we've got another "A" in our community. Maybe its good and maybe it isn't. We do know that we do not like the "depressed area" label and furthermore, feel that it is not entirely warranted either. Whether or not the benefits of ARA are anything better than we already have access to is entirely questionable.

We do know that the best way to attract new industry to Thief River Falls is first of all, have a very good "business climate" and second, to go after new industry on a high level, using a business-like, aggressive approach —utilizing all existing businesses in our community. We feel that if this method is used consistently and sincerely, we will attract more industry than all of the bureaucrats and politicians in the country could send us. To those who are trying to find a new, glorious answer to creating employment in Thief River Falls we would like to say that there is no new, glorious answer to creating employment in Thief River Falls — except to "improve the business climate and to maintain a high level business development program locally."

The biggest "A" we could score for our town is when you Shop And Trade Where Bargains Are Made—Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Record 250,031 Hunters Sought Deer in November

A record number of Minnesota deer hunters took to the woods last fall, the Conservation Department reported today. Records in the Department's game and fish division show that 250,031 Minnesota residents purchased firearms deer hunting licenses. Hunters from out-of-state accounted for another 632 licenses.

The quarter of a million hunters bagged 106,763 deer for a statewide hunter success ration of 42.7 per cent. Greatest number of deer hunters afield during any previous year was in 1960 when 233,150 residents and 679 non-residents purchased licenses to hunt deer with firearms.

Minnesota Third in Nation

Minnesota's traffic safety record for the first six months of this year ranks third in the nation. Only two states reduced highway fatalities more than Minnesota's 39. Iowa 52 and Michigan 62. Most states increased rather than reduced.

Our traffic toll declined by 13 per cent while the nation incrased by 7 per cent. Our fatality rate per 100 million vehicle miles is down 20 per cent, from 4.4 to 3.5. The national rate increased from 4.8 to 4.9. Our fine showing is greatly to the credit of Minnesota drivers who are responding to our educational, engineering and enforcement efforts. I appreciate the fine work of all the private and public agencies involved — and the generous contributions of time and space by radio, TV and newspapers. We must not relax our efforts one iota.

Lights on Labor Day.

Labor Day week end will be a "Lights on for Safety" week end. Beginning Friday afternoon, August 31 — all day Saturday, Sunday, and Monday — drive with low beam lights so we will all remind each other to be extra careful during this weekend of enormous traffic.

Industrial Commission Improvements.

In the last year and a half I have reviewed the operations of many departments of our state government. When I came to the Industrial Commission it was quickly apparent improvements were badly needed.

The Industrial Commission has a number of responsibilities. One is to hear appeals on Workmen's Compensation cases, another is to do inspections relative to industrial safety, another is to make enforcement inspections on minimum wage and child labor laws.

Although the volume of work had grown a great deal, the same staff was endeavoring to carry the load. They were falling far behind. People were waiting months and months for action on workmen's compensation, and attorney services were very inadequate.

I have already provided an additional reporter and attorney. A special committee has made a careful study of the operation. As a result more administrative improvements will be made and we will have a well documented report for the next legislative session.

Good management takes Time. There has to be study, consultation, preparation of plans and then explanation of the program to all concerned. I am pleased that this procedure is producing results on many fronts.

State Ranks 4th in Hog Production

1.4 Billion Pounds Was Produced During 1961

Minnesota ranked fourth among the states in lightweight production of hogs, seventh in cattle and calves, and ninth in sheep and lambs in 1961, according to Kenneth E. Egertson, extension economist in marketing at the University of Minnesota.

Lightweight production means the total number of pounds produced on farms. This includes weight gained by animals on hand, bought or born during the year.

Minnesota farmers produced 1,459 million pounds of hogs, 1,386 million pounds of cattle and calves, and 79 million pounds of sheep and lambs. The totals are reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service.

Texas leads all states in lightweight production of cattle and sheep; Iowa was the nation's outstanding hog producer, with 4,570 million pounds in 1961.

National totals for liveweight production last year were 29,688 million pounds of cattle and calves, 20,216 million for hogs, and 1,688 million for sheep and lambs.

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

We read in the newspapers, magazines, hear on radio and television and several other places, we learn about safety, but do we pay any attention to it? Why am I saying this? Last week as I came back to TRF from making a home visit, I was behind a car that contained two small children and a man. This car was traveling right along, but what was far from safe driving was that the little girl was sitting on, imagine, her father's lap, driving with him. No matter what would have happened this man would not have had proper control of the car. I just wonder how many of you do unsafe things like this man. Do we really put safety high on our list of self protection?

School days will soon be here again and what will the fashioned girl or boy be wearing? Ribbed fabrics from corduroys to herringbone weaves are making a bid for top billing. Corduroy appears in many guises, from the familiar pin-and wide-wale varieties to novelty textures, paisley prints and primitive designs.

The shape of fashion for fall is still predominantly spare, lean lines, stripped of ornamentation. Many designers have dropped sleeve lengths on coats and suits to the wrist bone, while whittling backs of the garments to less fullness.

These summer months are busy months for a homemaker. The meal planning and preparation is usually made more simple. I enjoy making and eating this dessert since it contains good nutritive value but is also easy to prepare.

Palm Beach Dessert

GOOD NEIGHBORS ARE NICE TO HAVE. In Thief River Falls it seems that good neighbors are more the rule than the exception. Guess that's one of the reasons that the local Newcomer's club has found the formula for instant success in what might well be termed a local "good neighbor policy"

This organization of people who have moved to the city in the past couple of years has undertaken a project which would do credit to a much larger and stronger organization. Operating on a shoestring budget without the benefit of any fund-raising projects, the club has initiated a plan to help welcome new residents with a packet of get-acquainted material. The thought is not original, perhaps even the plan has been started before, but the successful fruition of such a thought is unique.

Much of the credit for getting the plan underway must be given to Mrs. Herman Dargus, club secretary, who moved to Thief River Falls from Warren about two years ago. She addressed cards to local business places encouraging participation, secured informational material on the city, purchased a limited amount of supplies, spent hours on the telephone and already has distributed 26 packets to families which are new residents of our friendly, growing city.

While merchant response to the call for certificates to be enclosed in the packets has been generally good, more could be used to spread the burden. Perhaps the full impact of such a package and visit program is not completely realized by many businessmen. If it is understood, I am sure, the response will be much better. The club proposes to include several certificates, exchange value of a dollar or less, in each packet distributed. Some packets will have certificates from a few business places—some will have certificates from others. The more business places taking part—the fewer certificates each will provide.

Picture the new resident in the city. How does he or she or they find out where to go for groceries, clothing, gasoline, heating fuel, plumbing, lawn mowers, drugs, gifts, loans, appliances, furniture or any of their other needs. The value financially of a certificate entitling them to come to a business place for a free gift and thereby learn what the business has to offer is impossible to determine. It is also impossible to determine what the friendly spirit of cooperation will provide. Odds are great, however, that both will be far greater than the one dollar certificate.

Time will tell the effectiveness of the plan. Meanwhile, hats off to a small organization of friendly people, the Newcomers, and their big project. Best of luck.

Frankfurters hanging out of the sleeve of a woman's dress caused her to be detained on suspicion of shoplifting, a recent FBI bulletin reports. A search by a female deputy revealed that the woman had the following articles tucked into the bosom of her dress:

Two 1-pound packages of frankfurters, two packages of cold cuts, two large jars of vaseline, eight blouses, seven pairs of children's shorts, two tubes of denture adhesive cream, a can of spray deodorant, one large bottle of headache tablets, a can of shave cream, one large spool of white thread, two bottles of cologne and one deodorant stick—total value $36.95.

The lady was charged with grand larceny, the report states. It did not list the measurements of the lady in question

Without restraint from his young mother, the 5-year-old boy was busily ransacking an adjoining treatment room as his mother visited with her doctor. "I hope you don't mind Billy playing in your examining room," she said amid the loud clatter of bottles. "Oh, no," the doctor replied calmly. "He'll be quiet in a minute—when he gets to the poisons."

QUOTABLE QUOTE: From Dean Rusk, Secretary of State: "Either we believe in capitalism, in the freedom of individual enterprise, or we do not. And we do not if we hold with massive government intervention to distort and freeze the market. If we look to government to rig the game, we may as well look to it to play the hands."

"You must realize, my son," said the father to his soon-to-be-married son, "that you will have not only another mouth to feed, but a great big one to listen to."

The school offers courses in technical agriculture, including field crops, animal husbandry, soils, and farm management. The farm shop courses include gas and are welding, farm mechanics, carpentry, tractors, electricity, and aeronautics.

Students who desire to go on to college will find that the regular academic courses offered in high school are available at Northwest School. In the field of science and mathematics, the following courses are offered: general science, biology, chemistry, physics, algebra, higher algebra, plane geometry, and trigonometry. Courses in business training and typing are offered also. During the past eleven years, over thirty per cent of the graduates of the Northwest School have gone on to college.

Besides the regular academic courses, the girls have the opportunity to take four years of home economics of which a part of the last year is spent in the "home management" house.

Dormitory rooms at the school are still available. Despite the meager crop outlook in some areas, registration at this time is running ahead of last year.

For information and reservation of room in the dormitory, write to the Principal, Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston.

7,000,000 Trees Planted on State Lands Past Year

Nearly seven million trees were planted on state lands during fiscal year 1962 by the State Division of Forestry, Minnesota Conservation Department, E. L. Lawson, division director, announced today. In the Warroad area alone, over 1½ million seedlings were planted in late May and early June.

Plantings were accomplished despite cold spring weather and heavy rains which delayed field work. Although weather was a deterrent before and during planting season, it contributed to "good to excellent survival shown on initial checks," Lawson said.

Over three-fourths of the seedlings were Norway Pine and white and black spruce.

Breathing Test to Be Given at State Fair

Persons attending the Minnesota State Far August 25-September 3 will have the opportunity to receive a free vital capacity test at the Minnesota State Medical association booth in the education building. Tests will be given Monday thru Saturday from 9:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. and from 10:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. on Sunday. The project is coordinated by the public health education committee of the medical association. Assisting will be student nurses from Twin City hospitals.

Although most persons have never heard of the term "vital capacity", it is as important as the air they breathe. In fact, vital capacity is the total volume of air which the lungs can hold. Normally the lungs can hold between four and five quarts or 3,000 to 5,000 cubic centimeters of air. Of this amount, a pint (or approximately 500 cubic centimeters) of air is exchanged with each normal breath.

The remainder stays in the lungs as a reserve supply. The primary function of the lungs is to exchange carbon dioxide and other waste for oxygen. When the lungs are unable to hold the proper amount of air a general lack of physical fitness, or the presence of a lung disease may be suspected.

To determine the condition of the lungs the doctor may do a vital capacity test. This is one of several tests for the lungs. It is not a complete lung evaluation nor is it a diagnostic test.

Among the instruments the doctor may use to check vital capacity is a bellows-type apparatus on a motor-driven carriage which contains a graph that records the expiratory flow rate. When the doctor finds that a person's vital capacity is less than 80 per cent the existence of a lung disease may be suspected.

Recurrent and persistent lung diseases in which vital capacity may be low include chronic bronchitis, asthma, exphysema, bronchitis, tuberculosis, and pneumoconiosis.

Taxpayers Group Cites Hodgepodge of Taxes in State

Past Legislatures Have Reimposed Many Levies That Were Due to Expire

What to do about "temporary" taxes and surtaxes that expire but don't stay dead, will be one of the state financing problems confronting the 1963 legislature, according to Charles P. Stone, general counsel for the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

"Nine of these 'temporary' taxes and surtaxes are now on the books," Stone said. "Most of them had their origin as far back as 1949, and many of them have been renewed for additional two-year life—often at increased rates—as many as three times."

Included in the "temporary" category are the 1.8 per cent "additional" coroprate income tax, the 1.9 per cent "additional" bank excise tax, the 2.25 per cent "additional" iron ore occupation tax, the 225 per cent "additional" iron ore royalty tax, the 10 per cent and 5 per cent surtaxes upon individual income taxes, the 10 per cent surtax upon corporate income taxes, the 10 per cent surtax upon bank excise taxes, and the 15 per cent surtax upon liquor taxes.

"Continuing resort to these undying 'temporary' taxes and surtaxes both reflects and adds to the unstable nature of Minnesota's hodge-podge tax structure," Stone said.

"Past legislatures have 'passed the buck' time and again on this problem by re-enacting 'temporary' taxes and surtaxes for another two years and adding more of them.

"The extent to which this practice has become a way of tax life in Minnesota is measured by the revenue expected from these 'temporary' taxes and surtaxes this biennium—$64½ million, or roughly 12 per cent of the $532.7 million of anticipated tax revenues for the two-year period.

"Hope for tax stability in Minnesota rests on the willingness of the 1963 legislature to face up squarely to this problem and take positive action to put the state's financial house in order with a sound, permanent tax structure."

LIGHTNING struck the large barn on the Marvin Koop farm two miles south and three-fourths mile west of Thief River Falls Tuesday at 2:15 p.m. and reduced the structure to smoking embers in less than two hours. The above photo shows the mound of rubble which shortly before was a 42x30 barn with 42x16 lean-to on the east end. The Koops had just finished the day before with filling the barn loft with 1,200 bales of second cutting alfalfa hay which they had managed to put up without rain spoilage. No stock was in the barn when the lightning struck during the afternoon thunder storm and Thief River Falls fire department kept the flames from spreading to a nearby granary and filled hay shed.

Sister Rosamund, O.S.B., of Moorhead Is the Only New Member of Faculty

Classes will resume at St. Bernard's school Wednesday, August 29, according to Sister Hyacinthe, O. S. B., principal.

Sister Rosamund, O. S. B., wil be the only new member of the faculty this year, replacing Sister Ernesta, O. S. B. who has been assigned to the catechetical school at Slayton, Minnesota. Sister Rosamund taught at St. Francis School, Moorhead, last year.

All of the sisters assigned to St. Bernard's School attended summer school. Sister Hyacinthe, Sister Rosamund, and Sister Joyce attended the summer sessions at Viterbo College, LaCrosse, Wisconsin. Enrolled at the College of St. Theresa, Winona, was Sister Rose. Sister Marguerite took courses at Mount St. Benedict, Crookston, in affiliation with the Catholic University, Washington, D. C. Sister Placid is at present completing a course in music in Chicago.

The sisters, and Mrs. Ward Votava, another member of the faculty, took part in the annual educational institute of the Crookston Diocesan Association of Catholic Schools. Then the group attended two three-day workshops at Mount St. Benedict. One of the workshops was on art, and the other was concerned with modern developments in the teaching of mathematics.

Father Keough Painode, pastor, and Father G. Robert Pryor, assistant, will again teach religion at St. Bernard's school.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Widing returned on Friday from Los Angeles, Calif., after spending three months visiting at the homes of their two sons, the Delbert Widings of LaMirada, Calif., and the Robert Widings of Anaheim, Calif.

Harvest Now Underway in Pennington Co.

Prospects Only Fair for Grain Quality: Yields Below Average

With relatively dry weather the past several days in most sections of the area where there is grain to be harvested, combining operations got underway during the week. Heaviest concentration of activity is in the southwest segment of the county where crops will not have the usual quality but where most fields have been planted and grain is making progress.

A spot check of local elevators this morning revealed that little new crop grain is being received in Thief River Falls. What barley, oats and rye has been received has been no better than fair with barley being generally poor. Suppressed market prices are inducing most farmers who are harvesting to store their grain on the farm.

Only scattered fields with small acreage were seeded north and east of Thief River Falls and virtually all of this will result only in livestock feed, elevator operators reported. West of the city in the Viking area crops are reported to be generally good, although quality is not expected to approach that of previous years. Most early grain is thin and light and yields are substantially below average.

While the Red River Valley is generally experiencing its most disastrous crop situation in recent years, there are scattered spots of good crops. Much of the area around Warren has good prospects, particularly east of Warren to the ridge. Southern portions of the Valley in the Moorhead area and much of the North Dakota side of the Red River will have relatively little grain to harvest this year.

North Dakota in general, however, is looking forward to one of its best crop production years in history. Rainfall in all areas of the state has been mostly beneficial to grain crops with the exception of the Red River Valley area.

Locally the past several days were marked by only a trace of precipitation at the municipal airport although scattered thunder showers dumped more heavy rain on other parts of the county. High and low temperatures recorded here were 60 and 54 on Monday, 79 and 57 on Tuesday and 73 and 67 on Wednesday. High readings predicted for today are 68 to 74 with lows tonight expected to dip to 45 to 52 degrees.

An old-time resident who had not been back here since 1917, Carl Knutson, with his wife and their niece, Miss Virginia Heidenberger, arrived from their home in Beaverton, Mich., by way of Gladstone, Mich., where they picked up the Otto Knutsons, for a visit at the Julius Knutsons. While here, they also looked up other relatives and friends.

Bank Debits Here up 10 Pct. in July

Bank debits in Thief River Falls for the month of July were 10 per cent greater than for July of 1961. For the first seven months of the year bank debits were up three per cent. For July bank debits for Bemidji were up one per cent; and Detroit Lakes and Crookston remained the same.

22 Complete CD Course in Medical Care

Pennington Serves as Pilot Area; Several Classes Start Soon

Twenty-two persons completed the Civil Defense course in medical self-help training offered recently under the direction of the Pennington County Civil Defense organization. Dr. G. B. Martin was instructor for the initial course with persons receiving certificates upon completion now being prepared for teaching further classes.

Kendall Gustafson, county civil defense director, noted that there is sufficient material available in the county under the pilot study program to permit a large number of people to take the course. Optimum goal of the national Civil Defense organization would be to have at least one member of every family in the nation complete the medical self-help course.

This course is taught under the assumption that no doctor will be available for assistance if any of the situations outlined should arise. This differs from the Red Cross first aid instruction which is taught on the assumption that a doctor will be available.

Registering perfect attendance at the class sessions were Mrs. Bernard Wold, Mrs. Vernon Wold, Mrs. Walter Wicklander, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Jorgenson, Joseph Seidel, Wallace Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Gustafson, Mrs. LaVonne Radnicki, Fern Williams, Lila Mossestad and Evelyn Myrum. Others awarded certificates of completion were Mrs. C. L. Carlson, Mrs. Ole Dahle, Ralph Luhman, Mrs. Charles Svendsgaard, Raymond Bren, Jeanette Hamerlinck and Leola Kelly.

Several new courses will be offered in the near future by graduates of the initial class. Persons interested in taking the course may contact Kendall Gustafson, director, or Ellsworth Jorgenson, deputy director of the county Civil Defense organization.

Mrs. Benhard Ranum entertained at luncheon Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. John Berglund, a visitor from Pontiac, Mich. Other guests were Mmes. Henry Carlson, Gerda Sagmoen, Emil Mellem, Pete Mellem, and Minnie Mellem.

MISS JUDY COMSTOCK is a former resident, whose marriage to Richard Allen Skansberg was solemnized recently. The couple honeymooned in Las Vegas, Nev. They are now at home in Minneapolis, where the groom is with Minneapolis Honeywell.

Judy Ann Comstock Is Bride of R. A. Skansberg

Before an alter of white gladioli and pompoms, Miss Judy Ann Comstock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Comstock of Duluth, formerly of Thief River Falls, became the bride of Richard Allen Skansberg, son of Mrs. Myrtle Skansberg, Minneapolis, and the late Julius Skansberg. The double-ring, candlelight ceremony took place at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church and was officiated by Pastor W. Johnson. The songs, "Oh! Perfect Love", "The Lord's Prayer", and "The Wedding Prayer" were sung by Mr. Harry Wick of Duluth.

The bride was given away by her father, and chose a traditional gown of French Chantilly lace and imported tissue silk. Jeweled lace webbed across the sculptured Juliet bodice, which was designed with a scalloped bateau neckline. Her long lace sleeves tapered to points over her hands. A diminutive corded waistline held the lustrous silk in a petal-scalloped French apron which blossomed over a bouffant skirt of fragile lace. Iridescents etched the floral lace which circled the skirts' fullness and extended into a chapel train. Her veil of sheerest silk illusion was shirred to a delicate crown of crystals. She carried a prayerbook covered with white orchids, roses and stephonotis.

Mrs. John Comstock, Minneapolis, sister-in-law of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Larry Pierson, Lorraine London, Carol Conway, all of Duluth, and Valerie Comstock, Minneapolis, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Her five attendants chose identically styled ballerina length gowns of aqua-hued silk organza over taffeta. The fitted bodices were designed with scoop necklines and tapered elbow length sleeves. The slim sheath skirts fell from narrow piping which encircled the diminutive waistlines. Wide soft belts held the detachable bouffant overskirts. They wore matching circlet headpieces, and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

Patti Lynn and Richard Voldness of Chicago, Ill., were flower-girl and ringbearer. Patti Lynn wore a full dress almost identically styled to those of the bridesmaids. She wore a matching headpiece, white gloves, pearl necklace and bracelet, and carried a pink lace basket with ferns and pink rose petals. Richard carried the rings on a heart-shaped, white satin and lace pillow. He was dressed identically to the groom and his attendants with black trousers, a white dinner jacket and a boutonniere of white carnations.

DuWayne Skansberg, Billings, Montana, brother of the groom, was best man. Richard Bernini, Glynco, Georgia, John Comstock, Minneapolis, brother of the bride; Larry Stingl, and James Carpenter, of Duluth, were groomsmen. John Polak, Minneapolis, and Walter Wirtanen, Duluth, brother-in-law of the groom, and William Shackelton and Thomas Flood, also of Duluth, were ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a gold sheath dress with gold and beige accessories. The groom's mother wore a light blue sheath dress with blue and white accessories. They wore corsages of pink roses and white carnations.

About 250 guests attended the reception which followed the ceremony at Piedmont Heights Community Club.

The four-tiered, white wedding cake, which was trimmed with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom, was cut by Mrs. Richard Meyer, Minneapolis, sister of the broom.

Mrs. Ada Ortloff, St. Hilaire, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Richard Johnson, Minneapolis, sister of the groom, poured.

Mrs. John Polak, Minneapolis and Mrs. Walter Wirtanen, Duluth, sisters of the groom, were in charge of the gift table.

Serving the wedding party were Miss Kathy Olsen, Miss Gwen Olsen, cousins of the bride, and Miss Lynn Allen all of Duluth.

Mrs. Douglas Perry, Duluth, cousin of the bride, served punch. Miss Gayle Helm, Minneapolis, also a cousin, was at the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olsen, Duluth, aunt and uncle of the bride, were host and hostess at the reception.

For going away, the bride chose a beige linen sheath dress with green accessories. The couple have now returned from their two-week wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada, and are at home at 3220-31st Avenue South in Minneapolis where the groom is employed at Minneapolis Honeywell.

Minnesota guests came from Minneapolis, Benson, Ortonnville, Brainerd, Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire, Proctor, and others attended from Billings, Montana; Glynco, Georgia; and Chicago, Illinois.

Arthur Swensons Recently Observe 25th Anniversary

A large group of friends and relatives gathered at the Rosewood Covenant church recently to honor Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swenson on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Quentin Johnson of Badger, a niece of Mrs. Swenson, registered the guests, who were from Karlstad, Badger, Crookston, Holt, Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls and Viking.

A short program was presented. It included devotions by Rev. Walter Blackwood, a vocal solo by Mrs. O. K. Ose; a personal greeting and poem by Mrs. Victor Ranstrom; and two instrumental numbers by Lloyd Anderson on the violin, accompanied by Darrel and Allen Swenson on their guitars. Greetings from the congregation, and a closing prayer, were given by Mrs. J. A. Hellquist.

Following the program, a social hour was held in the basement rooms of the church, with the ladies' aid in charge of serving refreshments. Mrs. Albert Swenson of this city cut and served the four-tiered anniversary cake baked by Mrs. Ethel Bjerk of Badger. Mrs. Lewis Swenson of Holt poured.

The anniversary couple expressed their thanks to the group for the entertainment, refreshments, gifts, and greetings.

The Swensons were married in 1937 at the parsonage of Rev. Thorvald Myhrer at Newfolden. They were attended by Mrs. Swenson's sister, Ethel, and Mr. Swenson's brother, Lewis. Both were in attendance at the anniversary celebration.

The couple are the parents of two sons: Darrel, who is married, and living in Crookston, and Allen, who lives at home. For a number of years they lived in East Valley township, near Holt, before moving to Rosewood in 1951.

Mrs. Eldor Erickson and children, of Greenbush, visited at the Algot Erickson and Minnie Mellem homes last Thursday.

NEWLYWEDS are the former Delores Jones, and Dayle Kainz. Mrs. Kainz is employed as a secretary with the Peterson-Biddick Co. of this city. Her husband, a graduate of the Crookston AC, is operating a farm near Goodridge, where they make their home.

Delores Jones Pledges Vows with Dayle Kainz

The date chosen by Miss Delores Jones for her wedding to Dayle Kainz coincided with the date of her parents' silver anniversary. The event took place on July 28 in Zion Lutheran Church of this city, when Rev. Harold Peterson read the solemn vows before a host of relatives and friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jones of Goodridge and the groom is the son of Mrs. Lillian Kainz, also of Goodridge.

Decorating the altar were candelabra and baskets of white gladioli, deep pink carnations, and greens. The pews were marked with light blue bows.

Nuptial music was provided by Ray Ose, who also played the accompaniement for Miss Charleen Nordby as she sang, "O. Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was attired in a floor-length gown of imported silk organza over illusion, featuring an overskirt caught up by organza roses, revealing the underskirt of tiered rosepoint. The scoop neckline also featured scalloped rosepoint, and long, tapered sleeves. The skirt flowed into a chapel train. Her waist-length veil of tulle and Chantilly lace fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a lavender orchid with white Stephanotis and ivy, on a white Bible. The "something old" in the traditional theme was her great-great-grandmother's handkerchief. Her jewelry, given as a gift by the groom, was a single strand of pearls with matching earrings.

Mrs. Kenneth Sanders of Goodridge was the matron of honor, while Mrs. Henry Lutz of St. Paul, the groom's sister, and Mrs. Franklin Kainz of Minneapolis, his sister-in-law, were the other attendants. They wore identical dresses of blue taffeta with rounded necklines and short sleeves, and featuring blue net overskirts fashioned of three tiers of net. Their tulle hats matched the shade of their dresses, and their costumes were completed by white gloves and shoes. They carried colonial bouquets of pink roses, white carnations and Stephanotis on a background of white lace and pink and white ribbons.

The flower girl was Gwen Nordby, who wore a dress of blue taffeta and net, with a headband similar to that worn by the bride's other attendants. She wore white gloves and necklace as accents, and carried a basket of red roses, white carnations and Stephanotis.

Attending the groom as best man was Franklin Kainz of Minneapolis, brother of the groom, with Wallace Jones, brother of the bride, and Donald Johnson, cousin of the groom, as groomsmen. Gary Jones, the bride's nephew, carried the rings on a white, heart-shaped taffeta pillow.

Ushering duties were carried out by Ramond Jones and Dennis Kainz, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively. All the men of the wedding party, and the bride's father as well, wore white dinner jackets with dark trousers and black bow ties, and boutonnieres of deep pink carnations.

The dress chosen by the bride's mother was in navy blue, while the groom's mother selected a gold and yellow dress; Both wore white accessories. They wore matched corsages of deep pink roses and white carnations. Grandparents of the bride were honored with a corsage of dark pink roses for the grandmother and a boutonniere of white carnations for the grandfather.

A reception followed the ceremony. Hosted by the bride's parents, it was held in the church social rooms. A large number of guests attended, with out-of-towners from the cities of Fargo, and Hickson, N. D., Moorhead, Glyndon, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Grygla, Plummer, Middle River, and Goodridge, all in Minnesota.

The 4-tiered wedding cake, ornamented with light and dark pink roses in cascade arrangement across the front, and with swans separating the tiers, was baked by Mrs. Gil Sannes. Flanking it on the serving table were two heart-shaped cakes, with streamers from the bridal cake attached.

The bride chose a blue-gray and black knit dress with white accessories for her travel outfit.

Mrs. Kainz, a Goodridge high school graduate, was employed as a secretary for Peterson Biddick Co. of this city. The groom graduated from the Crookston AC and is engaged in farming near Goodridge, where the couple are making their home.—Photo by Neal Fox

Girl Scout Troop No. 87 had a camp-out at Riverside Park on Monday evening, Aug. 17. The girls fried hamburgers on tin-can stoves, using buddy burners. After the meal, they hiked to beauty spots in the immediate vicinity, and followed this with a marshmallow roast. Songs dear to girl scouts were sung by the troop before bedding down in their tents.

Breakfast was prepared on the buddy burners also, and featured pancakes and sausages. They broke camp at 10.

Friendly North Dakota's great open spaces offer an exciting Magic Circle motor tour that starts at Theodore Roosevelt National Memorial Park in the weird, photogenic Badlands. Four miles inside the gate, pungent smoke steams up from subterranean lignite coal fires which suggest a private corner of Hades. Other park attractions are the buffalo herd and T.R.'s Maltese Cross Ranch cabin.

Nearby Medora was founded by a colorful French nobleman, the Marquis de Mores, who in 1884 tried to make it a national meat packing center. All that remain are his plant's gaunt stack, his 28-room chateau, and his statue with waxed mustache and gun belt.

Other trip highlights include great vistas of the fresh and unmarred West, big-time rodeos, Indian reservations, great fields of golden wheat, Minot's fine zoo and bowling green, the new 200-mile long Garrison Reservoir water sports playground, and Bismarck with its showplace skyscraper capitol and fascinating State Museum of Indian and frontier relics.

Across the Missouri River is Fort Abraham Lincoln State Park, where the stockade, wooden blockhouses, and Slant Indian Village have been reconstructed. On summer nights the spectacular outdoor drama "Trail West" tells the story of fiery, ill-fated General George Custer and his 7th U.S. Cavalry which rode from this fort's gate to be massacred at the Little Big Horn.

Low Grade Barley May Get CCC Loan

Rep. Langen Reports No. 5 Barley Is Now Eligible

Congressman Odin Langen said today that the agriculture department has decided to make Commodity Credit loans available for Number 5 quality barley and Number 4 quality rye under the 1962 price-support operation. Langen had recommended this broadened coverage on August 2nd in a letter to the secretary of agriculture.

Langen explained that until now, such loans were available only on barley grading Number 4 or better and on rye grading Number 3 or better.

"Stem rust brought on by excessive moisture has affected some of the crops in Minnesota," he said, "and I'm happy to note that Commodity Credit loans will now be extended to our farmers on grain that has suffered from the unusual growing season." Langen said support prices vary from area to area, but that county ASC offices would have the local figure available.

3 Sudden Deaths Add to Warroad Toll This Week

Auto Accident, Double Drowning Occur Tuesday; Follow 2 Deaths Thursday

Three sudden deaths, one as a result of a traffic accident and two by drowning, stunned Warroad community residents on Tuesday. Dead are Richard Hawks, 20, who was killed when his car left a gravel road near Roosevelt and overturned, and Les Lightning and his 10-year-old son Dale who drowned in the Warroad river.

Injured in the Hawks accident Tuesday morning were two cousins of the victim, Ricky and Roy Hawks, both 13 and from Los Angeles, Calif. Ricky received a broken back, concussion and cuts and bruises while Roy had a broken arm, broken leg, concussion and severe cuts and bruises.

The double drowning occurred at about 2:30 p. m. when Dale fell into the swollen Warroad river while fishing under the south end of the CNR bridge. His father, a former radio announcer at KROX in Crookston, jumped into the water fully clothed in a rescue attempt but also perished in the swift current. Albert Hardy, 15, and Mike Rose, 14 both made rescue attempts but the current was too strong for them to be of assistance.

The three deaths followed those of Mrs. Leonard Landin and her seven-year-old son Robert who were killed in a car-train crash near Swift last Thursday.

Hospital Earns Accreditation from Committee

improve the quality of patient care. Please be assured of our interest and of our willingness to be of all possible help to you."

The Joint Commission represents the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

Northwestern is one of 87 Minnesota hospitals that are accredited. Of the 82 general hospitals that are now accredited, 15 have fewer than 50 beds, 25 have from 50 to 99 beds, and 42 have 100 or more beds. The same standards of evaluation are used for all hospitals, regardless of size.

Voluntary Program

"What is unique about the accreditation program is that it is entirely voluntary," stated Norman Peterson, hospital administrator. "There's no law or regulation that says a hospital must seek accreditation. It is a decision voluntarily made by the individual hospital. Though the scope of the services a hospital offers varies, an accredited hospital must conform to commission standards in every area in which it functions. In other words, everything the hospital does must be done well."

Accreditation guarantees the patient a safe and sound building, good facilities and equipment, special hospital services, medical library, competent and qualified medical staff, well-trained nursing staff and adequate hospital personnel, a responsible governing body, trained administrator, good medical records, consultation and the doctor's own review of medical cases.

Daughter of Once Soo Worker Here, Heads U.S. Group

Dr. Helen Canoyer Named by President Kennedy to Head Consumers Council

Dr. Helen Gertrude Canoyer, chairman of President Kennedy's newly created Consumers Advisory Council, is regarded by her colleagues as an academic rarity, because her skills in politics and teaching are equally high.

She is the daughter of John Canoyer, a Soo Line train dispatcher in Thief River Falls some years ago.

"You don't often get them both in academic life," an educator on the campus of Cornell University College of Home Economics said. Dr. Canoyer, a silver-haired, handsome woman who is dean of the college, was once decribed by a former colleague at the University of Minnesota as a person of "very strong opinions on what needs to be done," the colleague recalled, "and she can say it tactfully."

She was born in Melrose, Minn. The future dean won a bachelor of arts degree at the University of Minnesota in 1925, a master's degree in 1930 and her doctorate of philosophy in 1940, also at Minnesota.

Dr. Canoyer joined the Minnesota faculty as assistant professor of marketing in 1941, and has since become an authority on marketing and the economics of buying and selling.

Traffic Crashes In City Cause $1,410 Damages

Parked Car Smashed in One Mishap; Stop Sign Removed in the Other

Two traffic accidents involving four cars resulted in a total of $1,410 in property damage occurred in Thief River Falls early this week. One of the cars involved was parked and one driver was issued citations as a result of the mishaps.

At 7:35 p. m. Monday, a car driven by Sig Quam of the city was traveling west on Sixth street when it struck another car driven by Earl Boethe of LaPorte, Ind., and traveling north on Arnold avenue. Due to construction work being done in the area, a stop sign protecting Sixth street had been removed and the Goethe car entered the intersection without stopping. Damage was estimated at $145 to the Quam vehicle and $415 to the Goethe car with no citations being issued.

About noon on Tuesday, a car driven by Adolph Meyer, city, made a left turn on First street from Knight avenue, swerved into the left hand lane, went out of control and crossed back into the right lane where it struck a parked car owned by Francis Hamerlinck and parked facing west on Third street.

Impact of the crash pushed both right wheels of the Hamerlinck car over the curb. Damage estimated was $650 to the Hamerlinck vehicle and $200 to the Meyer car. Meyer was cited by the police department for careless driving and no driver's license.

Two Contracts Approved

All Teacher Positions Are Filled in T R Falls Schools

Approval of contracts for two teachers, filling the faculty for the coming school term, was given by the Thief River Falls board of education at the regular meeting held Monday evening. This year the school will operate with 138 faculty members, only 13 of whom will be new to the local school system this year.

Awarded contracts were, Melvin Engelstad, graduate of Moorhead State college and Thief River Falls native, who will be an instructor in commercial business classes, succeeding Gerald Wigness who has moved to the vocational school instructor's position vacated by Mrs. John (Marilyn) McGinley; and Miss Mary Czaplewski, Oslo, University of North Dakota graduate who has taught two years at Fosston, who will teach elementary music.

Lease of the National Guard armory for use by two sixth grade class sections at a cost of $2,400 annually was approved by the board. This is the same figure paid by the district last year.

Four letters from John Skeate, representative of the Teamsters union, were read in regard to the board's position on pay increases for janitors and bus drivers. The board instructed M. R. Hankerson, superintendent, to inform Skeate that the board had made its decision and that the decision was final. In previous action, the school board had voted a raise of two cents per hour for janitors and no pay increases for bus drivers.

Discussion was also held on action of the state board of education in rescinding the requirement that senior high school students complete one course each in science and mathematics to qualify for graduation. It was voted, however, that local policy would require graduates to have at least one science and one mathematics course in the senior high school.

Approval was also given for the district to offer payroll deduction for annuitites if requested by faculty members. The deduction plan would be entirely voluntary and would be made available only to those faculty members who request deferred income for tax purposes.

K. Russell Anderson and Howard Hoel, recently elected board members, reported that they had inspected the old Washington school building and had concluded that the walls are structurally sound and that for comparatively little cost the second floor can be made safe and usable. They stated that the building had been neglected from a maintenance standpoint which is now the main need. Their report was discussed at length but no action was taken.

Considerable discussion was also held on scheduling problems and building needs of the district but no action was taken. It was explained to the board that the eight-hour school day with classes starting at 8 a. m. would be necessary even if there were several more classrooms available due to the filled schedule in shops and physical education facilities.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
by JIM KIMBALL
DIRECTOR OF GAME & FISH

This is a story of ducks and politics.

The Mississippi Flyway is composed of the 14 states bounded by Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan on the north and Mississippi and Louisiana on the south. The flyway council, composed of the directors from each state, and the technical section, composed of the waterfowl biologists and specialists from each state, have done many worthwhile things.

Working with the flyway biologist who represents the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, much has been achieved in conducting waterfowl surveys, coordinating needed research, publishing factual reports, establishing priorities for purchasing duck habitat throughout the flyway, developing sound management plans, etc. So, regardless of what may be said this year, please do not discredit the importance of having a flyway council.

The most newsworthy, if not the most important, function of the council is to meet in early August, study the results of waterfowl surveys and recommend waterfowl seasons and other regulations to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

For the past seven years I have watched this council slowly but surely grow in stature, holding back selfish interests and political desires, and recognize their responsibility to the resource. This year pressures and demands reached the breaking point — and things really broke!

Art Hawkins, our very competent flyway biologist with the Service, reported another decline in ducks, — especially mallards. The technical committee recommended either a closed season or a shorter season, and we have learned that Manitoba and Saskatchewan have reduced their limits.

In spite of all this the council, by a vote of 8 to 6, recommended doubling the bag limit and lengthening the season. The eight controlling votes came from the "solid south" and the six losing conservative votes from the north.

I feel sure the Federal Service will recognize their responsibility to the resource and disregard the recommendation of the council. When they do, officials from the southern states will be "obliged" to protest vehemently. But inwardly they will be glad there was a federal agency with the strength and integrity to take necessary action.

All in all, this may turn out to be nothing more than a fine illustration of the merits of a well-balanced democracy. Just as there is need to recognize the rights of states, there also is need for strong federal authority when national interests are at stake. The flyway council will recover from this ordeal and probably emerge with a greater sense of responsibility because of the experience.

PANORAMA of agriculture in Pennington county is being unfolded this week and is graphically illustrated in this photo taken Tuesday on the Steiger Farms southwest of Red Lake Falls. With three combines keeping truck drivers busy, the harvest season was underway in earnest. The Steigers had planned to purchase an additional combine this year, but deferred the purchase because of the extended planting season. Gradual ripening of crops will permit three machines to keep pace with the swathing operation but the Steigers estimate that the harvest season on their farm will extend into October if weather is favorable. All but 300 acres of the Steiger Farms was seeded this spring but excessive rainfall drowned out early seeding and hampered the late seeding process. Barley being harvested here will be used as feed for the farm's 300 hogs.

GOLDEN GRAIN began pouring from combine hoppers into truck boxes in Pennington county last week — an open invitation to farm youngsters to take time out for play. Eight-year-old Kent Schultz of rural Red Lake Falls is shown above with a hatfull of oats which had just been combined on the Louis Zutz farm 13 miles northwest of Red Lake Falls. It was work as well as play for Kent, however, as his task was that of driving the farm truck to the combine in the field when the hopper was filled. While crops are far from good in the county this year, there was considerable combining activity in southwest Pennington when this photo was taken on Tuesday. Favorable weather could make yields and quality of grain better than anticipated earlier, but the present outlook is for generally fair crops where grain was planted at all.

But his father, Harold, will enter swine in open class, and his brother, Dan, will exhibit in FFA. Sister Kathryn and another brother, Robert, will compete for 4-H honors.

Transplanting Peonies

Transplanting peonies can improve the quality of bloom and at the same time increase the number of plants of your favorite variety. Peonies may become infested with crown borers which destroy the fleshy underground root. Or, over a period of years, peonies may become too deeply implanted in the soil to bloom. Lifting the plants and resetting them may correct either or both of these problems.

As you transplant, remove the soil from around the clump and lift the clump intact. Then carefully separate the roots as you check for symptoms of disease and insects. Use a sharp knife to cut the roots into individual plants. At the top of each root you'll notice that the new buds for the next year's growth have already developed. There should be two or three buds for each fleshy root.

When you replant the roots, be sure the buds are no more than 1½-2 inches below the soil surface. Firm the soil around the root to avoid its settling any further. Space the roots 2 to 3 feet apart.

Though peonies are considered a very hardy perennial, they should be mulched the first winter.

American families are by far this nation's biggest source of capital for economic growth, with over $510 billion invested in the national economy through savings accounts, life insurance funds, government bonds, pension funds and other types of interest bearing assets.

Thieves Face Stephen in Region 2B Tourney

With reliable lefty Freddy Jensen on the mound, manager Joey Poole's Thieves defeated the Twin Valley Twins, 7-4, at Twin Valley on Monday night to win the Norman-Polk league playoffs and enter this week's Region 2B tournament as the league's number one team.

The Thieves will play Stephen of the Northwest Border league in a first-round game on Saturday night at Twin Valley, with game time slated for 8:15 p. m. On Sunday night, the Twin Valley club will play Kennedy, the number one team of the Northwest Border league, with game time at Twin Valley at 8:15 p. m.

The second round of the Regional playoffs will be played on Wednesday and Thursday, with the winners of the first-round games playing on Wednesday night, and the losers of the first-round games being scheduled for Thursday night. All of the regional tournament games will be played on the Twin Valley diamond.

In Monday night's playoff championship tilt, the Thieves broke up a 2-1 game by scoring five runs in the sixth inning for a commanding 7-1 lead. Manager Les Holen's Twins picked up single runs in the sixth, eighth, and ninth innings to pare the Thieves' winning margin to three runs, 7-4.

The Twins chalked up the game's first run, scoring in the last half of the first inning when Butch Johnson led off with single, stole second, and, after Al Santwire and Mickey Holen had flied out to center field, scored on Tom Hanson's two-base hit to right field.

The Thieves knotted the score in the third when Jensen opened with a single through the mound, the first hit off righthander Mickey Holen, and then came around to score on Larry Ward's double to right-center. The locals moved into the lead in the fourth on a walk to Gary Klungness, a wild pitch, and a single by Joey Poole.

And in the "big" sixth, John Aune led off with an infield hit, Paul Klungness looped a single into right-center, Gary Klungness beat out an infield hit to fill the bases, Harlie Drees sent a ground single past shortstop to score a pair of runs, John Drury gained a "life" on an error, with Gary Klungness moving to third base on the miscue, Joey Poole lofted a sacrifice fly to score Klungness, Marv Lundin rapped a line single to right-center, scoring Drees, and when Jensen doubled to the fence in right-center, Lundin came in with the Thieves' fifth tally.

Jensen, who had limited the Twins to but three hits in the first seven innings of play, was tagged for a pair of hits in the eighth, and four hits in the ninth. In the ninth, Jensen picked a runner off first base, and with runners on third and first, struck out Jim Hann and Butch Johnson to close out the game.

VFW D-ball Team Upset by Hamms in Loop Playoffs

Hamms Come from Behind to Win 10-9; Hartz Stores Plays Bridgemans Tonight

The twice-postponed city softball league playoffs got under way on the East Side diamond on Wednesday night, and manager Duane Glass's Hamm's Beer team, in a come-from-behind effort, upset a favored V.F.W. squad, 10-9. This evening, on the East Side diamond, the Hartz Stores team will meet the Bridgeman's.

According to present plans, the losers of the first-round games will play on Monday evening, and the winners of the first-round games will meet on Tuesday evening. An effort will be made to secure the Fair Grounds diamond for a couple of under-the-lights games.

In Wednesday evening's game, the Vets, the league champions, pulled away to a 7-0 lead moving into the Hamm's last half of the fourth inning. The Hamm's picked up two runs in the fourth, and then scored five runs in the fifth, with Glenn Carlson poling a three-run home run to spark the attack.

The Vets scored a pair of runs in the sixth to take a 9-7 lead, and the league champions held that lead until the last half of the seventh. Frank Harger drew a walk to open the Hamm's seventh inning. Carlson was out, second to first, with Harger advancing to third. John Aune's fly ball to center, Harger. Duane Glass singled and Hamm's had runners on first and third. John Aune's fly ball to center field was muffed, and Herzog came in with the tying run. And then Dale Wennberg singled to third and came home with the game-winning tally.

Two Are Injured in Crash Near Euclid

Mrs. Lloyd Owen Suffers Broken Leg in Mishap

Two persons were admitted to a Crookston hospital Tuesday evening for injuries suffered in a truck-tractor accident on County Road 21 northeast of Euclid, Polk county, Sheriff Carl Knutson said Wednesday.

Being treated for a broken left leg and internal injuries is Mrs. Lloyd Owen, 42, Euclid, who was riding on the draw bar of the tractor, driven by Edward Walseth, 14, Thief River Falls.

Knutson said Mrs. Owen was thrown from the tractor when it was struck from the back by a truck driven by Arnold J. Weber, 55, Red Lake Falls.

Weber received bruises and cuts and complained of pain in his chest, Knutson said. He was also hospitalized.

Ralph Wilde Tops Spud Manning at Speedway Sunday

Bjerge Wins Trophy at Wreck-em Rodeo Feature Wall Crash This Week

Ralph Wilde of Thief River Falls handed Spud Manning his first defeat of the season in stock car racing at the Falls Speedway on Sunday evening. Wilde had his Class A Studebaker running at peak performance to best Manning in the Class A feature race. Third place winner was Duane Sevre.

WILDE

In a field of six participants doing their best to demolish their cars and yet keep them mobile, Lyle Bjorge won the trophy at the 'wreck-em rodeo' also held as a special feature Sunday. This Sunday's special attraction will be a burning wall crash with one of the speedway drivers riding the hood of the speeding car.

Manning suffered a second setback in the A and B feature race when Lyle Bjorge's Class A car streaked across the finish line ahead of Manning's No. 10. Butch Manning finished third in the A and B feature with Larry Jensen and Bob Sheets finishing in a tie for fourth and Dale Newton coming in sixth. Spud Manning won the time trials with a time of 16 seconds flat while Wilde was clocked in 16.1 and Bjorge turned the oval in 16.9.

Bob Sheets won the Class B race with Butch Manning second and Larry Jensen third. Butch captured the Class B feature, however, as Larry Jensen finished second and Dale Newton finished third.

6 Cases Tried in Municipal Court

Different Violation Is Noted for Each Charge

Six cases were tried in Thief River Falls municipal court before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson on Monday and all were for different law violations. Three cases each were brought before the court by the state highway patrol and city police department.

In highway patrol cases, Sheldon Delage of Brooks was fined $5 on a charge of violating a driving permit when he operated a car without being accompanied by a licensed driver; Melvin Werth, Savage, speeding, $17.50 bond forfeited; and Rayton Dargon, Red Lake Falls, careless driving, arrested on a citizen's complaint, fined $35.

Police cases included Carl E. Torgerson, rt. 2, improper passing, accident involved, fined $15; Lewis Hruby, city, driving while under the influence of liquor, accident involved, fined $100 and driver's license revoked; and Roger L. Barnes, Oklee, driving without a Minnesota driver's license, $25 bond forfeited.

Over one-half of all American youngsters from 14 to 19 years of age earn money of their own by working and their income totals about $5 billion a year — not counting allowances and gifts from parents, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It's Been a Long Time

When the senior baseball Thieves face the Stephen team at 8:15 p. m. on Saturday on the Twin Valley diamond in a first-round game of the Region 2B tournament, it will mark the first time since 1951 that the Thieves' organization have been in the regional tournament. Of course, the Bums, of the Pen-Ro-Shall league have participated in regional play, in the Region 12B tournament, on several occasions, meeting the powerful Warroad Muskies.

Thieves No. 1 in League

Manager Joey Poole's 1962 Thieves, by defeating Twin Valley, 7-4, on Monday night in the playoff finals, will enter this week's regional as the league's number one team. Les Holen's Twin Valley Twins gained the other playoff berth, and will meet Kennedy at 8:15 p. m. on Sunday night.

The two teams, the Thieves and the Twins, bolstered their rosters by drafting three players (battery men) apiece from member teams of the Norman-Polk circuit. The Thieves selected Rod Olson, pitcher, from Fertile; Dick Palmer, pitcher, from Crookston; and Dave Carlin, catcher, from Fosston. The Twins picked Bobby Hallameck, pitcher, from Erskine; Jerry Mehlisch, pitcher or catcher, from Halstad; and Jerry Olson, catcher from Fertile.

It seems strange, and local fans have been expressing some resentment, that the Thieves should have engaged in six Norman-Polk league playoff games and not having one of these games played on the local diamond. But those were the league rules, with team standings giving the competing teams the privilege of naming the playing sites.

Big Business

That football on the high school level in Ohio is big business can be judged by the fact that the Massillon, Ohio, high school coach, Leo Strang, works with a budget of $65,000.

Strang, who was conducting a clinic for high school coaches in Texas when he revealed the "big business" aspect of Massillon football, added that he has a football staff of fifteen under him, including those at three junior high schools, and that his over-all athletic budget in the city of 32,000 is $100,000.

He added, however, that football supports itself to such an extent in the winning city that the sport pays $45,000 each year to aid other school projects. The school has an athletic stadium that seats 20,000.

Massillon has compiled a 94 wins, 20 losses, and one tie since Paul Brown began coaching there in 1932. Strang has a 39-2 mark in his four years as head coach. Ohio high school teams are not permitted to play college teams, a restriction that was put into effect after one of Paul Brown's team defeated Kent State college, 47-0.

Note to Bill Herzog

I received an interpretation from Wally DuChamp, who is an authority on the rules of golf from tee to green, and who is an expert on determining unplayable lies and uncut fairways, on your bingo-bango-bongo problem of last Sunday.

In playing bingo-bango-bongo golf, as you were with Dick Bjorkman, and your opponent is in a sand trap or the boondocks, and you chip in from off the green, you automatically lose the hole!

Lee Low Bidder on Cavalier, N.D. Job

Johnson - Gillanders, Grand Forks, submitted the apparent low bid for construction of an addition to the school at Cavalier, N. D., when proposals were opened by the board of education at Cavalier Friday evening.

The firm's bid was $234,320, lowest of the five bids submitted on the general contract.

Lee Plumbing & Heating, Thief River Falls, had the apparent low bid of $93,662 on mechanical work. Roely Electric, Warren, submitted a low bid of $56,350 for the electrical work.

Amateur Baseball in Region Tourney Stage

Amateur baseball in this area will be in the regional tournament stage this week-end. The Region 2B tournament, with two teams from the Norman-Polk league — Thief River Falls and Twin Valley — and two teams from the Northwest Border league — Kennedy and Stephen — will engage in a double-elimination tournament at Twin Valley. On Saturday night, August 18, Thief River Falls will play Stephen, with game time at 8:15 p. m.; and on Sunday night, August 19, Twin Valley will play Kennedy.

Second round games are slated for Wednesday and Thursday, with the championship round being billed for Saturday and Sunday, August 25 and 26.

The Region 12B tournament, which will be on a best-of-three basis, will find Middle River, the playoff champions of the Pen-Ro-Shall league, meeting the Warroad Muskies of the Lake of the Woods league. The first game of the tourney will be played at Greenbush on Sunday afternoon, August 19, with game time at 2:30 p. m. The second game of the series is slated for the Warroad diamond on Wednesday night, August 22, with game time at 8:00 p.m. If a third game is necessary, this game will be played at Warroad on Sunday afternoon, August 26.

Middle River defeated Badger, 9-6, to win the Pen-Ro-Shall league playoff finals, while Warroad, defeating Roseau, 8-4, closed out their series with the Leafs, two games to zero.

Shortstop Golf Tourney Slated at Warren Aug. 26

Warren's Riverside golf club will be host to a shortstop tournament on Sunday, August 26. Entry fees for the championship flight, which will tee off at 8:30 a. m., will be $4.00. Entry fees in the remaining flights will be $2.50. Merchandise prizes will be awarded to the winners, runners-up, and consolation winners in the various flights.

Former Resident Pens Thoughts on Reunion

Editor's Note: The following letter from a member of the 1931 graduating class at Lincoln high school must be indicative of the thoughts held by a number of graduates returning to the old home town for the many class reunions held this summer.

AFTER THIRTY-ONE YEARS

August 4th is a day I will long remember. What a thrill it was to see about 37 of my classmates from Lincoln high school, class of 1931, Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Many of them I hadn't seen since the year of 1931. Looking into their faces I could see that the years had brought sadness, sickness, or trouble to some of them. One had the same sparkle in her eyes that I remembered so well. One had the same walk as he sauntered in the room. I remembered his coming to class like he had all the time in the world. Another had the same laugh that used to echo through the hall. Some had less hair and when the measure was brought out to see which one of them had the farthest receding hairline I realized more than ever that each one of us is older and that it shows in one way or the other. The miles are many between my classmates. One came from Canada, another came about 1700 miles. But from near and far it was a real thrill to meet again, and go through the part of Lincoln high that we remembered so well. It brought back memories that time cannot erase.

I was glad that some of my teachers could be present. I wish others could have attended also. When I saw and talked to one of my teachers she looked so much the same that in an instant my memory took me back to her class where I struggled so hard to master Latin.

Several have gone on to their reward. That was a sad part of our re-union as we had a quiet moment in memory of them. Some of those are the ones that began first grade with me in the Knox school, went on to Central, and then to finish the four years at Lincoln high school.

I remember Superintendent Morris Bye telling us in an assembly meeting how much it was worth to each one of us for every day that we attended school. Maybe in my case my days in school cannot be measured money-wise as much as some of my classmates. But it can be measured in the love and gratitute I hold in my heart for those who with me received our diplomas that eventful evening.

If there is another re-union of the class of 1931 some of us may not be here to attend it. And so to my classmates and the ones who had the patience to teach us may the memory of our school days never be forgotten.

And many thanks to those who worked so hard to locate the addresses, the married names of the girls, and to those who had any part in the work it took to make this re-union possible.

Very Sincerely,
Vera May Randall Koglin
Cokato, Minnesota.

Correct Address Needed for Social Security Checks

Recipients Who Plan to Move Should Give Notice in Advance, Says Kistler

"Paying social security benefits to 17 million people involves the Goverment's largest check-writing operation," W. D. Kistler, district manager of the Grand Forks social security office, said today, "and we strive constantly to improve our check-writing and mailing procedures."

"But, no matter how much we improve, no matter how modern our equipment is, we still need the cooperation of the beneficiary" he said. "Too often we get a phone call saying, 'My social security check didn't come today and I need it badly.'."

They usually come in during the first of the month, Mr. Kistler explained. "Usually the person has changed his address and we haven't been notified."

Mr. Kistler urged any social security beneficiary who plans to move to report his new address as soon as it is known. Changes reported early in the month will be shown on the next check. Otherwise the check will go to the old address and there may be a delay in forwarding.

Many social security checks are returned every month to the Treasury Department marked "Undeliverable" or "Moved — left no forwarding address," Kistler said. This happens when neither the post office nor the Social Security Administration has been notified of a new address. To be sure a check is not returned, beneficiaries should send a notice to both agencies.

To change an address on a social security check, write a brief message in a letter or on a post card and show your full name, the claim number, and new address. For your protection, the Social Security Administration requires that changes of address be signed by the payee. The report should be mailed to the Social Security Payment Center, or to the district office, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

TRF Man Fined in Crookston Court

John D. Hesse, 22, of Thief River Falls appeared in municipal court in Crookston Saturday on a careless driving charge. He told police officers he was making a turn off of Main onto Robert street early Saturday morning when his car skidded 64 feet hitting a signal pole. His car received about $150 damages and also damaged the pole. Upon his appearance in court he was convicted of the charge and fined $25.

There is no minimum size limit on any game fish in Minnesota except on the muskellunge. The muskie minimum is 30 inches.

Crookston Man Appointed Elks District Deputy

Floyd L. Spence of Crookston was appointed Elks district deputy grand exalted ruler for the Minnesota North District, according to announcement made by Lee A. Donaldson, grand secretary of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The Minnesota North District has jurisdiction over lodges in International Falls, Hibbing, Eveleth Duluth, Bemidji, Virginia, Crookston and Thief River Falls.

Spence will leave Aug. 17 to attend a regional conference of district deputies called by the grand exalted ruler to discuss affairs of the order and activities for the coming year.

Spence is past exalted ruler of the Crookston Elk's Lodge 324; state officer of the Minnesota Elk's Assn.; and he served two years as a director of the State Elks Youth Camp board.

For Top Performance Try Driving Like a Pro

Driving is like golf: the ability to adjust to different conditions on different courses distinguishes the pro from the duffer, says the safety division of the state highway department.

If each golf stroke became an automatic reflex, the pro could never compensate for courses with unusually narrow fairways, or an exceptional number of trees and water hazards.

In the same way, the driver of an automobile should never allow his driving habits to become so automatic that he cannot adjust to adverse conditions. Driving at night or in adverse weather is considerably more hazardous than daytime and normal summer driving.

When driving at night, never use those famous last words: "If he won't dim his I won't dim mine." Don't imitate another driver's carelessness. The law requires you to dim when within 1,000 feet of an oncoming vehicle and within 200 feet of overtaking another vehicle.

In heavy nightime traffic, it is a good practice to keep your eyes on the right side of the road and your car as close to it as possible. Avoid looking directly into oncoming headlights.

When driving in fog or rain, get the feel of the road first. Try your brakes while driving slowly to find out how slippery the road is. Don't start out until the windshield is clean and clear.

Tire treads must be at their best to maintain a good grip on the road. Never be overconfident; you must drive more slowly in adverse weather conditions.

When stopping, apply the brakes gently and release them the moment the wheels begin to slip. Pump the brakes gently to a stop. DO NOT push in the clutch. If you find yourself skidding, take your foot off both the gas pedal and brake and turn your wheels into the direction of the skid. (Braking will only increase the skid).

Slow down and be prepared for sudden developments when driving in hilly or wooded country. Thick brush, steep slopes and wooded areas often hamper visibility. You may not realize another car is on the same road until it is within a few feet of you.

Your Minnesota Drivers Manual can alert you to bad driving habits or insufficient knowledge of laws. Get one at any driver examining station or a highway department office.

State Set to Take Orders for Trees for 1963 Delivery

Orders to Be Accepted Starting September 1 for 36,000,000 Trees

Thirty-six million tree seedlings will go on sale at a cost of one cent each on September 1, the conservation department forestry division announced today.

All available tree species, both evergreen and broadleaf types, will be sold for delivery next spring at a cost of $10.00 per thousand.

Orders must be for quantities of at least 500 trees and no orders will be accepted before September 1. Trees may be ordered in any quantity over the 500 figures subject to available stock. The Department reserves the right to reduce or reject any order to insure an equitable distribution of the various species.

Most abundant supplies available for spring shipment will be Norway, white, jack and scotch pine, white and black spruce and white cedar. Good quantities of green ash, box elder, caragena, silver maple and black walnut (seed) will also be available.

Other species not shown on the price list exist in limited quantities. Information on these can be had by contacting the Department forestry division, Centennial Building, St. Paul. If more than one specie of tree is desired, they must be ordered in groups of 100.

Ray Clement, department forest nursery chief, said application blanks may be obtained on or about September 1, by contacting forest rangers, county agents, soil conservation service offices or the conservation department forestry division, Centennial Building, St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

Is It Worth While?

The St. Paul Pioneer Press wonders if we put too much emphasis on athletics in our high schools. It states:

"Athletics have an important role in development of youth, both physically and mentally. But when participation in athletics becomes a major high school status symbol, overweighing all else, the public and educators should become seriously concerned."

The question was raised because of the statement of a high school student who had become involved with the police. He had said that he played football in spite of the fact that he hated football because "unless you're somebody important or play football—you're nothing."

This question of the importance of athletics in our high schools and colleges, and its value in the training of our young people, probably deserves more attention than it receives. We know that many interested people are skeptical and doubt the justification of the program in its present form.

One of the notable shortcomings of the present program is the limited participation. Only a few of the students take an active part in the games. The girls, who are a very important half of our physical development problem, contribute a few cheerleaders. The importance of the building of healthy bodies cannot be overemphasized. There is a reasonable question as to whether our athletic program is worth, in terms of general physical development, what it costs. And it is costly.

Which Way is Best Way?

The Committee for Economic Development, a business-financed research group, has recommended that the federal farm program be liquidated and that farmers be encouraged to find other ways of earning a living. That proposal is not looked upon favorably by the leaders of the House Agriculture Committee who opposed any steps to abolish government price supports and production controls. Maybe the right answer could be found somewhere between the opposing views.

Agriculture should be encouraged to manage its own affairs. The price support program was justified as an emercency measure at the close of the war, helping agriculture back to peace-time production needs. It should not have been adopted as a permanent program, maintaining a vast and costly bureaucracy as well as paying for products for which there is no market.

One very good reason why the farmers should be encouraged to take over the management of their own production and marketing problems is because they already are a political minority and rapidly are losing prestige as a dominant factor in politics. Agriculture will be much more secure as it provides its own leadership rather than relying on the favor of politicians, the majority of whom will owe their political life to city voters.

One reasonable request that might properly be made by farmers would be for a postponement of all government sponsored projects that would add to the tillable acres by irrigation until there is a need for the additional production.

We Does It Again

We don't have to worry any more about the debts of the United Nations organization. They are paid. And who paid them? Correct. It was our own Uncle Easy. For the explanation of what happened here is what the Chicago Tribune has to say about it.

"State department testimony in support of Mr. Kennedy's appeal for authority to buy 100 million dollars in United Nations bonds to tide the organization over a financial crisis arising from its military intervention in the Congo discloses this:

"Without waiting for any authorization to buy bonds, the United States government has voluntarily given U.N. 215 million dollars from foreign aid appropriations to keep it out of bankruptcy.

"Upon pocketing these American funds, the U.N. then voted remission of a major share of assessments against a large number of member nations for support of the Congo operation.

"The effect of this was to use the American handout to subsidize numerous U.N. members which are either hostile to the United States or indifferent to its foreign policy goals.

"The total kicked back to these nations at the expense of the American taxpayer was $11,400,800. Thus Castro's communist Cuba was provided with a gift of $140,800 at American expense; Poland, a Soviet satellite, with $512,000; and "neutralist" India with $140,800.

"Some of the beneficiaries were deadbeats which had failed to pay their assessments for maintaining the U.N. "peace keeping forces" in the Congo and the Gaza strip. Among them were Poland and India. Thus, in effect, they were rewarded for dodging their share of the burden.

"This all but unbelievable story was confirmed in testimony before a panel of the House foreign affairs committee by Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state for international affairs, who appeared in support of Mr. Kennedy's bond buying scheme. Cleveland did not volunteer the information. It was dragged out of him."

It is encouraging to know that the reactions in Congress, even among Democrats, was not favorable. As the Tribune points out:

"Practices of this kind, which are on their face the height of irresponsibility, certainly should put Congress on guard not only against the bond buying device but against the whole reckless dissipation of tax money in foreign aid, for it is from this source that the money paid out by U.N. in gratuities to its delinquents came."

Give Them The Moon

Congress deserves another pat on the back for disposing of President Kennedy's request for a half a billion dollars for fallout shelters by approving a ten million dollar appropriation for "more study and research" in this field. We like this approach. If we do not know what we are doing, and why, then the chances are that most of what we spend will be of no value to us in an emergency.

It could be that we are wrong, but our guess is that the tricky Russians are planning our destruction not by bombs but by bankruptcy. They are hoping that we will destroy ourselves financially by our efforts to land on the moon. Let's give the moon to the Russians and let them add it to their collection of colonies. We could use $40 billion much more effectively in making this planet of ours a better place on which to operate.

Unemployment and Relief

The number of unemployed people has decreased, according to late reports, but it is still high. Other surveys indicate that many jobs are available for those who want to work. Some of them require special skills and the lack of applicants is understandable. Some jobs go begging because of a lack of social prestige. But most ofen, according to the survey:

"—jobs go unfilled because those who might take them consider the pay too low—sometimes in comparison with other work, but often in comparison with unemployment compensation or even relief checks."

In this campaign year, as usual, there are politicians who appeal for more liberal laws providing for unemployment compensation and relief. There may be justification for some liberalizing changes. But before any changes are made these programs should have a thorough study for the purpose of reducing racketeering. If we could cut down on the billions that go to the undeserving we could take better care of those who should have more than they are getting.

A Costly Alliance

A recent report by a congressional subcommittee studying economic development in Latin America charges that, while the United States pumps millions of dollars into the economies of Latin American countries under President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program, wealthy Latin Americans are investing their funds in foreign countries.

As reported by the National observer, the panel warned Latin American countries that as long as their private investors showed a "lack of faith" in their own domestic economies, investors from other nations would be reluctant to risk their capital in Latin America. The congressmen said the causes of this flight of private capital were fear of inflation; fear of political and social instability; the risk of expropriation, and unattractive investment opportunities.

Now that the subcommittee has reached that conclusion, let us hope that it will be able to secure the kind of action by Congress that will keep our government from wasting billions of our dollars trying to help people who are not willing to help themselves. Latin America is not going to be modernized and elevated to our living standard in one generation. Such a transformation will require several centuries of progress. And we are not adding to the strength and safety of the free world by going further into debt, in a vain effort to help our improvident neighbors.

There are things we can do to help those who will try to help themselves, ways that would be comparatively inexpensive. Tossing the billions around recklessly is not the right answer.

To all wheat producers
Don't gamble with disaster in the 1962 WHEAT REFERENDUM

Your wheat program is the only price protection you now have. Keep it!

Vote YES in the 1962 Wheat Referendum for your own price protection.

Your vote this year will determine how much your wheat is worth next year.

This is the same question you have settled nine times in the last nine years.

The choice now is still between:
1. A guaranteed minimum wheat price (price support) with market quotas.
2. Unrestricted production with disaster prices.

Don't let anyone tell you that, if farmers abandon the Wheat Program this year, Congress will give you something better. Your common sense tells you differently. A Congress that can't pass a farm bill won't be ready to help farmers who won't help themselves.

If there is no wheat program in 1963, you can be sure your wheat will flood an already overloaded grain market and drive all wheat prices down to disaster levels of $1 a bushel or even less.

Don't wreck your wheat price now by gambling with disaster.

There can be honest differences over farm programs, but not over destroying all farm programs.

Don't let anyone tell you that you can't run your own farm, boss your own acres, make your own decisions, and still farm the American way, because you want a Wheat Program and price protection.

So, beware of glittering promises and glib falsehoods by those who want you to throw overboard a wheat program that took you many years of effort to get.

You know who supports the Wheat Program. Be sure you know who's against the Wheat Program and what they stand for.

Remember, to win, two-thirds of those voting must vote YES. So, you and your wife and anyone else who is interested in your farm be sure to vote.

Then do your part in getting your neighbors out to vote YES.

For further information on the Wheat Referendum, see your local or county ASC committee.

This year make it the tenth straight victory
VOTE YES
1962 WHEAT REFERENDUM
(Your wheat program is worth at least a billion dollars in income to the farmers and rural communities of this nation, based on the 1962 wheat production.)

HARVESTING is now underway in the southwest portion of Pennington county where crop prospects are the most favorable of any county area this year. While excessive rainfall hurt the total crop production in the area, there are a number of fields which look good and most farmers had at least part of their crops planted. The above photo was taken on the Richard Dvorak farm just west of St. Hilaire where Lyle Vonasek of East Grand Forks is assisting in the grain hauling chores. Barley was being harvested on this field.

Banks Provide Most Credit To State Farmers

Lending Summary Shows Banks Extend 76% of Farm Credit

Minnesota banks were serving farmers with more credit and other financial services than any group of lenders at the beginning of this year, according to Orville M. Hanson, Northern State bank cashier, who is Pennington county associate councilman for the Minnesota Bankers association. During 1921 the state's banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services.

Basis for Hanson's statement was the 21st annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Committee of the American Bankers association. At the beginning of the year, Minnesota banks were helping farmers with $328 million in loans—including $262 million in production loans and $66 million in farm mortgages.

At the same time, $156 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies, $143 million by federal land banks, $70 million by production credit associations, $15 million in non-real-estate loans and $19 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 76 per cent of the production credit extended by lending institutions to Minnesota farmers came from banks, Hanson said.

Hanson added that "bankers in Minnesota, as well as throughout the country, are taking a realistic look at agriculture, appraising it from the standpoint of its total contribution to the economy. Thru the years he agricultural industry, as a par of the total economy, has remained relatively stable with the 'off-the-farm' portion becoming increasingly significant. Bankers, therefore, are broadening their services, and are also developing and promoting programs that consider the interwoven relationships between farmers and related businesses.

"Capital has become one of the main pillars in agriculture, with the total investment increasing nearly six-fold during the past 20 years Today farm familels nationally have approximately $195-billion invested in their operations, with an averabe per farm worker of nearly $30,000—greater than the amount used in manufacturing."

Hanson stressed the importance of farmers and bankers working closely together to improve farm financial arrangements. He reported that 92 per cent of insured banks throughout the country had agricultural loans outstanding at the first of the year, with 95 per cent of the insured commercial banks in Minnesota extending credit to farm people.

Speed Big Factor in June Accidents on State Highways

Excessive Speed Listed as Major Cause of 24 Pct. of Traffic Fatalities

The "speeder" was a leading factor in rising rates of traffic accidents during June, according to the Minnesota highway department:

Excessive speed was listed as a factor in 24 per cent of the 51 fatal accidents that occurred during the month. The second leading cause of death-dealing mishaps was recorded as "failure to yield right of way."

Violations of traffic controls, defective equipment, and violations by pedestrians were each cited in 10 per cent of the fatal accidents.

Traffic deaths showed a very slight decline from 61 in June of last year to 60 in the same month of this year, but the over-all total of traffic mishaps for the period showed a four per cent increase for June of this year.

Nine persons were killed in pedestrian accidents during the month compared with six persons killed in the same month a year ago. Twenty persons lost their lives in "ran off roadway" accidents, two more than were recorded for the same cause during June, 1961.

The June tally brought the first six-month fatality rate down to 3.8 deaths per hundred million vehicle miles of travel compared to 4.4 for the same period of 1961. However, the accident and severity rates showed significant increases.

Accidents showed a 38 per cent increase during the first six months over the same period of last year.

Fatalities resulting from accidents involving pedestrians, bicyclists, and those who "ran off roadways" were the only categories that showed increases during 1962

Something you should think about if you're about to buy a truck:

If all trucks were built the same way, cost the same to keep up, were worth the same at trade-in . . . then probably the price tag would be your only concern. It can't be, of course, because some trucks have more quality than others. And marks of quality are the real keys to low cost.

Chevrolet trucks, for example, have double-wall construction, which gives bodies and cabs more strength. Cabs are insulated against heat, cold and noise. A big part of road shock, which shortens truck life, is damped out by Chevrolet's suspension system; it also makes riding in the truck a pleasure. Pickup bodies and cabs are separated to eliminate stress between them.

Value such as this has induced more people to invest in Chevrolet trucks every year since 1937.

This can be a good time to buy a modern new Chevrolet truck

Late summer traditionally is the season for all-around savings on a new Chevrolet truck . . . selection is still good . . . deliveries are prompt . . . and Chevrolet dealers are doubly anxious to put you into a new vehicle in order to make way for next year's models. Coupled with the efficient performance a new Chevrolet truck will give you, it seems evident that you couldn't buy at a better time.

Come in and take full advantage of it!

God's Greatest Gift

I saw a miracle today. I visited a family with a tiny baby, and as I looked at him and held his chubby hand in mine, I felt the thrill that comes to me each time I gaze upon a new life.

In my work as a minister, I call upon many families. I see many babies. Yet that thrill is always there. For of all God's great gifts, this is the greatest. Nowhere, I think, does His power stand more truly revealed to us than when we see a small being, created in His image.

As I held this baby today, I knew a special gladness because his parents are members of my church and stand ready to bring up their son in the full, rich light of religious training. Would that all blessed babes were so fortunate! It is God who gives us our children—but it is we who must teach them the meaning of His love, His truth, and His eternal understanding.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wheat Growers To Vote . . .

Wheat Referendum Will Be Held Thursday, Aug. 30

Pennington county wheat producers will join other wheat growers Thursday, August 30, in balloting on marketing quotas for the 1963 wheat crop. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Issues on which producers will vote are the same as those on the 1961 wheat crop, as provided by permanent legislation in effect before the 1962 emergency program.

Eligible to vote are all growers in commercial wheat states who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1963, but not farmers taking part in the "feed wheat" program. Under the feed wheat provision, wheat growers may arrange to grow up to 30 acres of wheat for use as feed only on the farm where grown.

At least two-thirds of the producers voting in the referendum must approve the marketing quotas if they are to become effective for the 1963 crop. Farmers will receive notice of their 1963 farm wheat allotments in advance of the referendum and polling places for Pennington and Marshall counties will be announced in later editions of the Times.

In general, the 1963 wheat program which will be in effect under existing legislation provides for farm acreage allotments set on the basis of a minimum national wheat allotment of 55 million acres. The minimum support price would be at a national average of $1.82 per bushel, 75 per cent of parity, under a quota program. Marketing quota penalties would apply to the "excess" wheat of growers with more than 15 acres of wheat who did not comply with their acreage allotments.

If farmers disapprove marketing quotas, there would be no restrictions on wheat marketing in 1963. Under the law, however, acreage allotments would remain in effect and would be used to determine eligibility for price support at the 50 per cent of parity rate required by law if quotas are not approved. Under this rate, the national average price support for wheat would be about $1.21 per bushel. Farmers who choose not to stay within their acreage allotments under such a plan would not be eligible for price support.

"With winter wheat planting near at hand, time will not permit any further delay in completing arrangements for the 1963 wheat program," stated Orville Freeman, agriculture secretary, in announcing the referendum. "Any Congressional action this summer on new legislation will apparently come too late to be put fully in effect for next year's crop, since farmers are at the time of year when their plans must be completed for the 1963-crop winter seedings.

"It may still be possible for the Congress to enact legislation to be effective for the 1963 crop which would improve farm returns, avoid accumulation of stocks and reduce government costs by continuing some of the features of the 1962 emergency wheat program. Holding the referendum on August 30 will not preclude this possibility."

7th District DFL to Plan Campaign

District-wide Meeting at Detroit Lakes Sunday

The Democratic-Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota's Seventh district will hold a district-wide meeting in Detroit Lakes on Sunday, August 26 at 1:00 p. m.

Featured at the meeting will be Lt. Governor Karl Rolvaag and Dr. Harding C. Noblitt, DFL endorsed candidate for Congress. The candidates will report on the progress of their present campaigns for governor and Congress, respectively.

"Main purpose of the meeting is to formulate final plans for the final drive to insure a successful primary election, which is to be held on September 11.

The meeting is open to all "working Democrats," according to A. O. Relerson, 7th district chairman. This will include county chairmen, county chairwomen, district officers, delegates and alternates, and other interested DFL'ers.

Weather Provides Good Harvesting Conditions Here

Harvesting conditions should continue in fine fashion throughout the Times area early this week with no appreciable precipitation recorded during the past week. Today's forecast calls for occasional cloudiness, cooler temperatures with low humidity and mostly fair with little temperature change tomorrow. High readings today will be 78 to 84 with lows tonight from 50 to 54.

High and low temperatures the past several days included 69 and 51 on Thursday, 77 and 43 on Friday, 82 and 57 on Saturday and 81 and 61 on Sunday with a low reading last night of 54 degrees.

Old Mill at State Park Will Operate Sunday, Sept. 23d

Marshall County's Old Mill will operate again for the public on Sunday, September 23, according to Old Mill State Park Superintendent Ernie Jewell. He is seeking persons who want grain ground into flour and the mill will be run according to the amount of grain he has booked for the day.

Grain should be completely dry and can be 1962 crop if dry enough but older grain makes better flour, Mr. Jewell advises. This will probably be the only time the mill will be in operation this year.

Membership Drive . . .

District Scouters Plan 'Go Roundup'

Pen-Ro-Shall district committee and scouters made plans to participate in the "A-OK Go Round" for membership of the Lake Agassiz Council at a pre-fall meeting in Thief River Falls Thursday evening, with H. W. "Bill" Oehler, new council scout executive, attending to help launch the program.

The roundup will "blast off" September 1 with "re-entry" December 15. Between those dates all Cubs, Scouts and Explorers, who recruit five or more new members a special neckerchief slide. Packs, troops and posts whose members and five or more new members subscribers to Boys' Life magazine by "re-entry", will receive an attractive "A-OK Unit" award. Details and materials for roundup participation were made available at the meeting.

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will be the site of the district's fall Scout Camporee, September 21-22-23. Theme of the camporee will emphasize physical fitness events and activities, which will enable new recruits as well as experienced scouts to participate, according to Florian Kritz, district chairman.

The district will participate with the other districts of the council in the council-wide annual Boy Scout finance campaign which will be conducted during the first week of October in non-chest scouting communities of the district.

"Scouting is not subsidized as many mistakenly believe", Oehler commented in relating the coming finance campaign to the membership roundup and program, "but receives its total financial support from public subscription. It is the only organization of its kind which gives year-round personal professional service, and we enlist public support to enable us to make our program available through local institutions and adult leaders to every boy who wants to be a Cub, Scout or Explorer."

Howard Hagen, district commissioner, distributed fall program materials to units and announced that cubbing and scouting roundtables for pack and troop adults will begin in September under the direction of Fred Mittelstadt and Morris Owen.

Next district meeting will be held September 6 in Thief River Falls.

2 from This City Get M.A. Degrees at Colorado State

Colorado State College conferred degrees on 707 students during its summer commencement exercises August 16 on its Greeley campus. Dr. William R. Ross, president, conferred the degrees.

Local students receiving their master of arts degree include Calvin W. Vraa and Arnold O. Lindland.

LAUNCHING plans for the "1962 Go Roundup" at the meeting of Pen-Ro-Shall district scouters Thursday were Bill Oehler, left, who recently succeeded Philip "Scoop" Schneider as executive for the Lake Agassiz Boy Scout Council, and Florian Kritz, Thief River Falls, chairman of the Pen-Ro-Shall district. The "Go Roundup" is the time for "countdown" on membership in all units, the scouters were told on Thursday at the meeting held in the Rex Cafe. September 1 is the "blast-off" date in the membership campaign and, according to local scout officials, "everything is A—O.K." Awards are being offered to units and individuals during the recruiting period.

Freeman Calls for Laws to Control Milk Production

Agriculture Secretary Says Present System Cost $597,000,000 in Past Year

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman appealed to Congress Thursday for legislation at this session to authorize production controls on milk. He said it is necessary to prevent a price support program debacle for dairy products.

In a letter to Chairman Allen J. Ellender, of the Senate agriculture committee, Freeman said his department is being forced to buy surplus butter in quantities which threaten to outrun freezer storage space for it.

In addition, he said, the present program keeps dairymen from getting adequate incomes and burdens taxpayers with more than $500 million a year in costs of acquiring surplus butter, cheese, and dry milk under a support program.

Freeman said costs during the marketing year ending April 30 hit a record high of $597 million.

Freeman said new legislation is needed now to:

1. Limit government acquisition of dairy products to quantities which can be utilized without waste in the national interest;
2. Authorize dairy farmers—if they choose by a two thirds majority to do so—to bring milk supplies into balance with demand and needs for government programs, in order to maintain their prices and incomes at fair and adequate levels, and
3. Provide for a gradual transition toward reduced government expenditures for price support operations. This would be done at choice of dairymen themselves, either through lower price supports or through a production control program.

DR. HARDING NOBLITT IS TRF VISITOR SATURDAY

Dr. Harding Noblitt of Moorhead, Concordia college professor and candidate for the DFL nomination for congressman from the Seventh district, visited in Thief River Falls Saturday in the interests of his candidacy.

FU Urges Farmers to Vote 'Yes' in Wheat Referendum

Rejection Will Cost $10 Per Acre on 1963 Crop, M. W. Thatcher States

Wheat farmers stand to lose more than $10 an acre on their 1963 wheat crop unless the "Yes" vote wins in the national wheat referendum on Thursday, August 30.

That is the warning issued by M. W. Thatcher, chairman of the National Wheat Referendum Committee. The figure, he said, is based on U. S. Department of Agriculture sources, and is the result of a realistic comparison of the alternatives in the August 30 vote.

The 1963 wheat program, under existing legislation, provides for acreage allotments set on the basis of a minimum 55-million-acre national wheat allotment. If farmers approve marketing quotas by a two-thirds "Yes" vote, the minimum price support for wheat in 1963 will be at a national average of $1.82 per bushel, which is 75 per cent of parity.

If one-third of the farmers disapprove marketing quotas, those who still want to stay within their acreage quotas would get a national average support of $1.21 per bushel. But those who would not comply, and only a few would at best, would get no support, so the non-cooperators would get the free market price, estimated at around $1 a bushel.

The free market price in 1963, the wheat referendum committee's analysis discloses, would be no better tahn $1.15, based on a price support at $1.20 for corn, and an expected corn price around $1.00 per bushel. There is an historic economic relationship between these two major cereal crops which tends to make the price of one dependent upon the price of the other.

Fertile Man Sought on Larceny Charge

John D. Wang Charged in Embezzlement of $1,100

The search for a 25-year-old man from Fertile, missing since Monday, was intensified late last week following the issuance of a warrant charging him with first degree grand lacenty, and the discovery of the car he was believed to be using, reports the Crookston Times.

John David Wang was named in the warrant signed Thursday by the Barlow Furniture Co., Polk County Sheriff Carl Knutson said.

Knutson said the warrant specifically charges Wang with the alleged embezzlement of an estimated $1,100 in company funds.

Wang was employed as manager of the furniture company's store in Fertile at the time of his disappearance.

The car, a 1961 red Ford, was found parked in front of a hotel in Fargo Thursday night. Knutson said the car has been impounded by Fargo police.

Knutson said the car had a parking ticket on it, indicating the car may have been abandoned.

Wang has been described by authorities as six feet tall, weighing 190 pounds, of slender build and having blond hair and blue eyes.

TRF Schools Operate Within '61-'62 Budget

REDCOATS will be coming to business places of Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce members who are delinquent in payment of their current year's dues this week. The membership and finance committee of the organization has secured blazing red jackets to be used in the "Redcoats Are Coming" collection campaign. In the above photo, John McGinley, committee chairman, prepares for a meeting to be held with other committee members Tuesday morning. As can be plainly seen, the committee plans to "shoot the works" in making the collection campaign successful.

Year's Expense Total Is $1,457,241; Set Record Attendance

In spite of several expenses not included in budget plans prepared last year, Thief River Falls public schools operated well within the budget of $1,500,255 during the 1961-1962 school term. This is revealed in the report to the board of education prepared by M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools. Actual receipts were somewhat below anticipated revenue, however, with local taxes not coming in as expected.

Total budget for expenditures was $1,500,255 with the actual expenses for the year totaling $1,457,241. The only classification to exceed its budget was capital outlay which resulted from a cost of $24,071 to remodel Knox elementary school. Budget for capital outlay was $57,250 and actual expenditure was $88,916.

Other classifications, budget figure and actual expenditures respectively were as follows: administration, $36,330 and $34,296; instruction, $898,925 and $886,514; operation of plant, $133,750 and $131,067; repair and upkeep, $26,050 and $13,604; auxiliary services (including NDEA), $102,100 and $88,582; fixed charges, $43,700 and $37,577; transportation, $69,925 and $66,181; and debt service, $132,225 and $130,501.

Budget projections for income and actual receipts respectively for the 1961-1962 school term were as follows: local taxes, $512,381 and $510,514; county receipts, $87,960 and $70,030; state and federal receipts, $778,842 and $734,296; tuition and other receipts, $7,650 and $4,804; and nonrevenue receipts, $100,700 and $103,316. Total receipts, including 1960-61 balance, were $1,422,963.

The district had a taxable valuation of $4,061,959 with agriculture property totaling $994,688 and nonagricultural property totaling $3,067,271. Of the agricultural property, $826,753 is in Pennington and $167,935 is in Marshall county.

Increased Enrollment

Enrollment in city schools has shown an increase each year during the past 10 years from a total of 2,055 in 1951-52 to a total of 2,828 in 1961-1962. During the past year a record percentage of attendance was set by school students with 96.3 per cent. Previous high was 95.9 per cent during the 1960-1961 term. The school census completed by Mrs. Margaret Race as of September 1, 1961, showed that there were 4,144 persons from 0 through 20 years of age in the district at that time.

Forty activity accounts were maintained during the year for class funds and school activities. Balance in these accounts was $4,412 at the beginning of the year, receipts totaled $30,577 and disbursements totaled $33,180.

For Better Program . . .

Girl Scouts Hold Training Session

Area service teams in the Northwestern Minnesota Girl Scout Council received information at a training session held Friday afternoon in the Thief River Falls municipal auditorium. Miss Margaret Keeley, community advisor from the regional Girl Scout office in Minneapolis, conducted the session.

Thief River Falls Girl Scout association is ready for the coming year of scouting, according to local officials. Mrs. Tom Fuller is the new community chairman with Mrs. William Unruh as secretary and Mrs. L. P. Winters as treasurer. Robert Flynn will represent Thief River Falls on the new area development committee and Morris Owen is a member of the camp development committee.

Service teams in Thief River Falls will include Mrs. Fuller assisted by Mrs. Edward Holmstrom, Mrs. Robert Larson, Mrs. Martin Finstad, Mrs. Richard Williams, Mrs. Alvin Aaseby, Mrs. C. L. Charlson, Mrs. John Womack and Mrs. Gunder Legvold. Service teams help organize troops and assist the leader in starting and continuing work with the troop.

Any help the leader feels she needs in training, program or camp opportunities will be relayed by the service team to the community chairman. She will report the needs to the area board and the area training chairman, program chairman or camp chairman will try to furnish the service needed.

Set Training Session

In order to give Girl Scouts the best program possible, it is believed that the leader should be experienced or well-trained, and training will be available throughout the year for all leaders. The first training course will be offered in the outdoor program on Wednesday at Riverside park, with the session beginning at 10 a. m.

All women who are considering leadership of a troop, present leaders, troop committees and interested mothers are urged to take the course. The meeting has been desribed as a fun time for adults and gives a good picture of what scouting really is. Leaders, who have completed the course are urged to take this training to review skills and learn new ones.

All interested women are asked to call Mrs. Tom Fuller so that materials may be on hand for everyone attending. Small-children

Cite Drainage, Flood Control, Conservation As Three Major Problems

In a letter to Senator Eugene McCarthy, the Red Lake River Improvement association has asked a study of the basin to resolve the three major problems of drainage, conservation and flood control. The letter included resolutions from numerous Chamber of Commerce groups, civic organizations and city councils in the watershed basin area. A resolution from the Thief River Falls city council was included.

Earl L. Enright, East Grand Forks, chairman of the improvement association, signed the letter which stated the following:

'For many years the Red Lake River Watershed unit in northwestern Minnesota has had constant problems relative to the control of one of our state's most valuable resources—WATER. Many sections of this area have had problems relative to drainage through the past years and the larger villages and cities in the lower end of the basin have had considerable difficulty with floods and inadequate water supply.

"If northwestern Minnesota is going to prosper from an agricultural standpoint or if the cities and villages in this watershed basin are going to continue to grow and have industrial and commercial development, it is imperative that a survey and study of the Red Lake River Watershed Unit basin be made by the United States Corps of Army Engineers."

The letter also called attention to the resolutions from organizations "indicating their interest in obtaining a survey and study . . so that water in this area shall no longer be an uncontrollable ravage which degrades our agriculture and industrial economy, but a controlled natural resource which can be one of our most valuable assets in future years."

Mrs. E. L Tungseth of Seattle, Wash., was a Tuesday visitor at the home of Mrs. Alfred Haugen, and an overnight guest of Mrs. Otto Parbst.

Constance Rawerts Wed Rev. Arthur Spomer Aug. 12

Miss Constance Rawerts, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vay Rawerts of rural Thief River Falls was married to Rev. Arthur Spomer, son of the Rev. and Mrs. John Spomer of Chicago, Ill., on August 12. Rev. Spomer, the father of the groom, officiated as liturgist at the double-ring service which was held at St. John's Lutheran Church in Red Lake Falls, before an altar decorated with yellow and white gladioli. The groom's brother, Rev. Herbert Spomer, delivered the sermon at the 4 o'clock nuptials.

Approximately 250 guests attended the ceremony.

Organist Carlyle Able of Clarendon Hills, Ill., a brother-in-law of the groom, played, "Jesus, Joy of Men's Desiring," on the organ. The vocal solo was rendered by Edward Shamber, the groom's uncle, with the groom's sister, Mrs. Carlyle Able, as flutist. On the trumpet was Charles Spomer, the groom's brother. The recessional was Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary."

The bride's father escorted his daughter, who chose for her nuptials a white slipper-satin gown with overlays of white net and Chantilly lace, accented by seed pearls and sequins, and designed with a flowing chapel train. She wore a fingertip-length veil and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and white feathered carnations.

Attending as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Earl Berg, of St. Paul, with Mrs. Dennis Rawerts, her sister-in-law, and Miss Lois Spomer of Chicago, Ill., the groom's sister, as other attendants. They wore moss green organza over yellow net and taffeta, and each carried a yellow camellia.

Best man was Carlton Zehn of Minneapolis; groomsmen were the groom's brother-in-law, Dennis Rawerts of St. Paul, and Earl Berg, also of St. Paul, the bride's brother-in-law. The men wore black trousers with white dinner jackets.

Mrs. Rawerts chose dusty rose over taffeta for her costume, with accessories in white, while the choice of the groom's mother was navy blue silk, accessorized with beige. Both wore white carnation and yellow rose corsages.

A 5:30 dinner was served by the bride's parents to about 160 guests in the church reception rooms after the wedding. The 3-tiered, all-white cake, decorated with crosses, was baked and decorated by Mrs. Ernest Ulrich, an aunt of the bride.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dahl and Angela, of Minneapolis; Arthur Ulrich and Gregory, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Marie Gieseke of New Ulm, and the sponsors of the groom, Miss Joanna Shamber and Mrs. Wilhelmina Treiber of Freeman, N. D., and Bill Stack, of Milwaukee, Wisc.

The bride graduated from Lincoln high school in this city, with the class of 1956, and subsequently from Concordia college of St. Paul and Concordia teacher's college, of River Forest, Ill. She was employed in the teaching profession at Immanuel Lutheran Church school, Dundee, Ill. The bridegroom studied at Concordia Lutheran seminary of St. Louis, Mo., and is now serving his one-year vicarage, being assigned to Cleveland, O.

The honeymooners went to Niagara Falls, N. Y., the bride selecting a black suit with white accessories for her travel costume. Upon their return, about August 17, they will be at home in Cleveland, O. —Photo by Neal Fox

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. J. W. EWING

We're back to salads again but without apologies. (Who can have too many salad recipes?) And this one, though it may sound complicated, really isn't.

Mrs. Ewing says it is a favorite with the gals. It is rich and satisfying, and can be the basis for a light meal, or double as a dessert. In fact, it's called a dessert salad, which hints at its dual role

3 cans strained baby apricots (with tapioca)
1 medium can crushed pineapple, drained
1 can apricot nectar, medium size
2 pkg. orange gelatine dessert
¾ cup miniature marshmallows
2 cups hot water
1 cup pineapple juice and nectar

DESSERT SALAD

Dissolve gelatine dessert in the hot water. Mix pineapple juice and nectar. If you don't have a cupful, add water to fill the cup. Add the juice to the dissolved gelatine dessert. Add the other ingredients listed above, and set to cool in a 9" by 13" cake pan. When firm, make the following topping and spread over the molded salad:

½ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
3 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. butter

1 cup pineapple juice and nectar combined. Again, add water to filt he cup, if necessary.

Mix well, and boil until thick, stirring constantly. When this cools, fold in ½ pint cream, whipped, and spread it over the firm salad.

Garnish with mellow cheddar cheese, shredded

Mrs. Ewing, whose husband has practiced dentistry in Thief River Falls since 1945, enjoys being of service in worthwhile community efforts. When her sons were young, she was a den mother for their scout troops, and until just recently she has been a girl-scout leader, engaging in this commendable activity for some time.

The Ewings' daughter, Carole, who is 21, has spent the summer in Greece under the SPAN college project, an organization dedicated to fostering amity among nations. Following this, she is touring in Europe. The couple's son, Jim, was an honor student in the '62 graduating class at the Lincoln high school (Mrs. Ewing didn't mention the fact that he graduated with honors, merely stating that he graduated this year.) Their second son, Ronald, age 15, will be a junior in high school this fall. The family has been host to two foreign exchange students.

In addition to her scout work, Mrs. Ewing is active in church work also. She enjoys decorative painting and flower gardening, but says that she enjoys sewing even more. She has fashioned most of her daughter's clothing for a long period of time, in addition to making many of her own clothes.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Froseth returned on Saturday from the convention of the National Veterans of Foreign Wars which was held in Minneapolis last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dahl and children and Mrs. Archie Dahl of Mankato visited with Mrs. Otto Parbst last week, returning home via Bemidji, Duluth, and the North Shore drive.

Autumn Color in Minnesota

The grandeur and color of many trees and shrubs native to Minnesota are spectacular during autumn. The cool nights and balmy days during late August in Minnesota and through September help bring on the fine show of color.

The Staghorn sumac is among the first of the shrubs to show autumn color. First it turns a bronzy red, later a brilliant scarlet. Watch the sumac as a signal for the beginning of the blaze of color that marks a Minnesota fall.

The poplar, birch, bittersweet vine, larch, mountain ash, elm, basswood and silver maple put on a show of brilliant yellow The red maple, sugar maple, oak and high bush cranberry give the display of red-orange and scarlet that is an especially thrilling sight.

A trip to almost any section of Minnesota will provide a good opportunity to see autumn color this fall. Especially beautiful in fall are the North Shore of Lake Superior, the River Road in Minneapolis and St. Paul, and the areas around Bemidji, Taylors Falls, Park Rapids, Detroit Lakes, Grand Rapids, Duluth and Lake Minnetonka.

There's an old idea that the blaze of color in foliage is the result of frost. The real cause of the autumn show is the disappearance of the green pigment in the leaf, revealing other pigments that have been there during the growing season. Cool nights and sunny days help to intensify the red and yellow pigments.

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Soon local 4-H clubs will be beginning a new 4-H year. Any boy or girl interested in becoming a 4-H member should stop at the extension office if he or she doesn't know which club to join. Any boy or girl living in Thief River Falls who would like to join can stop into the extension office anytime. If enough interest is shown from the boys and girls living in town, we will form another club. Last year one club was started in town.

You may be asking just what is 4-H? 4-H is a program set up to help boys and girls develop desirable ideals and standards for home and family living, community life, citizenship and agriculture. Club members carry out practical projects under the guidance of county agricultural extension service working in cooperation with U.S. DEpt. of Agriculture and the University of Minnesota Agricultural extension service.

When it comes to 4-H, town or country makes no difference. Club work is geared to all young people between the ages of 9 and 21. In Pennington county this past year there were 463 young people belonging to 4-H. The aim for this fall is for a higher enrollment than the year just ending.

Those 4-H'ers, like the rest of Minnesota's 53,000 club members, centered their work around useful tasks called 4-H projects. Crops, garden, home yard improvement, food and clothing are just a few of the 28 projects boys and girls can select. Through their projects they learn the best approved methods.

There are still a few cake pans and pie tins left over from the county fair. If anyone still has a pan missing they are asked to stop into the extension office and pick up their pans. There are also some articles that were found after the 4-H dress revue and they are also at the extension office.

To all those boys and girls taking part in the Minnesota State Fair, I wish them the best of luck as this coming Friday the first group of 4-H'ers will depart for the state event.

Marshall History Unit Met Tuesday

Pres. Harold Sorensen to Name Planning Group

Immediate and long range objectives of the Marshall County Historical society will be determined by a planning committee to be appointed in October, according to a decision reached by the board of governors at a meeting Tuesday night at Old Mill state park.

The committee will be announced at the annual meeting of the society which will be held Thursday, October 18 at Viking, according to Harold Sorensen of Warren, president.

Preliminary plans for the acceptance of Alma Lutheran Church building in the event it is offered to the society were made. If this, one of the county's first churches, is offered, it would be placed on th Street of Yesteryear at the fairgrounds in Warren.

Ernie Jewell, superintendent of Old Mill state park, reported on the progress of the house which the society is restoring on the old mill site. He says he has plenty of old logs now in order to start work. Mrs. Jewell served lunch to the group of about 20 attending the meeting.

Few things are more dangerous than a train of thought that carries no freight.—Anonymous

Educational Officials Convene at St. Cloud

Educators should be concerned with much more than intellect alone in the training of young minds, a former U. S. commissioner of education told a four-day educators' workshop at St. Cloud State college last week.

Lawrence G. Derthick, commissioner four years during President Eisenhower's administration and now the National Education association's assistant executive secretary for educational services, delivered the main address at the annual leadership workshop for local association presidents, attended by some 250 teachers who head Minnesota Education association units throughout the state. In attendance was Alan Adams, head of the Thief River Falls unit.

Discussing sense of direction and action during his talk, "Five Senses and a Sixth", Derthick said it's important to have a sense of direction in American education. "Do we want brains alone or character, too?" he asked. "I don't want a brain who's a Klaus Fuchs (British atom scientist who spied for Russia). We waste our resources if we concern ourselves only with those who have academic skills. We need people with a sense of selflessness. We need responsible citizenship."

The other four "senses": a sense of perspective which includes a sense of humor, "because we need inner peace in these times"; a sense of reality, "emphasize the positive and face reality, and teach your pupils to do so"; use common sense about good teaching, "respect the honest critics of education while standing your ground and by your principles"; sense of pride in our profession and professional organization.

And the sixth: have a sensitivity to others, "have respect for personality and individuality and be magnanimous" for "to teach is to love".

Purpose of the workshop is to brief incoming local presidents of the 30,000-plus-member MEA, the state's largest professional organization. Speakers and section leaders included MEA staff members and educators from the state's schools and colleges.

Schools Operate Within Budget for 1961-1962

leaving a year-end balance of $1,809.

Hot lunch program was in itself a sizeable venture with a total of 191,938 meals being served during the year. Sale of lunches totaled $49,802. Daily average of lunches served ranged from 917 in May to 1,196 in December with all months other than May being well above the 1,000 mark in daily servings. Milk distribution totaled 243,458 units.

Bus Transportation

Eighteen regular and seven kindergarten bus routes carried 919 pupils a total of 214,631 miles on their way to and from school. Total cost of all routes was $62,291 with major expenses being $23,597 for drivers' salaries, $9,875 for mechanics's salaries, $6,274 for gasoline and $6,990 for private carriers.

In the adult agriculture department, 57 farm records were analyzed, 40 class sessions were held and 51 visits were made to vocational agriculture departments in the area. There were 187 farm visits, 85 office calls by farmers, establishment of a feeder pig market was promoted, a mastitis control program was held in cooperation with area farmers and teaching materials were prepared for high school vocational agriculture departments in the area.

Excerpts from Report

Excerpts from Supt. Hankerson's report and summary are as follows:

"The school year has had both success and failure. We have had a good teaching staff. We have operated well within our budget. Several departments have had improvements. School property has been improved. Our students continue well above national norms in achievement and continue to higher education in ever increasing numbers.

"Student participation in extra activities is broadening. Several groups in drama, music and athletics have won district, regional and state recognition. Student morale is high.

"Disappointments, too, have marked the year. Defeat of a bond issue to add much needed facilities was a blow. After two years of exhausting survey and study, a plan was submitted and voted down by the electorate. This does not mean the issue is dead. It must be worked over and resubmitted to the voters.

"Not to do this will mean a deterioration of educational opportunities for our children. This we must not and cannot allow; for, it shall continue to be our policy that the Thief River Falls schools shall continue to be among the best. Our record in the past has been one of leadership. This we must continue.

"Many good things were accomplished during the past year. The Knox building renovation was completed and paid for. . . The trainable class for mentally retarded was added. . . An attendance director was established, and the results have been gratifying as shown by the increased percentage of attendance. . . Rental space was provided for the business department of the area vocational school which helped the crowded conditions of the high school somewhat.

"Our big problem, of course, is not enough classrooms. Most of our problems cannot be attacked because of lack of room. We have had to make changes — some not in a forward way. Thief River Falls must again try for a bond issue to build adequate facilities."

ren will be cared for in the park so that mothers do not need to secure baby sitters in order to attend the session.

Conducting the training will be Mrs. J. B. Carlson of Stephen, Mrs. Gene Beltz Sr. of Bagley and Mrs. Stanley Ranum of Thief River Falls. The training sessions are being planned by Mrs. Kenneth Tischart, Red Lake Falls, area training chairman.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—Has Congress passed the bill for World War I veterans' pensions?

A—Bills providing pensions for World War I veterans have been introduced in the current session of Congress, but none as yet have been acted upon by either the House or the Senate. Of course, there is an over-all pension law that is administered by the VA.

Q—Does the VA provide homes for veterans who for one reason or another are penniless or incapable of earning a living?

A—There are domiciliaries for that purpose, and entrance requirements are similar to entry into VA hospitals. Contact your nearest VA office.

Q—Where are the Veterans Affairs Offices of the State Department located?

A—To facilitate serving VA beneficiaries in certain foreign areas having unusually large concentrations of veterans and their beneficiaries, Veterans Affairs Offices are maintained at the American embassies in London, Paris, Rome, and Mexico City and at the American consulate general in Frankfurt, Germany.

Our Land

"Whoever mapped my farm knows it better than I do; I never saw such detail." So says Walter Konnert who owns a 125-acre farm in Blue Earth County. As Kunnert was working with James O'Meara, SCS technician at Mankato, in developing a conservation farm plan, O'Meara showed him a soils map of his farm. He picked out several small areas on the map and said, "Maybe that's why it plows so hard there. I didn't think a soils map would separate such small areas."

Walter Otte and Tom Anderson decided to put a stop to the depletion of top-soil from the fields of moderately sloping Watonwan Co. farms. They called on Pat Kennedy, Watonwan SCD work unit conservationist; Kennedy helped plan and install terraces on their farms. Both Otte and Anderson agree that soil loss this spring would have been high without the terraces; as it was, heavy spring rains were caught and allowed to move gradually down grassed waterways. According to Watonwan County Agent John Anken, both men are convinced that benefits from the terraces will more than offset any small inconvenience they may cause.

GOOD CROP

SEED GROWER, Mrs. Arthur Watkins of Kerkhoven, Minn., explains the complexities of professional small grain production to her sons, Glenn, 18, and Craig, 10. Mrs. Watkins, a consistent ribbon winner at the Minnesota State Fair, is preparing to enter this year's exposition, Aug. 25 through Sept. 3.

"Cropland drainage and a wildlife pond works out well," says Edgar Ramberg, cooperator with the Lake of the Woods SCD. Ramberg installed three-fourths mile of open ditch two years ago with technical help furnished by SCS technicians at Baudette. The ditch intercepted water from adjacent wetlands and protected his cropland from overflow. Last year Ramberg constructed a shallow pond in a low area that was not feasible to drain. The pond now harbors two pair of mallards and furnishes a good watering spot for deer.

Don't cut third crop Alfalfa after September 5 if you're counting on a crop from the same field next year. Extension agronomists at the University of Minnesota say alfalfa needs a period of time before a killing frost to build up food reserves in its root system.

Much Blindness Preventable

The American Medical Association points out that the main causes of blindness in the United States are glaucoma, cataracts and accidents. Most of the accidents could be prevented by the exercise of simple precautions on the part of children and their parents. Most cases of cataracts can be dealt with by surgery. Glaucoma, if recognized in its early stages, and if adequate and sustained treatment is given, can be checked and stabilized. One reliable estimate says that half the blindness in this country could be prevented or cured.

State Welfare Department Has Exhibits at Fair

Pennington Co. Welfare Director Tells Some of Features of '62 Display

The Minnesota department of public welfare's displays at the state fair's exhibits building will have a new look this year, Ralph Hunt, director, Pennington county welfare department, announced this week. The 1962 state fair opens this Saturday, August 25, and continues through Labor Day, Monday, September 3.

One new feature of this year's welfare exhibits will be incorporated in the mentally retarded and epileptic booth, where free phenylketonuria (PKU) testing will be made available to parents of infant children. PKU, due to an inherited deficiency of an enzyme essential for normal protein metabolism—if undiagnosed and untreated—can lead to severe mental retardation.

Materials will be available at the welfare booth for parents of young children to take urine samples of their infants and mail them in for analysis. If the test detects the presence of PKU, a special diet can be given the infant to prevent brain damage and resulting retardation.

Other department of welfare exhibits, Hunt explained, will include services for the blind talking books, slides, optical aids, household articles, and items made expressly for the use of sightless persons. The Minnesota Council on Adoptions, in collaboration with the division of child welfare, will explain the legal adoption procedures. This space will be manned by both state workers and adoptive parents. Literature will be available in all booths.

The State Exhibits building is located just inside the northernmost entrance to the Fair Grounds on Snelling avenue, near Machinery Hill.

COLLISION COURSE

DEATH DEFYING drivers will appear at nine of the 10 Minnesota State Fair Night Shows, Aug. 25 through Sept. 3. Thrill Shows will precede each of the Fair's mammoth Night Shows, starting Sunday, Aug. 26. Two big thrill programs are scheduled afternoons of Monday, Aug. 27, and Thursday, Aug. 30.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

As I write this little column I am leaning back in a fishing boat somewhere out in the Lake of the Woods. My wife is with me and we aren't having much luck although it is because we are poor fishermen rather than anything else.

As one enjoys this close communion with nature he cannot help but be impressed with the tremendous display of nature that has been bestowed upon the State of Minnesota. There are over 10,000 lakes in the state and they tell us that there are over 14,000 islands in this lake alone. What a ghastly job it would be to count them all.

The up shot of all this is that I think more of us should 'count our blessings', so to speak, just a little more often than we do. There are so many good things to be said for Minnesota that it really appalls me to think about the bad things our own citizens say about it. How many folks have you heard complain about the weather? It's either too cold, too hot, too humid, too wet, too dry, too windy, or too etc., etc.,. It seems that all of this variety is the very thing that keeps life interesting from day to day. I like the variety, the constant change, and the four distinct seasons that we all enjoy. I like the lakes, the forests, the farmland, the mining, the numerous smaller communities scattered all over, the integrity and industriousness of the people. These are things that our state can boast of above perhaps any state in the union.

Right in Thief River Falls we have dozens of things that we can talk positively about if we want to. Yet we have those who think negatively about almost everything that meets the eye. If things were really that bad it seems to me that the community could never exist. So let's be realistic and make the most of the very things that justify the territory that is our state, county, and locality.

Our Chamber motto is "To Build and to Serve the TRF Area" and I've thought many times how much more 'building and serving' the organization could do if it had full cooperation of all the groups and individuals. Idealism isn't everything but it certainly has its place. One of those places is in the field of community development. It seems to me that more of us should keep that thought in mind.

Speaking of idealism, you'll find it near ideal to Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made—Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

America's working men and women, at the start of 1962, had built up nearly $30 billion for retirement and these reserves are gaining at the rate of $1.5 to $2 billion annually, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

4-H Tour Held

Sunday afternoon the 4-Hers and their families toured three homes. Seven families participated. Alvin Grandstrand, John Peters, Gene Nelson, Adolph Bakke, Richard Anderson, Laurence Melvie and Art Thompsons. The tour was begun at the Grandstrand home where Winslow and Wesley showed their pigs which will go to the state fair. The next stop was the John Peters home where Jerome showed chickens and a garden. At the Thompsons ShaRay gave a talk on potato salad from the food preparation project. Lois showed a clover leaf bread and told how it was made. Some of the girls clothing articles were also on display. The 4-Hers then played the parents in softball with the 4-Hers winning 20-9. A picnic pot luck lunch was served on the lawn.

Attend Bake Day

Seven of the girls enrolled in the Food Preparation and Bread projects attended a "Bake Day" at the home of Mrs. John Peters Thursday afternoon. Those present included Polly and Nancy Erickson, Cathy Erickson, Alayne Berg, Debbie Nelson, ShaRay Melvie, and Lois Thompson. Mrs. Laurence Melvie and Mrs. Richard Anderson also attended. The girls planned and prepared a full course meal. The dinner menu consisted of Hawaiian punch, potato salad, sloppy Joes on buns, carrot sticks, cucumber slices and peach pie. A table was set with a flower arrangement made by the girls as the centerpiece.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

"A two-way plow ought to be a part of any terrace system," according to George Hofelmann, who farms a half-section near Luverne. Hofelmann bought a three bottom two-way plow because the conventional plow he used was causing a deep, wide dead furrow to develop between terraces. And he didn't like the idea of always plowing half the terraced area downhill. The Rock S&WCD cooperator told Raymond W. Shur, work unit conservationist, that the extra cost of a two-way plow is soon repaid by continuous high yields in what used to be the dead furrow area, and from savings in time and travel during the plowing operation.

Roger Harris, extension soil conservation specialist at the University of Minnesota, says 20 Pennsylvania dairy farmers reported a 64 per cent increase in crop production after 11 years of using soil conserving practices on their farms.

"The stockwater pit in my pasture saves me a lot of labor and increases milk production," says Basil Stavenes, Beltrami County farmer. "Now it is just a matter of opening the gates twice a day for me to water my livestock." Stavenes constructed his pit last summer with the assistance of SCS technicians Gordon Jelle and Ralph Rundell at Grygla. He is so pleased with the pit that he plans to construct a second one in another pasture this year.

This year's wet spring really gave the tile system belonging to Ellsworth Dobberstein of Brown County a true test. "Areas that were tiled according to SCS specifications were nice and dry while areas tiled earlier with random spacing were impossible to work," Dobberstein says. This present tile plan was designed by Lester at Sleepy Eye; lateral tile lines are nw spaced 100 feet apart and laid from 3 to 3½ feet deep.

Henning Munson tried wheel track planting for his corn on a limited basis back in 1956. He's used the practice for all his corn and soybeans ever since. The Watonwan County farmer says wheel track planting gives him considerable saving in time and expense — and crop yields have never been better. John Ankeny, Watonwan County Agent, says Munson used to be rushed to get his corn and soybeans planted each year because much of his soil is light textured and had to be plowed in spring to avoid wind erosion. Now he's completely sold on wheel-track planting for handling row crops on light soils.

"Heavy rains this spring really sold me on the value of contour strips," says Tom Mielke, cooperator with the Douglas S&WCD. Contour strips were first laid out on the Mielke farm in the spring of 1961 with the aid of SCS technician Edward Amborn, at Alexandria. Mielke wasn't quite convinced he needed contour strips, but agreed to give them a try. He recently told Amborn, "You can plan to lay out the rest of my farm next spring."

An increase in available plant nutrients — not necessarily the moisture conserved — may be one of the major benefits of summer fallow, according to USDA's Agricultural Research Service. Roger Harris, extension soil conservation specialist at the University of Minnesota, says that if you use enough fertilizer you may substitute certain crops for summer fallow and still get good production of small grain the following year. See your county agent for details.

A diversion terrace installed on the Roy Blum farm in Big Stone County with the assistance of SCS technicians at Ortonville, had a real workout this year. Blum says, "In the past my farm was all covered with water in the spring. It sure looks funny now to see all that water across the fence and none on my farm."

Thieves & Twin Valley Win Playoff Openers

Rod Olson, Fertile, Hurls 1-Hit Game as Thieves Top Stephen

One-hit, one-run and fifteen-strikeout pitching by young Rod Olson featured the Thieves lopsided 24-1 win over Stephen in a Region 2B first-round tournament game at Twin Valley on Saturday night. As a result of their win, manager Joey Poole's locals moved into the winner's bracket in the regional tournament and will meet Twin Valley at Twin Valley at 8:15 p. m. on Thursday.

On Sunday night, at Twin Valley Kennedy of the Northwest Border league met the Twin Valley Twins of the Norman-Polk league in another first-round game, with the Twins being the winner by a 10-3 score. The loser of Saturday night's game, Stephen, will play Kennedy, the loser of Sunday night's game, at Kennedy today by mutual agreement and the loser of this game will be eliminated from the tournament.

Bob Hallameck, draft choice of the Twins from the Erskine Merchants, went the route against Kennedy with Jerry Olson of Fertile behind the plate. Frank Funderman took over the catching chores in the eighth inning. Linden Langen, lanky fireballer for Kennedy, started on the mound for the Border Leaguers but gave way to ageless "Scotty" Mathews in the late innings.

Thieves Game

Saturday night's game between Stephen and the Thieves was called after Stephen had had their bats in the seventh inning as the locals held a twenty-three run lead, and with Olson pitching effectively the result was foregone.

Only in the top half of the first inning, when Stephen collected their lone hit, a misjudged fly ball that carried over Paul Klungness' head in right field, and their lone run was the Northwest Border league team in contention. In the first, with one out, Paul Rasmussen drew a walk and advanced to second on a passed ball. Dick Hanson walked, and then Wayne Swanson looped a fly ball into right field for hit. The throw to the plate had Rasmussen "hung up" between home and third, but when catcher Dave Carlin's throw to third baseman John Aune was high and went into left field, Rasmussen came in with a run to give Stephen a short-lived 1-0 lead. It was the Thieves' only error.

The Thieves, in the last half of the first, scored four runs on two hits, a walk, two errors, and a fielder's choice. And after adding a single run in the second inning, the Thieves erupted for nine runs in the third inning, driving Stephen's starting pitcher, Richard Pawloski off the mound. The locals continued their assault on relief pitchers Wayne Swanson and Frank Rybaski.

Meanwhile Olson, the sixteen-year-old righthander who was the Thieves' draft choice from Fertile, was handcuffing the Stephen batsmen. In the second and fifth innings he retired the side on strikes, and during the game he collected fifteen strikeouts.

FINE CATCH of Walleyes was brought in by L. W. Perkins of Thief River Falls by still-fishing in the Warroad river Friday morning. Perkins made the trip with Ole Ness and the pair angled for about two hours. Shown above are four nice Walleyes, the largest weighing just over 4½ pounds, and a large perch, all of which Perkins caught while fishing with minnows.

It's Customary

The city softball league playoffs are having the troubles that have been cropping up every year for the past several seasons. How are the playoffs to be scheduled, etc. etc.

The original plan had been to hold a first-round elimination between the top four teams, and then have the two finalists play a best-of-three series. But this plan has been altered, and the latest information is that the playoffs will be on a double-elimination basis.

This means that this evening, Monday, the V. F. W. will meet the Bridgeman's, and the loser of this game will be out of the tournament. Last Thursday evening the Hartz, with a three-run rally in the top of the seventh inning, defeated the Bridgeman's, 10-8. The loss to the Bridgeman's dropped Dave Clough's team into the losers bracket with the Vets, who lost to the Hamm's on Wednesday night.

On Tuesday evening, according to the present schedule, and it may be changed at the last moment if the respective managers find that they cannot field a team, the Hamm's Beer team will play the Hartz Stores team. These two teams are unbeaten, and the winner of this game will be heavily favored to win the playoff title.

The Hamm's having been making rapid progress the past week or so, and with the addition of hard-hitting and fine-fielding Glenn Carlson at first base, the boys from the land of the sky-blue water are a threat.

Filling the Freezer

LeRoy and Dorothy Shetler returned last week from their annual August trip to Lac LaRonge for lake-trout fishing. And, as usual, they had success, for their freezer contains several twenty-pound-plus lake trout.

Roy reported that they were favored by three days of ideal fishing weather, but then the weather took a change and became rough and cold. Fortunately by that time they had secured their winter's supply of trout.

And now I image that Roy is overhauling his gear and preparing for his "safari" into the Ontario bush in October for moose. When he went on his first moose-hunting trip it was to be a once-in-a-lifetime event, but he hasn't missed a year since. It's on an annual basis now.

Miscellany

Dick Siebert, the Minnesota Gophers' baseball coach, who conducted the Wheaties baseball clinics in this area several weeks ago, apparently was greatly impressed by the potential of Frank Brosseau of Drayton, No. Dak. The Drayton star, who led the Drayton American Legion club to the North Dakota state championship last week, is a pitcher-infielder. He attended the clinic that Siebert held at Grand Forks Municipal Park, and after watching Brosseau take a couple of swings with the bat, Siebert was ready to put a "can't miss" label on the youth. He would be a welcome addition to the Minnesota baseball squad, and he may go to the Gopher school as another famed Drayton baseball player, catcher Mike Halcrow, is attending the 'U'. Mike was a hard-hitting catcher with the Drayton Legion team a couple of seasons ago, and he was, as a sophomore last year, the second-string receiver for the Gophers. . . The Minnesota Twins held a tryout camp last week, and included in the group of players that were tendered contracts was Mickey Holen of Twin Valley. Of the squad of players in attendance at the camp, only five, three of whom were pitchers, were offered contracts. Mickey, who plays at shortstop for the Twin-Valley Twins of the Norman-Polk league, and who takes a turn or two at pitching, will forego the professional brand of baseball until he completes his college education. Mickey will be a junior at Concordia college this fall . . . And North Dakota State University of Fargo will have Gary Klungness in its freshman class this fall. Gary, who has been an all-round performer for Prowler varsity teams for the past three years, graduated this spring, and there was considerable doubt as to where he would go to further his education. Gary was impressed by his contacts with the North Dakota State representatives. And particularly by the stress that the Bison intend to place on track and field, for Gary feels that his college athletics will be centered on track. Well, I know that all the Prowler fans will be wishing Gary all kinds of luck.

Viking Football Team in Charity Game August 25

The Minnesota Vikings make their first home appearance of the season Saturday night, August 25, at Parade Stadium in Minneapolis when they play the St. Louis Cardinals for the benefit of Catholic Charities.

Governor Elmer L. Andersen, in a rare tribute to an individual, has proclaimed the day "Father Tom Meagher Day" in honor of the Rev. Thomas F. Meagher, executive director of the sponsoring Catholic Welfare association, who is observing his 40th year as a priest.

The Viking-Cardinal clash is the 20th pro football game his agency has sponsored. The first one was in 1939 and matched the New York Giants and the Kenosha All-Stars.

Vehicles Damaged In Crash Near City on Saturday

Two vehicles were damaged and an eight-year-old boy received minor injuries in an accident which occurred about 11:15 p. m. Saturday on highway 32 about one and one-half miles north of Thief River Falls.

A pickup truck driven by Gail W. Rux, rt. 4, TRF, was traveling south on the highway when a station wagon driven by Harry Amiot of Grand Forks attempted to pass and struck the left rear end of the Rux pickup. Both vehicles went off the road into the west ditch but neither overturned, according to the Pennington county sheriff's department which investigated the mishap.

Knute Thorsgard, 8, passenger in the Rux pickup, was treated and released at Northwestern hospital after sustaining minor injuries. None of the other passengers in either vehicle—Mrs. Amiot, 13-year-old Allen Rux and nine-year-old Gary Rux—were injured in the crash.

Damage to the Amiot car was estimated at $450 and to the Rux pickup at $100. The case is under investigation by the sheriff's department.

RLF Girl Given UND Scholarship

Twenty-three incoming freshmen at the University of North Dakota have been awarded Alumni Special Scholarships in applied music for the 1962-63 academic year. The awards, which are to be applied toward private lessons, were first given last year, according to Dr. William R. Boehle, chairman of the UND music department. Winners include Virginia Rose of Red Lake Falls.

Europena Highlight . . .

Elmer Bensons Travel To Ancestral Homes

By Mrs. Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

Personal proof that a smile is the universal language was furnished to the Elmer Bensons of this city the past summer when they spent ten weeks touring nine European counties.

"Both crossings were smooth, with the main problem of the tourists being sunburn," they agreed. "And although we represented many countries, all of us were congenial."

The trip, which had been in the "dream stage" since 1947, because Mr. Benson's duties as manager of the local Penney store prevented his leaving before this, finally became reality. Definite planning began about Christmas-time. Focal point of the trip was Norway; it was the last stop, and as they described it, "the frosting on the cake." There they hoped to locate some of their kin-folk. Mrs. Benson's great-great-grandparents and Mr. Benson's ancestors had lived there before coming to America over 100 years ago. The Bensons were believed to be the first of the descendents to return to the old country.

The ancestors, on both sides of the family, had been born near Vik I Sogn, the King of the Fjords. They came over on the same ship (a sailing vessel which took 83 days for the crossing). The name of Mr. Benson's ancestors remains Bendick Hofferstad there, but it has been Americanized here, shortened to Bendickson, and finally to Benson.

They sailed on May 30, on the German liner Bremen, with about 1,700 other travelers, their destination Southampton, England, six days later. Five days were spent in England and Scotland, including tours of London.

It was off to France next, with Paris a "must" stop. "We found Paris old, and congested, and the buildings dirty. But renovation is being done. Sidewalk cafes? Yes, we enjoyed them, but there, as elsewhere, we concentrated on seeing the people of the country as they really are, at the grass-roots level. We felt that we found too many tourists in the big cities to get a true picture of the natives." They attended the Folles Bergere, however, and a fashion showing of Paris originals, which was of vast interest to Mrs. Benson.

Preferring to travel leisurely rather than under the restrictions of a conducted tour throughout, they rented cars in the various counties visited. Rental was thru the AAA. Thus they toured Belgium, Holland, Germany, Sweden, Denmark, and Norway, in addition to the countries previously mentioned.

Some of their impressions, in brief, follow.

"In Holland, the bicycle is the chief mode of travel. Outside the factories, we saw thousands of them, instead of the cars we see here. They were just as numerous on Sunday, outside the churches. . . .There are hot-rodders among the cyclists too, and on motor scooters. Makes driving pretty tricky. . .People there wore mostly wooden shoes for working, but on Sunday all were in western dress.

There, as elsewhere, we noticed that lawns were seldom mowed. Grass, so precious for hay, was left to grow tall, then cut with a scythe, and every spear of it salvaged. Even the princes, in some places, allowed their lawns to grow up for forage.

"Roads are generally good thruout the part of Europe that we visited. Those that are graveled are more compact than our graveled roads. We saw very few super-highways, although we did drive on the Autobahn, in Berlin." They added that on this superlative stretch of road, the motorist can drive at his own speed

"Nowhere did we see any resentment toward Americans. In fact, everyone treated us with the utmost courtesy and friendliness," they said. "Few spoke English, but they all responded to a smile and a wave. We did manage to find at least one English-speaking native somewhere about in the shops, cafes, hotels, etc. All major cities have information bureaus; the personnel there spoke English and were most helpful."

A Rotarian, Mr. Benson realized anew that this organization, the motto of whose more than 11,000 chapters around the world is "Service," is truly a ring of friendship encircling the globe. He attended four Rotary meetings while overseas; the last, in Bergen, Norway, led to a press interview and having their pictures appear in the large Bergen daily. This, in turn, led to their being "discovered" by a few distant relatives, and to their being invited to the wedding of one of them. "The wedding took place in the same church where my grandparents were married," Mrs. Benson said, "and they wore the same kind of native dress."

"The bride has her choice of being married in native costume or the white wedding dress traditional here. All the guests follow her choice, dressing in the fashions she chooses."

In Norway, they also saw the making of cheeses and the preservation of food — flatbrod, dried fish, etc. The food is stored in well-ventilated buildings which somewhat resemble Swiss chalets.

"But the way they milked the goats gave us the biggest charge. The animals were trained to stand over a bucket, the milker facing the 'afterdecks', leaning over the rear portion and reaching down on each side to draw the milk. The whole process takes about two minutes, after which the next nanny takes her place. A whole flock can be milked in a remarkably short time."

Norway, they said, was "spectacular," — trees and water wherever you looked. "Beautiful!" They had ideal traveling weather; it was the coolest summer experienced there in about ninety years.

The outstanding sight in all of their travels? "The midnight sun at Bodo, Norway," they answered without hesitation. Traveling in a shallow arc, they said, the crimson ball of fire skirted the horizon for some time, before beginning its slow ascent, never rising or setting for a period of several months, hanging low in the sky all that time. They saw it behind a sharp mountain peak on July 5.

On an excursion boat on one of the fjords, they met, quite by accident, a half-brother of Arnt Aune of Thief River Falls, as well as the president of the U. S. Penney stores, and one Hannis S. Smith, who visits our city annually in his capacity as the director of libraries with the Minnesota Department of Education. A trite conclusion, this, but we couldn't refrain from saying it: It is, indeed, a small world!

Leaving Norway and Scandinavia, the Bensons embarked for New York City on the 800-passenger liner, the Oslofjord, for the smooth trip home.

Enriched with unforgettable memories, hundreds of colored slides — they struck mostly wonderful picture-taking weather — and souvenirs of the places they visited, the Bensons said that they were ready to do the whole thing all over again!

TOURISTS with a purpose were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Benson of Thief River Falls when they spent 10 weeks recently visiting in Norway and eight other European countries. Norway was the homeland of Mrs. Benson's great-great-grandparents and Mr. Benson's great-parents who came to America on the same sailing vessel more than 100 years ago. In the above photo the Bensons are shown looking through a volume of family history, written by one of Mr. Benson's distant relatives, and containing information on families living at Vik I Sogn, "King of the Fjords."

Caution in Use of Dairy Feed Urged

Governor's Committee Advises Using Aged Feed

Minnesota diary plants were advised today to arrange for feeding of aged feed to herds producing milk for fluid consumption. This precautionary measure came as a recommendation from the recently appointed Governor's advisory committee to the dairy industry. The committee stated that this action will continue to assure the public that the Iodine 131 level in bottled milk will be kept well below the guideline established by the Federal Radiation Council. Herds producing milk for manufactured products are not affected because much of the activity is lost by the time such products reach the consumer.

The committee recommendation is for feeding of aged feed until further notice, indicating that future action will depend on atomic testing conducted this fall. Aged feed is feed that has been stored for at least 21 days.

Several dairies have already started this program, according to reports received by the committee. Producer cooperation has been excellent, according to officials who have been conducting producer meetings during the past two weeks.

The activity level in feed stored for a 21-day period is reduced to approximately 12.5 per cent of its original content. Activity in milk produced from this feed will be even lower by the time it reaches the consumer.

While current levels of Iodine 131 in milk are of no cause for concern, the effect of Russian testing cannot be predicted. It is possible that the levels could increase materially, depending upon weather patterns, intensity and volume of testing and other factors. Because of this uncertainty, the milk industry is taking precautionary measures to keep its product acceptable and wholesome for all segments of the population.

New Beet Siding Built at Warren

A crew of 117 Great Northern workers has completed laying about one mile of new side track north of Warren yesterday to service the new American Crystal Sugar Company beet piling station which will be in operation this fall.

The new station will permit stockpiling beets for a distance of about ½ mile. Special machines will be used to pile the beets and lift them into the railroad cars.

Diversion Plan for Feed Grains Reduces Surplus

Crop Shift Expected to Reduce Carryover by 12,000,000 Tons in '62-63

Farmers' participation in the feed grain "diversion" programs of the past two seasons is having definite results, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, said today

Following a steady increase during most of the preceding decade, the 1962-63 marketing season will mark the second year of declining supplies of feed grains, based on current estimates. The total feed grain supply now is estimated at 211 million tons, or about 7 per cent less than in 1961-62.

The chairman points out that the smaller supply in prospect, in the words of the Department of Agriculture's latest report on the feed situation, "is the result of smaller carryover stocks and a further reduction in the acreage of feed grains" — both objectives of the feed grain diversion programs. As authorized by special legislation, farmers received payments, both in 1961 and 1962, for shifting acreages from feed grain production into approved conservation uses.

The carryover of feed grains into 1962-63 now is expected to total about 73 million tons, 12 million less than a year earlier. Farmers planted about 5 million acres less feed grains this year than last, bringing total feed grain acreage down to the lowest level in more than 60 years.

With yields per acre for 1962 expected to about equal the 1961 record, a feed grain crop of 137 million tons is in prospect, 3 million tons less than in 1961 and a little below the 1956-60 average. The 1962 crop is expected again to fall short of total requirements, resulting in a further reduction in carryover stocks at the close of the 1962-63 marketing year.

Total disappearance of feed grains in 1961-62 is estimated at 153 million tons, 7 million tons over 1960-61 and a new record high. Domestic disappearance is slightly higher than last year, and exports have increased sharply to more than 16 million tons, 30 per cent larger than in 1960-61. Based on present feed production prospects, continuation of disappearance near this high rate would result in a stock reduction in 1962-63 at least equal to the 12 million tons expected for 1961-62.

1,850 Students Due at Bemidji College

Fall Term Scheduled to Open September 17

A total of 481 freshmen have been registered for the fall term at Bemidji State college through four pre-registration days held by the college during the past three months. Over 200 additional freshmen unable to report for pre-registration are expected to enroll during fall registration week to bring the 1962 freshman class to nearly 700 and the total student body to approximately 1850.

BSC dormitories will open at noon on Monday, September 10th. Students may pick up their room keys at the central lobby desk in Birch Hall and move into their rooms at any time thereafter.

New freshmen who have not registered or completed their ACT tests will begin their registration at Memorial Hall at 8 a. m. Tuesday, September 11th.

Pre-registered freshmen will report for opening convocation in Memorial Hall at 9 a. m. Wednesday, September 12.

The fall quarter registration schedule for upper classmen has sophomores enrolling on Thursday, September 13, with juniors and seniors reporting Friday, September 14.

Regular classwork begins September 17th. A new Minnesota College Board regulation, in effect for the first time this fall, requires state colleges to impose an additional $5.00 fee on students arriving one day late for registration. An additional $2.00 is then added for each additional day the student is late up to the deadline for all registrations on September 28th.

Keeping Calm

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara sees no reason why the United States should alter its carefully charted space plans becouse of the Soviet Union's spectacular double orbit. Writing from Washington, A.P. reporter Fred Hoffman stated that "it can be said authoritatively that McNamara does not feel there is reason to be concerned about the military implications of this latest Soviet experiment."

McNamara's position had the support of civilian space officials. James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told a news conference that the "current program is fast paced." Air force opinion favors a speed-up, which would mean more billions spent faster.

It is encouraging to know that we still have a few McNamaras in Washington, men who do not easily panic.

Plain Foolishness

Minnesota will lose one of its most capable and least appreciated congressmen when Fred Marshall retires at the end of his present term. We had occasion to visit with him a few years ago and were greatly impressed by his store of knowledge, his inquiring attitude and his recognition if the importance of his responsibility as a member of the nation's law-making body. We were not surprised therefore when, being asked recently for his views on tax-cutting, he came up with the following common sense answer:

> "I think it is plain foolishness to talk about cutting taxes when we have an unbalanced budget. I believe we should not only balance the budget, but we should start thinking about paying on the national debt before we start cutting taxes."

Sagging Prestige

Our government didn't get much support for its effort to restore free government in Peru by refusing to recognize the new military regime that had seized power. Last week we reversed our earlier position and the new dictatorship now has our blessing.

We lost face too in the settlement of the Dutch Guinea settlement reached under the direction of the United Nations. Following the agreement to turn over West New Guinea to Indonesia, Dutch Premier Jan de-Quay, in a television address to the Dutch people, said his government had yielded to the Indonesian demands mainly because of pressure from the United States.

Our country is backing the United Nations effort to force the province of Katanga into a central Congo government, a position that is not pleasing to Britain, France and Belgium. Without their support the United Nations effort would be doomed to failure, as it should be. The province of Katanga should have a right to decide for itself the kind of government that will serve its own best interests.

A newspaper headline reads, "Sagging Prestige Abroad Troublets U.S. Diplomats." That sagging prestige should be a matter of concern for all of us. Maybe it would be good for us and for the world if we started devoting a little more time to minding our own business.

A Great American

Herbert Hoover will not be recognized by historians as one of our greatest presidents but the future certainly will recognize him as a great American. Whether or not a leader becomes great depends a lot on how the ball bounces. The ball didn't bounce favorably for Herbert Hoover as the head of our government during a difficult period of adjustment.

A small town in Iowa is proud of the fact that it is Herbert Hoover's home town, and there was quite a celebration in the home town when the former president appeared recently for the dedicateion of the Hoover Presidential Library. The aged Hoover was present and spoke. Some of the things he said may have been a little corny, but we liked them nevertheless. We are beginning to understand the shortcomings of old age. We are glad to pass along the following quotes:

"This representative Government, with its 186 years of life, has lasted longer than any other republic in history.

"If you look about, you will see steeples of tens of thousands of places of worship. Each week a hundred million people come to reaffirm their faith.

"If you will look, you will find that the Bill of Rights is an enforced law of the land; that the dignity of man and equality of opportunity more nearly survive in this land than in any other on earth.

"If you look, you will also find that from our educational system there comes every year a host of stimulated minds. They bring new scientific discoveries, new inventions, and new ideas. It is true that they revolutionize our daily lives. But we can steadily adjust ourselves and our Government to them without the assistance of Karl Marx.

"I could go on and on reciting the mighty forces in American life which assure its progress and its durability.

"Perhaps on this occasion it would not be immodest or inappropriate for me to cite my own life as proof of what America brings to her children.

"As a boy of 10, I was taken from this village to the Far West 78 years ago. My only material assets were two dimes in my pocket, the suit of clothes I wore. I had some extra underpinings provided by loving aunts.

"But I carried from here something more precious.

"I had a certificate of the fourth and fifth grade of higher learning.

"I had a stern grounding of religious faith.

"I carried with me recollections of a joyous childhood, where the winter snows and the growing crops of Iowa were a special provision for kids.

"And I carried with me family disciplines of hard work. That included picking potato bugs at 10 cents a hundred. Incidentally, that money was used for the serious purpose of buying firecrackers to applaud the founding fathers on each Fourth of July.

" . . . May I say to the boys and girls of America that the doors of opportunity are still open to you. Today the durability of freedom is more secure in America than in any other place in the world."

A Difficult Situation

Under the Merchant Marine Act of 1920 all timber products shipped from one American port to another American port must be transported on U.S. vessels. This was done for the purpose of maintaining a strong merchant marine, considered to be essential to our national defense.

This protection for American shipping was thought to be necessary because American ships could not compete with the ships of foreign nations operated with lower cost labor.

Now the lumber industry of our west-coast states is having difficulty meeting Canadian competition. British Columbia lumber can de delivered to Atlantic ports $13 per 1,000 board feet cheaper on Norwegian ships and the Canadians are cutting in for a bigger slice of he American market.

So it goes. Too often when we set up artificial barriers to trade in an effort to solve one problem we create more problems by upsetting balances elsewhere.

This problem, involving our relaions with Canada, is particularly embarrassing. Canada has been a friendly neighbor but that friendship is not as secure as it was. There is much grumbling north of the border.

Canada has been our best customer. We sell more to Canadians that they sell to us. To raise a barrier against imports of Canadian lumber at this time would be contrary to the Common Market principles now being advocated by President Kennedy, and might iscrease dangerously the anti-American feeling that seems to be developing among our neighbors.

The situation is not good.

Another Piece of Pie

(Wall Street Journal)

"I am especially desirous," said President Kennedy last October, in a statement to Cabinet officers and all Federal agency heads, "that the number of Government employes be limited to the minimum consistent with getting the job done.

He added that there was no question Government employment could be kept below levels authorized by Congress, and he said he expected every official to carry on with "the minimum number of employees needed."

Well, about eight months have gone by since then, so let's see how things are working out.

Here's the latest personnel report issued by Senator Byrd chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures. And it contains some pretty interesting reading.

Item: In June, civilian employment in the Federal Government rose by 34,921. With the exception of March, 1960, when an army of census-takers was temporarily on the payroll, this was the largest monthly employment increase in 10 years.

Item: The fiscal year-end Federal job total for June was almost 2.5 million. That's 77,351 more employes than the Government had in June a year ago. And it is the highest year-end total in 10 years.

Item: During World War II, when Government civilian workers totaled more than 3.5 million, the Federal payroll hit a high of about $8 billion. In the years since, what with wages and salaries going up, the payroll has grown until, as of June 30, it is estimated at more than $14 billion. That's an all-time record.

Mr. Kennedy's prescription for the fatty Government payroll was a good one. But the patient is behaving like a lot of people we know. Always talking about reducing—and reaching for another piece of pie.

The Library Corner

With college just around the corner for me and countless other high school graduates, my thoughts are naturally lifted toward higher things like football and fraternities, and of course scholastic studies. Freshman English, a required course at nearly all colleges and universities, is perhaps the most eagerly anticipated and yet most feared of all the hundreds of courses available.

Getting off to a good start at college is of paramount importance, and I can think of no better starting point than Freshman English. In this course emphasis is generally place upon written composition, or the ability to express yourself in writing. My VFE friends (Veterans of Freshman English) suggested that I make two sound investments in order to make life easier in this course. The two investments: a thesaurus and a dictionary.

"The New American Roget's College Thesaurus" and "The New American Webster Handy College Dictionary" are easily the best books available. As Malcolm Cowley puts it: "It's an impressive lot of book for fifty cents. High-school graduates might even learn to spell."

The highest literary award in the world is the coveted Nobel Prize for Literature. The Nobel Prizes are awarded under the will of Alfred Bernhard Nobel, Swedish chemist and engineer, who died in 1896. The interest of the fund is divided annually among the persons who have made the most outstanding contributions in the field of physics, chemistry and physiology or medicine, and who have produced the most distinguished literary work of an idealist tendency, and who have contributed most toward world peace.

The prize for literature is awarded by the Academy in Stockholm, Sweden. The distribution of prizes was begun on Dec. 10, 1901, the anniversary of Nobel's death. The amount of each prize varies with the income from the fund, and since 1936 has stood at approximately 8,000 pounds sterling.

Five American authors have been awarded this great honor: Sinclair Lewis in 1930, Eugene O'Neill in 1936, Pearl S. Buck in 1938, William Faulkner in 1949, and Ernest Hemmingway in 1954.

"Scruffy" by Paul Gallico, the author of "Mrs. 'Arris Goes to Paris," is my choice as the book of the week and the funniest story of the year. "Scruffy" is the preposterous but logical story of how the British Empire was saved by Scruffy and the Apes of Gibraltar.

In the opening days of World War II, when Gibraltar's military importance became apparent and Britain's possession of The Rock was threatened by Hitler's far-reaching Luftwaffe, the destiny of the Empire came to be symbolized by Apes. Legend has it that when the last of the Barbary Apes dies or leaves Gibraltar, the British too will disappear from the island.

Not long after the opening of hostilities, Scruffy, the meanest and most misanthropic ape who ever lived, decided to rid himself of his companions. Scruffy finally reduced the ape population of the Rock to one, himself. To dismay and horror of the Prime Minister, and much to the elation of Gloomy Gustave, a German Tokyo Rose, it was indeed a time of crisis for the Empire. Slinker Clyde of Secret Service, OIC-Apes (Officer in Charge of Apes) Timothy Bates and his able assistant set out on a Top Secret mission to find a mate for Scruffy. But Scruffy scorns her, and the end result is one of the most delightful stories ever written.

This book has been recommended by the librarians to teenagers, but the adults are fighting tooth and nail for it too. This book is too funny to miss.

THE ANDERSEN LETTER

Why Redwood Falls?

Some people have asked me why it was that the "Freedom 40 Club" in Louisiana which has sent some Negroes to Minnesota happened to pick Redwood Falls. The reason is that there is a man named Parsons who is a lawyer with one of the Federal agencies which has been involved in voting discrimination matters in Louisiana. Some poeple down there have resented Mr. Parsons and his work and learned that his home town was Redwood Falls, Minnesota so they decided to retaliate in this way.

The issue is not one of some Negroes coming to Minnesota, but rather the deceit and fraud that has been involved. What the people in Louisiana did was approach these underprivileged innocent Negro people and told them that there were jobs up in Redwood Falls, Minnesota and that the people up there wanted them to come and had sent money for their transportation. Whereupon they ere given bus tickets to Redwood Falls and sent up here. No one in Redwood Falls had given any indication whatever of wanting is, of course, that opportunities are as limited for uneducated, untrained people in Minnesota as anywhere else.

However, once they came it is greatly to the credit of the good people of Redwood Falls that they decided to receive them properly and help them get located and oriented as best they could.

Once the poeple were here and realized how they had been duped, they took stock of their situation and considered what they could best do. The two girls and three children of one group felt they would prefer to go to Detroit where they have relatives. Our people checked with the relatives in Detroit, learned that they would be glad to have the young people come and have facilities to adequately provide for them. So that group moved to Detroit.

I believe that the people of the country will be so shocked by the unconscionable action of this small group in Louisiana that the Governor of Louisiana will see that it is stopped.

Highway Program Step-up.

It was good news to learn that $58 million was being made available to Minnesota from the national highway trust fund.

About $2½ million will be available for county roads, and I know how welcome this will be. The balance is specifically for interstate work on the 90-10 matching. The fact that Minnesota was in a position to match these federal funds was one reason why they came to Minnesota. Another reason is that the federal government has been about $78 million behind in payments to keep up with allotments that had been announced. This money will go a long way toward catching up.

The entire interstate program in the state will be accelerated as a result. Projects scheduled for later letting will be moved up for earlier letting and projects not yet scheduled will be scheduled. Action will depend, of course, how quickly plans and specifications can be ready for bids, where they are not now ready. There will be a moving up of all the programs and this will certainly accelerate progress and, also, provide jobs and employment in an encouraging way.

The fact of the matter is, the money was in the trust fund being held for other states which were behind states like Minnesota but had not yet been able to match the Federal funds available to them. Their continual failure to match plus the federal administration's desire to improve the general economy by this expenditure resulted in the decision to unfreeze the trust fund to the amount of $1.9 billion nationally and make it available to those states which were ready to go. The strong position of our planning program resulted in Minnesota getting a very substantially larger amount than Wisconsin and some other states of equal or greater size. We are pleased with the opportunity and you can be sure it will be used to the full.

of Rhyme & Reason

by MARY LUNDIN

POWER OF THE PRESS is a statement not to be taken lightly. It is apparent from numerous cases that the printed word carries a great deal of weight in the formation of opinion, expression of ideas and reaction by the public. This is why newspaper personnel must be especially careful in what they write and how they write it. It is constantly an explosive position where an ill-timed or unclear statement can ignite the fuse.

The saddest part about having such a situation occur is the possible resultant damage to innocent parties. Such a regrettable incident took place recently and what blame there is as a result must rest on the writer of these lines.

A story setting forth information provided by Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent, appeared following a recent meeting of the Rotary club. In essence the story said that the agricultural picture this year is not dark and that it is far brighter than many believe. At least that is the way a number of readers seem to have interpreted it. They immediately assumed, apparently from their own and neighboring situations, that Paul was talking about them directly as individuals and didn't know what he was talking about.

What the story was meant to explain, was that the small grain crop situation does not reflect the entire atmosphere of the county's agricultural world. In actuality, dairy, livestock and poultry industries in the county overshadow the cash value of grain. Based on statistics presented at the meeting, the conclusion was drawn by this reporter that, agriculturally speaking, things could be a lot worse. The story was written from that viewpoint.

Criticism of the story, if an optimistic and factual viewpoint is to be criticized, should be directed to this office. There should be no reflection on the county agent's knowledge of the situation and his ability to present it. The error should lie with comprehension—not presentation.

For the past year and one-half, since coming to Thief River Falls, it has been my privilege to work closely with Paul Stelmaschuk. It was largely through his efforts that this paper was selected as the outstanding one in Minnesota for agricultural news coverage by the Minnesota Newspaper association last year. I have found him to be a dedicated, diligent worker—devoted to agriculture and the rural people that he serves—with a keen knowledge of local progress and problems and a far-reaching outlook for Pennington county agriculture.

Any individual who has harbored the thought that the county agent is an office-sitter who makes his evaluations with guess-work and a dull pencil should take time for reflection. Paul knows Pennington county, its agricultural condition and its economic values. He has traveled it, studied it, discussed it and evaluated it. He knows what he is talking about when he speaks, and he speaks in general terms when he talks of Pennington county.

There are those who have cause to take issue with an optimistic outlook when they themselves or those with whom they are dealing are in trouble. They have no right, however, to attempt suppression of facts to suit their own purposes. Criticism and complaint are the public right, but there is little if any justification in this instance. There is a possibility of misunderstanding.

From a Rotary exchange paper comes this poetic version of

THE ANGLER'S PRAYER

Dear Lord, when Gabriel blows his blast
And I come home to rest at last,
Don't measure me for harps and wings
But let me have instead these things:
Some tackle and a rod and reel,
A pair of waders and a creel,
A gushing, frothy glacial stream,
A quiet lake by which to dream,
An angel pal with whom to angle,
Magic lines that will not tangle.
Permission, Lord, with fingers crossed,
To lie about the fish I lost.

Employment Picture Brightens in State

Minnesota's nonagricultural employment has climbed to within 3,000 of the million job mark. A report released this week by the state department of employment security showed that employment was at 997,400 in July, a gain of 5,700 workers from June and 22,400 above a year ago. Seasonal increases in the construction and canning industries provided the major impetus in July, according to Frank T. Starkey, commissioner.

All types of construction activity showed substantial growth over the month. Highway and heavy construction led the way with a gain of 2,100 workers as the summer highway building program got into full swing. Construction employment was up 4,700 or 7.4 per cent from a year ago.

Canning employment jumped by 5,000 workers as the annual "pea pack" was underway in July. Compared to a year ago employment in the canning industry was up 600 workers.

The only substantial employment losses in July occurred in the service and government industries resulting from the summer closing of private and public schools and colleges, Starkey said. These industries are above year-ago levels in line with their long-term growth trends.

Production workers in Minnesota's manufacturing industries earned an average of $103.38 in July. This was a gain of one-half dollar from the previous month as the gain of .4 of an hour in the workweek more than offset the one-cent drop in average hourly earnings. Compared to a year ago earnings are up $5.34 per week.

The workweek was 41.2 hours in July compared to 40.8 in June and 40.1 hours a year ago.

Unemployment in Minnesota dropped to 59,400 persons in July compared to 68,000 the previous month and 77,000 in July 1961. Unemployment was at its lowest level for the month since 1959 when there were 53,000 persons out of work in July.

The rate of unemployment shrunk to 3.8 per cent this month compared to 4.3 per cent in June and 5.0 per cent a year ago.

$6,713,000 in Gas Tax Paid in July

A small drop in gasoline and special fuel tax collections in July was reported last week by Rolland F. Hatfield, state tax commissioner.

Tax collections amounted to $6,713,361 compared with $6,777,268 collected in July 1961, a decrease of slightly less than one per cent.

Collections for the calendar year through July were up 1.25 per cent over the same period of 1961, $37,266,350 compared with $36,807,184.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

I read the article in the Times a couple issues back about the crop and income situation for the area resulting from the adverse weather conditions. At the time I wondered if this was a feeble attempt at humor, or was this a "fiction" paper. In the next issue I read Paul Stelmaschuk's column and was somewhat relieved by his attempt to correct and clarify the situation. This was followed by an editorial refuting his attempt at correction and stating as "factual" that the situation was not serious.

To quote from this editorial, "In other words our normal main sources of income have not been adversely affected seriously by this year's poor crop prospects". Nothing could be much further from the truth. There is widespread, and sharp criticism throughout the area on this presentation. I think justly so, but the criticism I hear is not directed toward Paul. It is rather directed toward what I consider a dogmatic distortion and misrepresentation of facts. I will not make a long case to verify that which should be obvious but there are a few facts that must be recognized.

First, I do not think anyone, at this time, can give more than an offhand guess as to what the actual farm income will actually be. There are too many factors yet involved, an early frost on the late seedings, the bushel yield and quality of the grain that is harvested and many others. We do know that an individual farm survey of some 800 farmers in this overall area indicated that by June 23rd only 24 per cent of the intended acres had been seeded, and that 38 per cent of the farmers had not seeded a single kernel. There has been an undetermined amount seeded since then but much of that has little chance of making even a poor crop.

Another survey by a large, and very serious organization indicated that the total plantings for the 90,000 acres their survey covered was only half the intended acres. This included the late planting and was again on an individual farm basis so was accurate. Add to this the amount that was drowned out after planting or stood in water long enough to be seriously hurt, then add the additional expenses incurred in this kind of season and you realize the crop situation is not only serious but disastrous.

Considerable mention was made of the other sources of farm income that might offset this crop loss. First, to mention the income from soil bank payments when discussing the adversity of the season has about the same logic as to say it didn't hurt the tourist trade either.

Secondly, true the livestock of the area does provide the main source of income to the farmers but this livestock doesn't get fat on rain water. In reality, this is only a more effective way of utilizing the marketing the feed grains produced on the farms. A farmer may sell the same amount of dairy products, beef, or hogs but if he has to buy the grain to feed them; his gross may be just as large but one doesn't have to be overly bright to know his net income will be greatly reduced, if not, eliminated.

Reference was also made to the good hay crop to offset the loss of grain. This too is ridiculous. The hay crop was large but a sizable amount of the first crop was lost and had to be burned, or could not be harvested so it lost much of its value. In spite of this, I feel sure there will be adequate hay but this in no way offsets the loss of crop. Hay is a two year crop and was not seeded and harvested in place of grain. There is no money made in the cash sale of hay unless there is a distinct shortage in some other area. This is not the case now.

After considering the article, and the following editorial, I can only wonder why. What is the purpose in making this kind of presentation? I can appreciate anyone trying to present the most favorable picture for a morale boost; I cannot believe this was the case here.

If it was because of a feeling of shame to admit the truth about our community, to me this shows the same lack of social maturity shown by the people who hide their family and relatives away when they have tuberculosis or some other disease; thereby depriving them of the help they must have if they are to recover from a condition they could not help and should not be blamed for.

Many people and organizations are trying to get the recognition and consideration that will enable us to obtain the credit and financial help that will bring us out of this economic malady. I can only feel the Times has done much to offset their efforts and confuse the picture.

In the past the Times has spoken loud and long about our "responsibilities", financial, social, community and many others. I wonder if the responsibility of a newspaper should not be to its own people, rather than to save face for someone else. The Times has also been able to tell us, all knowing and without mistake, what candidate to pick, how to vote, what farm program was right for us, and many other things. I wonder? I wonder if, when writing about farmers and their problems, it might not be sound to consider the position and opinion of these farmers. It might even be worthwhile to visit with some of them, and in view of this recent presentation, I would think it wise to listen to what they had to say about running a paper.

Referendum on Wool Promotion Set Sept. 10 to 21

Wool Growers to Vote on Question of Continuing the Present Deductions

Ballots for voting in the referendum on the lamb and wool promotion and market development program will be mailed between September 4 and 7, to producers in Marshall county, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced today.

The referendum will determine whether or not deductions will continue to be made from producer payments earned under the wool incentive program. Funds collected are used by the American Sheep Producers Council to carry out a program of advertising, promotion, and related activities under an agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture.

According to the Chairman, such an agreement has been in effect since the 1955 marketing year, as approved by producers voting in 1955 and 1959 referendums. If approved in the September referendum, the agreement will be extended for 4 more years.

Producers having two-thirds of the volume of production represented by votes in the referendum must approve if the agreement is to be extended. Consideration will also be given to the number of votes cast for and against the agreement by individual producers.

Deductions from wool and lamb payments under the new agreement would not exceed 1 cent per pound for shorn wool and 5 cents per hundredweight for unborn lambs. Deductions at these rates have been made from payments for each previous marketing year since 1955.

Producers may vote in the referendum during the period September 10 through September 21. The period of voting will last for 2 weeks in order to encourage participation in the referendum by as large a number of sheep producers as possible. Preliminary referendum results will be announced late in September.

Pruning Raspberries

The success of your next year's raspberry crop will depend largely on the care you give your plants during the rest of the season. The first step is to prune them now after harvest.

To do a good job of pruning, you should understand the growth habits of the raspberry. It is a perennial that lives for years without replanting. Only the roots are perennial. The canes above ground are biennial. They come up one year and produce vegetative growth and then produce fruit the second year on lateral branches of these canes. After fruiting once, the cane dies. On everbearing varieties fruit develops on the vegetative growth the first year as well as on laterals the second year. Then the canes die.

Pruning consists of cutting out all the canes that have borne fruit. If you grow your raspberries in narrow rows, thin out the new canes also to about three or four per foot of row. If they are grown in hills, thin out the canes to about six to nine per hill. In thinning always leave the sturdiest new canes.

Pruning can be done with a pair of hand pruners right at the ground line. If anthracnose — characterized by small white sunken spots — appears on the new or old canes, spray the plants with ferbam or ceptan.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center.

Q—What are the conditions on which a U. S. veteran may receive medical care at VA expense in the foreign country in which he is residing?

A—He must be a U. S. citizen, must be residing only temporarily in the foreign country, and must need medical care for a disease or disability that has been ruled service-connected by the Veterans Administration. The exception is for veterans of United States military service who live in the Philippines, where these conditions do not apply.

Q—I am a Korea veteran and have not yet changed my original "RS" insurance policy. What are the options?

A—You may (1) exchange it for a term policy that will cost you about one-third of what you are now paying but cannot be renewed as term insurance after you reach age 50. You can convert to a permanent plan before you reach 50 Or you may (2) convert your present policy to a permanent plan now. If you exercise either of these options before September 14, 1963, you will receive a special dividend.

Q—Can I take advantage at this date of the law that went into effect in 1960 that gave veterans, widows and orphans in increase in pensions?

A—Yes, you should get all the facts and then determine whether the new or old pension plan is the best for you.

Q—Where can a United States veteran residing temporarily in a foreign country go to apply for medical care at VA expense or for help on other VA benefits?

A—Assistance on all VA benefits to veterans and their beneficiaries in foreign countries is provided by Department of State personnel at American embassies and consular offices throughout the world. The only exception is in the Republic of the Philippines, where a VA regional office is located in Manila.

Q—I am the widow of a veteran who died of a service-connected condition. Our daughter would complete her college education if she could get some financial help from the Veterans Administration. She is, however, 20 and married. Is she eligible for any education aid?

A—The fact that she is married will not bar her and she is still within the age limitation of 18 to 23 years. Have her see or write the contact officer at the nearest VA installation.

Q—Did the Castro rebels seize a VA hospital in Cuba?

A—No. The VA has never operated a hospital in Cuba.

ASTRONAUTS MAY TAKE LESSONS FROM SNAILS

Tiny snails living in a New Mexico hot-water spring may teach astronauts how to withstand the extreme heat of outer space. Dr. Austin Phelps, University of Texas zoologist, gathered the snails—less than an eighth-inch in diameter —from thermal streams as hot as 144 degrees F. If the biochemical balance that provides the snails and their invertebrate neighbors with their resistance to high temperatures can be discovered, Dr. Phelps says, the information may help man sustain long space flights in comfort.

Jet aircraft load as much as 18,000 gallons of fuel for a flight to Europe from O'Hare International Airport, Chicago. The jets consume about 2,300 gallons an hour, compared to 93 gallons for a large piston-engined craft.

A 'buy Ghanian' drive has opened in the West African country which gained its independence from Britain in 1957. The government is attempting to discourage the commonly held opinion that imported goods are automatically superior to those made in Ghana, calling this a "colonial mentality".

A boost in citrus consumption reminiscent of the 1920's when canned juices were new is expected from a process that removes 90 per cent of the water from orange juice without affecting the flavor. Votator vacuum-drying experts say the juice of 40 average oranges can be concentrated down to a pound of crystals and later reconstituted to a gallon of delicious juice.

Lichens, one of the hardiest forms of plant life on earth, have been used since antiquity for their curative values. In the Middle Ages, a bite from a rabid dog was usually treated with a serving of lichen mixed in warm milk with black pepper. A handbook recently issued by the Smithsonian Institution reports that extracts of some lichens act as powerful antibiotics. A lichen salve is used in Finland to treat external burns and cuts. The big problem remaining, according to the report, is to produce a water-soluble lichen extract so that its antibiotic effect can be properly controlled.

Renters outnumber home owners in only three states: New York (2,898,445 rented to 2,350,265 owner-occupied dwellings); Alaska (29,571 to 27,679), and Hawaii (90,127 to 62,937). In the country as a whole, the Census Bureau reports, owners exceed renters by a wide margin — 32,796,720 to 20,227,155.

California last year became the state leader in purchases of new life insurance, for the first time passing New York. The Empire State still holds the lead for total ownership of life insurance with California in second place.

Purebred Ram Sale Set for Thief River Falls Sept. 10

Forty-six registered rams in four breeds will be offered for sale at the 14th Annual Registered Ram Show and Sale to be held Monday, September 10, in Thief River Falls. Sponsored by Northern Minnesota registered sheep breeders, the show and sale will be held at the livestock pavilion on the Pennington county fairgrounds.

Judging of rams consigned will take place in the morning with the sale to begin at 1 p. m. Only the top rams consigned to the sale, on the basis of the morning's judging, will be sold. Plans are to offer for sale 10 Columbias, eight Shropshires, 16 Hampshires and 2 Suffolks.

Following the trend in sheep production the sale is being held in early September. This will accommodate breeders who are planning for earlier lambing among their flocks to take advantage of the better prices in the spring and early summer months.

Since sheep have a five month gestation period, rams used in late September and early October will allow lambing in late February or early March. Sheepmen figure a hundred pound lamb in three and one-half months, meaning that lambs could be marketed in May to mid-summer.

Sale Gains Stature

With each succeeding year, the purebred ram sale has gained stature in the eyes of area sheep breeders. It has been instrumental in dispersing good breeding stock through northwestern Minnesota and raising the quality of flocks in the area through careful selection of animals consigned. Judges for this year's show will be Carl Spong, Central Livestock Cooperative, and Oscar Nelson, agricultural agent in Mahnomen county. Johnny Clow of Lancaster will be the auctioneer.

This year's sale is expected to be near the record average set in 1960 due to the favorable outlook in the sheep industry. The 1961 sale totaled $2,037.50 with the average being $66.70 per animal. All consignors of last year's breed champions are again consigning rams to the sale this year and comparable high quality animals are assured.

1961 Champions

Last year's champions in various breeds, purchaser and price of animal were as follows: Suffolk—Veril Harden of Hawley to Duane Lemon of Detroit Lakes, $145 (tops in sale); Hampshire—Melvin Sele and Sons of Lake Bronson to Vernon Abel of Stephen, $100; Shropshire—Lehart Stock

SERVING seven northwestern Minnesota counties as probation and parole agent for the Northwestern Probation and Parole Service will be Robert Korkki, who succeeded Milton Olson effective August 15. Olson has accepted a position as correctional supervisor for 13 counties in the Willmar area under the department of corrections. Korkki has two years of experience as a case worker for the Becker county welfare department and two years as probation agent for the Youth Conservation Commission, both with offices at Detroit Lakes.

51 Resolutions Passed by State Conservationists

Governor To Support Strong and Expanded Resources Program

Fifty-one resolutions, a number of them dealing with items of interest to residents of this area, were passed at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Conservation Federation held last weknd in Duluth. Governor Elmer L. Andersen spoke at the Saturday evening banquet at which Robert Farmes, area game manager stationed in Thief River Falls, was presented with the Federation's "Man in the Field" award.

Local members of the Northwest Association of Conservation Clubs who attended the meeting reported that Governor Andersen told the group he had been "misinformed" in regard to the controversial transfer of 33,000 acres of land in eastern Marshall county from the division of lands and minerals to the division of game and fish. The Governor also told the more than 150 persons attending the banquet that he would support legislation to place these lands permanently under supervision of the division of game and fish.

In his hour and one-half discussion, Governor Andersen made clear that he favors a very strong and expanded natural resources program. He summarized various divisions of the department of conservation and outlined point by point items which he hoped to see accomplished in coming years.

Local Resolutions

Among resolutions passed and pertaining to this area were those which contained the following ideas:

Federation take steps to draft a bill for presentation at the next session of the legislature to have the entire 33,000 acre area in eastern Marshall county be declared as wildlife management area and permanently administered and improved by the division of game and fish;

Local Scouts at State Fair Camp

Gene Kauppila, Curt Harris at Service Camp

Two local Boy Scouts, 16-year-old Curt Harris and 15-year-old Gene Kauppila, left Thief River Falls by train Wednesday evening to participate in the Minnesota state fair service camp conducted annually by the Indianhead Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

It will be their duty to assist with parking of cars and ushering in the various portions of the state fair grounds. Last year Boy Scouts helped to park more than 200,000 autos within the fairgrounds.

As members of the service camp the boys will be admitted to the fair free of charge, be provided with meals, tents and cots and receive passes for grandstand and auto racing programs. The service crew lives in its own campsite on the grounds for the entire fair period. Service time will be from August 24 through September 3.

Curt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Harris and a member of Scout troop 60 at Trinity Lutheran church. Gene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Kauppila and is a member of troop 59 at Zion Lutheran church.

Clayton Angell Buys Dick's Texaco Station

Clayton Angell has purchased the lease to Dick's Corner Texaco service on Main av. N. and Sixth street effective on August 15 and will operate the station as Clayton's Texaco Service. A former operator of the station, from August of 1948 to January of 1954, Angell has taught school the past eight years at Lancaster.

1912 Lincoln High Class Reunion Set Saturday, Aug. 25

A small group of members of the Lincoln high school class of 1912 will participate in a 50th anniversary reunion in The Fountain Cafe Saturday evening, August 25. Miss Martha Kleppe of Newfolden has taken the lead in arranging for the get-together, which is believed to be the first 50th anniversary observance of any Lincoln high school class.

Candystripers to Be Honored Aug. 28

Teen-agers Will Receive Recognition at Hospital

The Northwestern Hospital auxiliary will hold a recognition and appreciation party for all Candystripers next Tuesday afternoon, August 28 at two o'clock in the dining room of the hospital. About 70 teen agers have contributed part of their time this past summer to help out at the hospital.

Juniors or beginners have taken care of the gift shop, and have served as messengers, seniors or second year Candystripers have assisted in pediatrics, rehabilitation and in the preparation of the rooms for new patients. The girls have been under the supervision of Miss Black and Miss Baldwin, and feel that their summers training has been very much worth while.

All girls putting in 30 hours of service will receive a certificate and are entitled to wear a patch signifying they have had this experience when they continue with their Candystriper activities next season. Mrs. John Womack, president of the auxiliary, is in charge of the party.

City Council Reviews Street Work Tuesday

Set Hearing on Davis Avenue Improvement; Review Seal Coating

Review of the engineer's report on storm sewer, curb and gutter and street surfacing on Davis avenue from Third street to Eighth street and Fourth street from Davis avenue to Red Lake Boulevard was undertaken by the Thief River Falls city council in session Tuesday evening. A public hearing on the proposal was called for Thursday, September 13, at 8 p. m. in the city auditorium.

The project was initiated by the council since maintenance of the roadways in question has been an expensive procedure which has become increasingly worse. In periods of heavy rain and during spring breakup they are almost impassable, councilmen noted at the meeting. The engineer's report had been ordered at a previous meeting and projected cost estimates will be provided for the hearing.

Explain Seal Coating

Action was also taken by the council approving material contained in a letter from D H. Stewart, city engineer, to the J. W. Craig company, the firm which had the contract for seal coating a considerable area of the city's surfaced streets last year. The council had withheld payment on the work since it was done during a period of rainy weather and was not considered to be a satisfactory job.

The letter, written following a meeting of the council with a representative of the Craig company and the state highway department, noted that seal coating required to bring the damaged surfaces up to standard would be done by the Craig company and paid for at original contract unit prices. This work is now in progress.

State highway department officials told councilmen that this is standard procedure with the department. The state would prefer to risk a small percentage of failure in seal coating rather than pay a high premium when receiving bids on a guaranteed job. Since the state participated to a large extent in the local seal coating project, the original contract was let at state specifications and the 1961 work was not guaranteed. Work done at this time will be guaranteed at no premium in the contract price.

Approve Ordinances

Third and final reading of the ordinance combining the park and recreation boards was held and the ordinance adopted. Following discussion, the first reading of an ordinance to revise rates at the city scales was held. The revision calls for rates of 50 cents for pickups and trucks including dual

Elaine's CHATTER

Back-to-school for millions, and this brings us to one of the most controversial subjects facing our nation today . . . the real meaning of education.

Henry Ford said, "An educated man is not one whose memory is trained to carry a few dates in history, he is one who can accomplish things. There are two extremes to be avoided: one is the attitude of contempt toward education; the other is the tragic snobbery of assuming that marching through an education system is a sure cure for ignorance."

In order to be an educated person, we have to learn to think; thinking is hard work, which is perhaps why we have so few thinkers.

We "think" that we had better get on with the commercial, which is the main purpose of this column . . . although if we do dig up a chuckle for you now and then, it pleases us.

As you know at Elaine's we carry one of the largest stocks of sweaters and skirts in the Northwest. One of the greatest names in sweaters is GARLAND. We also have the famous GARLAND skirts and slacks which are dyed to match their sweaters.

We have over 25 colors to choose from, of course not in all styles. Along with our JANZEN and PENDLETON stocks there just "ain't" any color that is not available at Elaine's.

Coats, car coats, and more coats are in and good judgment tells us we cannot possibly describe all of them here, anyway it is more fun to see them and try them on . . . while your shopping at Elaine's, don't forget to look at the wool knits, colors galore!

Prepare Soil Now To Prevent Wind Erosion Problem

SCS Conservationist Warns of Danger from Dry Fall or Spring

Possibilities of wind erosion on Pennington county soils this fall or next spring and what to do as preventative measure were announced today by Robert Kloubec, work-unit conservationist for the Pennington county soil conservation district. Tht problem may or may not develop, Kloubec said, but it is best for farmers to prepare their soils to withstand such conditions if they arise.

A dry and windy fall or spring season could result in the loss of valuable topsoil and filling in of drainage ditches in certain areas of the county, the conservationist stated. Wind erosion is not as pronounced in Pennington as in counties to the west but could become a problem.

To prevent such erosion, farmers should leave their soils in as rough and trashy condition as possible this fall. A better alternative would be the seeding of barley or oats at three pecks per acre as a cover crop.

Cover crops should be seeded no later than September 15 and earlier if possible. Seeding of cover crops will qualify for ACP payment when prior approval is received from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, according to Patrick W. Culkins, office manager.

Farmers may underseed cover crops with grasses and alfalfa if the seedbed is well prepared and good moisture conditions exist. Grasses and alfalfa should be seeded by September 1. A good snow cover should help to preserve the new seedings but an open winter with little snow might result in winter killing of the new seeding.

For an excellent long-range wind erosion practice, Kloubec advises, one-row field shelterbelts should be given strong consideration.

Public Opinion

Dear Editor:

The following quotation from a State Civil Defense bulletin should be brought to the attention of every thinking citizen. Your publishing it will be sincerely appreciated.

Ken Gustafson, Director
Pennington County C. D.

"There is no indication of any cessation in the cold war. Communism is a military dictatorship. It is a fanatic tyranny. It is dedicated to the destruction of the free world. A shooting war is not inevitable, but it does not appear probable that these two systems can live side by side without one going down. Mr. Khrushchev refers to Lenin as the "father of peaceful co-existence". But here are the words of Lenin. "We are living merely in a system of state, and the existence of the Soviet Republic side by side with Imperialsistic States for a long time, is unthinkable. One or the other must triumph in the end."

"For too long the people of the United States have blown hot and cold, according to the fluctuating temperature of the cold war. If there is a flare-up over Berlin, or some other area of the world, there is a marked increase in interest in Civil Defense. When the hubbub subsides, Civil Defense fades into the background.

"Civil Defense must, like the military, cease to be influenced by day to day international incidents. We must recognize that Civil Defense must go along hand-in-hand with the military, sharing equal responsibility for the defense of the nation. We must continue to improve our Civil Defense organizations, plans and training at every level, on a day-to-day basis.

"Sound management at the local level is needed for preattack and postattack planning and action. Government has a clear and urgent need for local groups to accomplish a multitude of tasks under its direction, if we are to emerge successfully from a nuclear attack."

Editor Times:

In your editorial of last Thursday, you questioned the feasibility of the athletic programs in our schools today. You say "the importance of the building of healthy bodies cannot be overemphasized". With this I agree 100 per cent. However, you fail to point out that it is not the job of our athletic programs to build healthy bodies. This is the job of the physical educators. The interscholastic athletic programs are designed for those who display physical excellence, just as the choir and the band are for those who display musical excellence.

As for the cost of our athletic programs, of which football is a part, may I quote Tim Cohane, sports editor of Look Magazine. "Football teaches a boy to cope with the risks of physical danger and pain, risks often inseperable from the act of living itself. The game also demonstrates the value of work, sacrifice, courage and perserverance. These lessons are especially salutary in our modern society with its delinquency problems, lack of dicipline and physical softness."

Perhaps we had better take another look at our athletic programs. Chances are that we are not spending enough, for these are costly lessons.

Sincerely,
Bill Herzog

Candidates for Princess Kay Title to Perform Aug. 25

Showmanship Contest Set Saturday Morning; Coronation in Evening

Candidates in Minnesota's ninth annual Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest will get a chance to demonstrate their "cow sense"—with real cows—on opening day of the 1962 Minnesota State Fair.

For the second year, the 11 state dairy princess finalists will participate in a dairy cattle showmanship contest to which the public is invited.

The contest will be held between 9 a. m. and 10 a. m., Saturday, Aug. 25, in the State Fair's Hippodrome. Admission is free.

Last year's initial contest drew a crowd so large it was necessary to move the event from the show ring of the horsebarn to the larger facilities of the Hippodrome, according to Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the sponsoring Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee.

"We are arranging the contest again this year as a result of the very favorable reaction it received last year", Conlon said. 'We wish to stress again that the showmanship contest has no bearing whatever on the final selection of Princess Kay."

The showmanship event is the only one of the state contests to which the public is invited and affords the only opportunity of seeing the candidates together before the actual coronation ceremonies in front of the grandstand prior to the regular evening show on Saturday night.

Animals for the contest will include all six of Minnesota's dairy breeds—Holstein, Guernsey, Jersey, Ayrshire, Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn. Ramer Leighton, state fair cattle superintendent, will select the animals and assign them to the contestants.

Seven northwestern Minnesota counties are now being served by a new probation and parole agent as a result of a change effective August 15. Robert Korkki, a native of the Duluth area, has succeeded Milton Olson in that position for the Northwestern Probation and Parole Service which has offices in the Pennington county courthouse in this city.

Olson has accepted a position as correctional supervisor for the department of corrections in a 13-county area around Willmar. He held the position here for five years, assuming the present area when the office went on the county system in 1959.

Korkki is a 1948 graduate of Clover Valley high school, served four years in the U. S. Air Force and graduated from the Duluth branch of the University of Minnesota in 1958. He majored in sociology at Duluth and was employed for two years as a case worker for the Becker County Welfare department in Detroit Lakes. For the past two years he has served as probation agent for the Youth Conservation Commission in Becker and Mahnomen counties.

His duties here will be supervision and counseling of youth referred by juvenile and district courts in Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Roseau, Kittson, Lake of the Woods and Clearwater counties. Korkki, his wife JoAnne and two-year-old daughter Phyllis will move into the Olson house at 702 St. Paul av. S. when the Olsons leave for Willmar on September 1.

Local Folks Send Youths To Camp

Milton Olson Thanks Residents for Funds

Thanks to the generosity of a number of local individuals and organizations, at least 10 boys and girls were able to take advantage of camping experiences this summer, reports Milton S. Olson, probation and parole officer of the Northwest Probation and Parole Service in Thief River Falls.

The young people attended Lake Trails camp on Oak Island in the northernmost part of U. S. waters on Lake of the Woods. Camp experience is directed toward the philosophy that each individual is needed to make the camp program function. The location gives young campers the experience of the wilderness and allows them to explore nature through their own initiative and under the guidance of the staff.

Camp philosophy contributes greatly to the development of personality and individual character as children of all races and creeds are united in one spirit. Without the generosity of local groups and individuals, the experience for the youngsters would not have been possible.

Those contributing were W. G. Maves, William LaFave, David Morgan, Veterans of Foreign Wars American Legion and 40 et 8 of Thief River Falls, American Legion and Catholic Order of Foresters in Red Lake Falls. A total of $350 was donated.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

RESOLUTION

At a Special meeting of the City Council held July 3rd, 1962, Alderman Releson seconded by Alderman Christianson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

A Resolution Authorizing and Directing the Issuance and Sale of Electric Plant Revenue Bonds to Provide Money for Improvements to the Electric Plant and System

WHEREAS, it is necessary to provide money for improvements to the electric plant and system, and

WHEREAS, by resolution adopted November 27, 1951, as amended by resolutions adopted December 17, 1951, June 28, 1955, and June 18, 1957, the City Council reserved the right to issue electric revenue bonds in addition to the electric revenue bonds therein authorized and on a parity as to lien therewith, provided that the net revenues of the electric plant and system as defined in said resolutions for the period of twenty-four months next preceding the issuance of such additional bonds shall have been at least one and one-half times the average amount of annual principal and interest due on the bonds outstanding under such resolutions and such additional bonds for the remainder of the terms of said outstanding bonds, and

WHEREAS, the city has outstanding none of the Electric Plant Revenue Bonds dated January 1, 1952, $85,000 Electric Plant Revenue Bonds, Series B, dated July 1, 1955, and $150,000 Electric Plant Revenue Bonds, Series C, dated July 1, 1957, and the revenues during the past twenty-four completed months, and the estimated revenues during the twenty-four month period ending June 30, 1962 have been more than sufficient so that the city is permitted to issue and will be permitted to sell on the date hereinafter set forth $75,000 Electric Plant Revenue Bonds, Series D, payable from the net revenues of said plant and system in accordance with the provisions of said resolution.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, as follows:

1. It is hereby determined that it is necessary to provide money for improvements to the electric plant and system of the city by the issuance of $75,000 Electric Plant Revenue Bonds, Series D, said bonds to be dated July 1, 1962, to be 75 in number and numbered 1 to 75, both inclusive, in the denomination of $1000 each, bearing interest at the rate or rates hereafter determined at the sale thereof, payable January 1, 1963 and semiannually thereafter on January 1 and July 1 in each year, and maturing serially on July 1 in the amount of $5000 in each of the years 1963 to 1967, both inclusive, and in the amount of $10,000 in each of the years 1968 to 1972, both inclusive, all without option of prior payment.

2. The bonds and the interest coupons to be thereto attached shall be in substantially the form as set forth in the resolution adopted November 27, 1951, as amended, with the necessary changes as to dates, interest rates, etc., to conform to this resolution and the resolution providing for the sale thereof, shall be payable at any suitable bank as therein provided and shall be prepared and executed and shall be payable from the Electric Fund, all as provided by said resolution adopted November 27, 1951, as amended and subject to all of the provisions and covenants of said resolutions which are hereby readopted and made a part hereof as though separately set forth and resolved herein.

3. Section 5 of the resolution adopted December 17, 1951, as amended by resolutions adopted June 28, 1955 and June 18, 1957 is further amended in order that the special reserve account set forth therein shall inure to the benefit of bonds issued hereunder in addition to the bonds dated January 1, 1952, July 1, 1955 and July 1, 1957, and said section as so amended shall read as follows:

"5. There is hereby created a 'Special Reserve Account' for the payment of principal of and interest on the Electric Plant Revenue Bonds dated January 1, 1952, July 1, 1955, July 1, 1957 and July 1, 1962. The City Treasurer shall transfer to the Special Reserve Account from the net revenues in the Income Account the sum of $500 per month until there shall be credited to the Special Reserve Account the sum of $50,000. The amount in the Special Reserve Account shall be used solely to pay principal and interest on the Electric Plant Revenue Bonds in event such principal and interest shall become due when there is an insufficient amount credited to the Interest and Sinking Account for the payment thereof, and whenever any amount in the Special Reserve Account is used for such purpose such amount shall be restored out of the next net revenues available for such purpose."

4. The bonds to be issued hereunder shall be sold at public sale on Tuesday, July 17, 1962 at 8:00 o'clock P.M. CDST, and the City Clerk shall cause notice of such sale to be published in the official newspaper of the city and in Commercial West, a financial paper published in Minneapolis, Minnesota, which notice shall include the following provisions: the City will furnish executed bonds and approving legal opinion of Messrs. Faegre & Benson, of Minneapolis, Minnesota without expense to the purchaser, accompanied by a certificate as to the absence of litigation. At the option of the purchaser the legal opinion will be reproduced on the printed bonds. The bonds will be delivered at the office designated by the purchaser in Minneapolis or St. Paul, Minnesota, at the expense of the city, or elsewhere at the purchaser's expense, within forty days from the date of sale. The bonds will be made payable at any suitable bank designated by the successful bidder within forty-eight hours after the award of the sale of bonds. Split rate bids may be submitted stating the same rate or rates of interest from date of issue to date of maturity for all bonds having a common maturity date and not more than three such rates for the issue and maturities of the bonds split not more than three ways for the purpose of designating such rates. Any such bid may also provide that all or some of the bonds shall bear a higher rate of interest for any part of the term of the bonds, but extra coupons required by any such bid may not exceed $1125 in the aggregate and all rates or combinations of rates must be in integral multiples of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per cent per annum and no rate or combination of rates may exceed six per cent in the aggregate. The bid offering the lowest net interest cost (total interest from date of issue to stated maturities less any premium offered) will be considered the most favorable. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check, cashier's check or bank draft, payable to the order of the city, in the amount of at least $1500, to be forfeited as liquidated damages in event the bid is accepted and the bidder fails to comply therewith.

5. Each and all of the terms and provisions of this resolution and of the resolutions adopted November 27, 1951, December 17, 1951, June 28, 1955 and June 18, 1957, shall be and constitute covenants on the part of the city to and with each and every holder from time to time of the bonds authorized by this resolution.

40 in Football Squad out for Lincoln Team

Ten of the eleven lettermen available for this season's Prowler football team reported to head coach Joe Mrkonich and his assistants Bill Herzog, Gene Sack, and Al Shaff on Monday for the opening session of the locals two-a-day practice drills. Lettermen who were in the squad of forty candidates were John Aune, Paul Klungness, Bob Benson, Steve Mittelstadt, Jim Ranum, Tom Morben, Art Koglin, Dwight Myhrer, Ron Olson, and Rick Jensen. Brian Lofberg, center on last season's Prowler eleven, is working, but he is expected to report to the squad next week.

The Prowlers will begin play on a nine-game schedule on Monday, Sept. 3rd, when coach Dean Erickson will bring his Warren high school Ponies here for a night game. The Prowlers will play their Northwest conference rivals —East Grand Forks, Roseau, Bemidji, and Crookston — And in addition will meet Dilworth, Red Lake Falls, Detroit Lakes, Warren, and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Announce Details of Deer Hunting Season

Deer hunters today learned the details of the 1962 deer seasons from James W. Kimball, Conservation Department game and fish director.

Hunters will again have a variety of hunting opportunities this year, being able to pick from seven zones providing one, two, three, five, and nine days of hunting. Some zones are open to all legal firearms, while others are open to shotguns with single slugs.

There will be two closed areas in the west central and southern part of the state.

The seasons in all zones will begin on Saturday, November 10. Shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset.

The boundaries on some zones have changed this year in order to provide for a satisfactory harvest in keeping with current habitat conditions, deer populations and hunter accessibility.

Hunters are urged to check their local newspaper about mid-September for an official 1962 deer hunting map.

Archery hunters may take deer statewide from September 29 thru October 31, and also in all zones established for the November firearms season. Shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset.

Last fall 106,763 deer were taken by 250,031 resident firearms hunters for a success ratio of 42.7 per cent. In addition 490 deer were taken by 13,370 archers. The 1961 deer harvest was the highest in the history of the state, with a record number of firearms hunters and archers taking to the woods.

As in past years, the largest number of deer came from the northeast zone where a nine day season was held.

Deer enjoyed a relatively good winter. This makes the sixth consecutive year that deer have come through the winter in good shape in Minnesota. Reports indicate that the deer population this year remains at a high level and in a healthy condition. Although deer did yard up in parts of the range late in the winter, it was for only a short period of time.

Information on the December deer bow and arrow season will not be announced until after the close of the November season, Kimball said.

You'll find a market place for your real estate in the classified ad columns of the TRF Times.

Conservationists End Duluth Parley

Minneapolis Man Elected Federation President

An occasional moose season and higher fees for state hunting licenses were advocated Sunday by the Minnesota Conservation Federation.

The group wound up its three-day convention in Duluth by electing Keith Brodin of Minneapolis president.

One resolution asked that the state conservation commissioner declare a limit permit season on moose "when and where it is determined that a season is in accord with good game management."

The federation suggested the legislature boost license fees, from $3 to $4 on small game and from $3.50 to $5 on big game, as well as doubling the $1 winter darkhouse permit.

Another resolution requested establishment of a 33,000-acre wildlife management area in eastern Marshall County.

Sunday Last Day At Tindolph Pool

Tindolph Park swimming pool will be closed to public swimming following the completion of the season on Sunday, according to Roger Dorn, beach director. Closing is on schedule and is due to returning of youngsters to school on August 29. There will be no lifeguards on duty after Sunday.

CADET HAROLD FROEHLE FINISHES ROTC COURSE

Cadet Harold A. Froehle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Froehle, Thief River Falls, recently completed six weeks of training at the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) summer camp at Fort Riley, Kan. Cadet Froehle is active in the ROTC program at St. John's University, Collegeville. He was graduated from Lincoln high school in 1959.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Medalist

Qualifying rounds for the annual golf club tournament are being posted daily at the club house (all qualifying scores must be posted by 6:00 p. m. Saturday), and it appears that Larry (Shorty) Perkins will win medalist honors.

Shorty, the Plummer school teacher, has been playing quite a bit of tournament golf this summer, having participated in the Pine-to-Palm tourney, where he was in the championship flight, and in the North Dakota state amateur meet in Minot. Last week, in his qualifying rounds here, the Bomber posted scores of 31-36 for a sub-par 67. It will take some doing to better Shorty's score, especially since the better golfers have already posted their scores.

The second low score was brought in by Stan Larson, a former club champion, who carded a 37-35 for a 72. Stan, who is a tournament veteran, has been playing excellent golf this season, and he will undoubtedly be one of the favorites.

Youthful Ron Kvikstad, club champion a couple of years ago, posted a 42-37 for a 79, and this total will bring the smooth-swinging Lincoln high school student into the championship flight.

And it's a certainty that a new champion will be named this year as last year's winner, Reid Stromberg, is not eligible for this year's tournament. Reid does not belong to the club this season.

And the club champion, who will match play tournament, will join a group of illustrious golfers as Thief River Golf Club champion. Among some of the top-flight golfers who have carried the club championship are Hans Chommie, Vic Jung, Jimmy Nordline, Tom Jorde, Stan Larson, Ron Kvikstad, and Reid Stromberg.

And for his many young fans, I'll report that Gene Sack posted scores of 45-47. Gene is apparently trophy-hunting, and hopes to join the flight with Bob Gaarder and others.

Note to the Junior High Gridders

Seventh and eighth grade boys planning on playing junior high school football, should obtain their physical examination blanks at the high school principal's office, or from the Prowler football manager during varsity practice. Junior high players will not be permitted to draw football equipment until they have had their physical examinations.

Al Adams, coach of the junior high squad, announces that football practice will begin on Thursday, August 30th.

Apologies to Louie

In commenting on the Hamm's Beer victory over the V. F. W. in a first-round city softball league playoff game last week, I stated that the winning run was driven across the plate on a single by Dale Wennberg. Not so. The "hero" of the win was Arvid (Louie) Wedul, and it was his crisp single that produced the game-winning tally.

Louie looks like Dale Wennberg, and he runs like Dale, and he swings like Dale, but he hits like Louie

For the Blue Chips

The Thieves will meet the Twin Valley Twins at 8:15 P. M. tonight, Thursday, on the Twin Valley diamond, in a Region 2B tournament game.

The two teams, the Thieves and the Twins, are unbeaten in tournament play, having scored decisive wins in the first-round games. The Thieves trounced an out-classed Stephen team, 24-1, and Twin Valley, behind the pitching of righthander Bobby Hallameck, defeated Kennedy, 10-3.

The winner of tonight's game will be heavily favored to win the Region 2B title. The loser tonight will be forced into an elimination game on Saturday night against Kennedy, and then the winner of this tilt will have to score a pair of successive wins on Sunday night and Monday night in order to gain a berth in the state tournament at Springfield. Tonight's game could well be the championship game.

It is probable that manager Joey Poole will give the starting assignment to lefty Freddy Jensen. The southpaw has had a week's rest, and it could be Fred's become stale with all this idle time. He surely was a workhorse for the Thieves during the Norman-Polk league playoffs.

Softball Title May Be Decided Friday Night

The V. F. W. team joined the Hartz Stores team in the finals of the city softball league playoffs by edging out the Hamm's Beer club, 11-10, at the Fair Grounds diamond Wednesday night. The Hartz squad boasts two wins and no losses record in the double-elimination series, while Vets have a two wins and one loss record. The Hartz and the Vets will play what could be the championship tilt on the Fair Grounds diamond on Friday night, with game time at 9:30 p. m. A win for the Hartz would close out the series, while a victory for the Vets would force another game.

In playoff action this week, on Monday evening on the East Side diamond, the Vets eliminated the Bridgeman's, scoring a 5-1 win. The Vets were forced to field a makeshift lineup, having such youngsters as Roddy Carlson and Billy Poole in the lineup. And the fielding gem of the game was turned in by young Carlson, with the lanky youngster (he's Bob Carlson's son and he was instrumental in beating his dad's team) making a spectacular gloved-hand catch of a line drive. The Vets tallied all of their runs in the first inning.

On Tuesday evening, the Hamm's Beer were the victims of a late-inning rally by the Hartz Stores, losing 6-5 in eight innings. Holding a 5-2 lead entering the seventh inning, the Hamm's gave up three runs, with a costly error contributing a pair of runs, to send the game into an extra-inning, and in the eighth Hartz shoved across a rally to win.

On Wednesday night, manager Duane Glass' Hamm's squad rolled up a 9-3 lead after three innings of play, with Bill Herzog poling out a "grand slam" home run to spark the attack on lefty Gary (Doc) Carlson. Wally Grovum came on in relief for the Vets in the fourth and except for a line-drive home run to the right-field corner by Glenn Carlson in the seventh, he pitched shutout ball and received credit for the win.

The Vets, against a tired Frank Harger (he had pitched against the Hartz team on Tuesday night), rallied for four runs in the fifth and three runs in the sixth to take a 10-9 lead. Carlson's homer in the top of the seventh knotted the game at 10-all. In the last half of the seventh, Buzz Ward led off with a double, and Doc Carlson's ground single past shortstop sent Ward home with the game-winning tally.

'U' Researchers Study Milk's Iodine Content

A herd of Holstein cows, the University of Minnesota's Department of Dairy Husbandry and two federal agencies this week joined in a research project to measure the iodine-131 content of feeds and milk.

Last Sunday (August 12) a group of cows from the University's Rosemount Agricultural Station herd were moved inside a large pole building where they'll remain until the close of this year's pasture season.

The cows receive only aged feed—farm grain, soybean meal and silage from 1961 crops, and hay aged at least 8 weeks.

Twice each week samples of their feed, water, milk and urine are flown to the U. S. Public Healthy Laboratory at Cincinnati, Ohio, for analysis of iodine-131 content. Also in the shipments are samples of milk from herdmate cows on pasture, cows on dry feed but not housed, and cows patured at night and fed dry feed during the day.

Samples of forage crops the pastured cows graze and the water they drink are also tested, as are samples of all rainfall collected at the Station. Samples of urine are tested because a cow passes off, through her urine, about 60 per cent of the iodine she excretes.

Federal agencies cooperating are the U. S. Public Health Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agriculture Research Service.

C. L. Cole, dairy husbandry head, says the research program is the first in this region to systematically gather and compare information on iodine-131 content of milk from cows fed aged feed and protected from fallout, and milk from cows exposed to fallout in the air and on their feed.

Cole says his department also is undertaking other research which may help determine if methods other than feeding aged feeds are effective in controlling iodine-131 levels in fluid milk supplies.

Iodine-131 has been in the spotlight recently because of public concern over its appearance in the milk supply. A short-lived element, it has a half-life (the time it takes to lose half its radioactivity) of only about 8 days.

Expense of Litter Pickup Declines

Highway Department Has Spent $112,982 In 6 Months

Removal of roadside litter from Minnesota's trunk highways during the first six months of this year has cost the taxpayers $112,982, the highway department announced today. This is a welcome reduction under the $139,256 spent for this purpose during the same period last year and is $68,063 less than spent during the peak year of litter removal, 1958.

The Department would like to think that local, state and national anti-litter publicity programs have has much to do with the reduction in road-side littering. However, looking at the problem from another viewpoint, it was pointed out that the decreased travel on the state's highways during the winter caused by unfavorable driving conditions probably resulted in fewer pieces of trash being thrown out of vehicles. Another contributing factor is the "open bottle" law, which makes it unlawful to have an open beverage bottle or can in the car.

The largest quantities of litter were removed in the Twin City metropolitan area, with almost half of the entire state's trash picked up on highways in this area.

Litter pickup costs during the second half of the year are always substantially less than in the first half, but it is anticipated that the entire year's litter costs will exceed $200,000 which leads the Department and its employees to say "Every litter bit hurts".

State Freeways to Cost $726,000,000

898-mile System to Cost Nearly $1,000,000 a Mile

The construction of the 898 miles of Interstate highways in Minnesota will cost an estimated $726 million dollars, according to a report today by the Minnesota highway department. This does not include right-of-way costs which will boost the over-all cost to more than $900 million

The 722 miles in the rural portions of the Interstate system will average $500,000 per mile, for a total cost of $388,000,000, while the 126 urban miles of Interstate highways will average $2,700,000 per mile, for a total cost of $342,200,000.

The report points out that some sections of the rural mileage can be constructed for a relatively low $300,000 per mile while some of the more complex urban sections will cost as much as $11,000,000 per mile. In this latter category will be the work to be undertaken in Minneapolis to bring Interstate Route 94 through the Lowry hill "bottleneck".

Drivers Reminded of School Buses

Opening of Schools for Fall Term Now at Hand

With the opening of school near at hand, youngsters will be back on the streets and highways going to and from school. The driving public is cautioned to be on the alert so that the school bus accident rate in Minnesota is maintained at its present low level. So cautioned L. E. Merrill, secretary of the Minnesota School Bus Operators association of Faribault.

Driving a school bus is a rewarding experience that carries with it a grave responsibility. Not only must he be an excellent driver, but he must also act as sort of a "Mother Hen" to his precious cargo and be a first class peacemaker as well.

Aware of the hazards of school bus operation the lawmakers of Minnesota have made it unlawful to pass a school bus while loading or unloading.

Obey the law. Exercise great car when you approach a school bus. Be especially careful when the lights are flashing. We have no children to spare so drive with care, advises Mr. Merrill.

Big Impetus Seen for Interstate Highways

Release of $55,862,000 last week in federal-aid funds by the U. S. Department of Commerce means that work can be accelerated on two fronts of the Minnesota highway picture, according to the state highway department.

Included in the funds "frozen" since 1959 are $2,800,000 in federal-aid secondary funds which were allocated for county highway construction. These will be made available immediately for improvements to county federal-aid secondary highways. Matched with local funds, this will mean an additional $5,600,000 in improvements to these important rural roads.

The balance of $53,062,000 is immediately available for right of way acquisition and construction on Minnesota's 898 miles of Interstate highways. Inasmuch as the department has obligated all ABC federal-aid funds immediately upon being made available, there are no such funds included in the released monies. The department is now awaiting the new apportionment of ABC federal-aid funds which will be forthcoming when pending legislation in Congress is passed.

Because the department had set aside the required ten per cent in state matching funds, work on the Interstate highways can go forward immediately for which the "unfrozen" $53,000,000 can be expended.

Minnesota ranks third, as of June 30, behind only Maine and Colorado, in utilizing 1963 fiscal year federal-aid funds, according to a report by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. This is official assurance that the Department is a leader nationally in utilizing federal aid road funds as soon as they become available.

State TB Assn. to Give Test to Food Handlers at Fair

To safeguard Minnesota state fairgoers from the dangers of tuberculosis infection, the Christmas Seal organization will give chest x-rays to all food handlers employed at the Fair. X-rays to check for the disease will be given Aug. 23 and 24, two days before the fair opens, on units to be stationed on the grounds by the Christmas Seal organization and the Minnesota State Welfare department. The project is sponsored by the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association and its affiliated units in Ramsey and Hennepin counties.

If any food handler is infected with tuberculosis, the x-ray film will show whether the TB germs in the body are doing any damage to the lungs, and whether the disease is active and communicable.

Jobs to Be Let on Highways 92, 222

A letting consisting of eleven maintenance projects in six of the state's 16 areas has been announced by the Minnesota highway department. Bids will be opened at the department's central offices in St. Paul on September 14. The projects include work on Highways 92 and 222. Construction of 12 miles of gravel shoulders on TH 92 between junction with TH 59 in Brooks and the east line of Red Lake county, and on TH 222 between junction with TH 92 and First avenue in Oklee, Red Lake County.

Road Job Let in Red Lake County

A federal-aid secondary road improvement job was let August 1 to Oscar Schenkey, Middle River, in the amount of $68,412 for grading and gravel surfacing of 8.1 miles on CSAH 1 between TH 59 at Plummer, and CSAH 5 in Red Lake county. Schenkey's successful bid was the lowest of four. The work is to be completed within 70 working days

Good Record

Governor Anderson reports that Minnesota's traffic safety record for the first six months of the year ranks third in the nation. Only two states reduced highway fatalities more than Minnesota's 39. Iowa reduced the number of deaths by 52 and Michigan by 62.

Minnesota's traffic toll declined by 13 per cent while the nation's increased 7 per cent. That is a gratifying record and much credit for the good record must be given to the state highway patrol for its more rigid enforcement of safety rules and regulations.

Cycles Inevitable ?

Is it necessary to have economic cycles —periods of boom followed by periods of bust? In a well managed economy they could be avoided, the smart fellows tell us. Maybe they are right.

But will we ever have a well managed economy? Probably not. Certainly not for any long period of time. None of us likes the depressions but the peaks are popular. But in order to avoid the depressions the peaks must be levelled off. The peaks are associated with prosperity and any politician who would propose brakes for prosperity would not be a politician long.

So the ups and the downs probably will be with us forever. If we recognize them as inevitable then we will also recognize the wisdom of preparing for hard times when times are good.

Teaching Reading

Winnipeg schools are going to experiment with the old fashioned "phonics" method of teaching reading this year. The experiment was scheduled for three elementary schools but the number of experimenting schools has been increased to twelve "by request".

Commenting on this development the Winnipeg Tribune says:-

"These decisions will doubtless be a cause of deep satisfaction to those individuals who have labored to reverse a trend which developed more than twenty years ago.

"It is to be hoped that teacher training establishments are keeping a sharp eye on the Winnipeg 'experiment.' The young persons who are now entering the teaching profession are all graduates of schools where reading has been taught by the ancient Chinese system of picture and word association. If the Winnipeg experiment shows that this established method can be improved upon the teacher training colleges will have a big job of re-education on their hands and should be ready to meet the challenge of a revived interest in teaching reading by phonic keys."

We Are Skeptical

The Russians have no failures in their experiments in space. That is, they admit no failures. Everything works out according to plan. We, on the contrary, have had many failures. We have made progress but progress has come by the trial and error method.

It is reasonable to assume that the Russians too have had many failures that they have not told us about. They never announce in advance what they propose to do. Their reports are limited to claims of what they have done. Under the circumstances it is reasonable to assume that they do not reveal the whole truth. And what is not the whole truth is partially untrue.

There is justification for skepticism, and among the well-informed there are skeptics. In his syndicated column, David Lawrence writes:

"Clyde Farnsworth, in a dispatch from Vienna to the Chicago Tribune on August 14, says that the purported TV micro-frequencies whereby the faces of the two astronauts were shown actually passed through Moscow for pictorial conversion and rebroadcast in Western Europe via Eurovision. He adds:

"The 'in flight' pictures which Americans saw were videotaped or filmed in London from that broadcast and then physically flown to the United States as tape or film.

"If the astronauts actually had TV cameras in orbit, it should have been fairly simple to furnish the frequencies and schedules on which pickups would be possible and let European and American television networks make the most of them. They probably would have—It was not like them (the Soviets) to miss a good bet if they could help it."

"So, there was no opportunity for direct communication by any foreign station with the Russian astronauts. All communication was limited to Soviet tracking stations.

"The mystery is why, in the face of America's frank disclosures when Messrs. Glenn and Carpenter took off and returned from their globe-girdling journeys, the Soviets have continued to refuse to let anybody in the foreign press see the start or finish of these flights."

There can be no doubt about some of Russia's achievements in space. In this field they took the world by surprise by the orbiting of the first Sputnik. Their proven record of achievement is remarkable. But the most remarkable performances claimed by the Russians, which could easily be proved, have not been proved. And some of the performances that have been most remarkable could have been faked.

The Russians, admittedly, are concentrating all of their efforts on their plans for world conquest. They are fighting that war now, a cold war in which they resort to all of the tricks of warfare short of shooting. Propaganda is one of their most effective weapons and they are winning battles by deceit, threats, treachery and promises they do not intend to keep. Their word is not good.

In this war, whenever we do something extraordinary, they do something extraordinary. We startled the world by placing in orbit a communication satellite that did remarkable things. For the Russians that performance was unendurable. They had to come up with something more remarkable quick. And they did. But there is the possibility that their performance was a fake performance. It could very easily have been a hoax.

We think that until the Russians are willing to prove the things they claim to have accomplished, men of science should remain skeptical.

Tax Cuts

President Kennedy, in his talk on taxation, recognized in general terms some of the shortcomings of our tax structure. He said: "It is a drag on economic recovery and economic growth, biting heavily into the purchasing power of every taxpayer and every consumer." The rates "are so high as to weaken the very essence of the progress of a free society—the incentive for additional return for additional effort."

We think he was right in rejecting the appeals for immediate tax cuts. Instead he will ask the next Congress for an across-the-board top-to-bottom cut in both corporate and personal income taxes, along with tax reforms. A substantial cut in income tax revenue would require increased revenue from some other tax or a substantial reduction in spending. We already are at the danger point in deficit spending.

Unless we start curtailing our spending voluntarily, the curtailment will be forced upon us by our creditors. The drastic action taken recently by the Canadian government should serve as a guide as to what might be ahead for us. The credit of our federal government is not now strong, and the confidence of our creditors is not being strengthened by the manner in which we are conducting our affairs.

Incidentally, international confidence in the Canadian dollar has been greatly strengthened by the program of austerity adopted by the Diefenbaker administration, and foreign capital is again being attracted by Canadian investment opportunities.

A Neglected Resource

By the stupidity of one political group in our state we are telling the mining industry that we do not want more low-grade iron ore processing plants. Fortunately a future generation can take advantage of the opportunities we reject. The low-grade ore will still be here for processing.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press reminds us of another opportunity we are passing up in which time is a more important factor. Unlike iron ore, it tells us, "timber resources can be continously renewed" but, we agree, we are not doing all that should be done in a sound program of forest renewal. It states:

"Minnesota has a number of successful pulp and paper companies and they are the mainstay of the state's timber industry. They have large investments in plants and equipment. Consequently they are stable, long-term operations whose future depends on maintaining a steady supply of trees over the years. This guarantees their interest in sustained yield management, not only on their own lands but also on property owned by private tree farmers who supply much of the total consumption.

"In Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan the pulp and paper companies consistently practice better forestry than smaller tree farmers. They deserve every legitimate consideration from state and local governments. One reason the greatest expansion of pulp mills in recent years has been in the South is that they have not been sufficiently encouraged in the Great Lakes region."

This is a correct analysis of the facts. We have not developed our forest resources nor have we encouraged our forest products processing industries as we should have. While we are deriving a substantial return from our forests, in terms of the potential our record has been shameful. We have done a few things right. And we have learned by our mistakes. Now would be a good time to launch a real development program.

Interesting Opinions

"Mankind are very odd creatures: One half censure what they practice, the other half practice what they censure. The rest always say and do as they ought."

—Benjamin Franklin.

Indian Guide Service Provided at Red Lake Indian Reservation

Eleven Indian youths this summer are pridefully showing off the Red Lake reservation's modern schools, hospital and churches to northern Minnesota tourists, some of whom expected to find primitive settlements of teepees and bows and arrows.

The teen-aged Chippewas were recruited as official guides to escort visitors, free of charge, thru the reservation, pointing out historical sites and explaining Indian customs.

The need to strighten out some folks in their mistaken concept of the Indians' manner of living is one of the surprise developments.

The guide service, the first ever attempted, scored such a hit with tourists that John Ainley, publisher of the Bemidji Pioneer, said the program "ought to be expanded."

"Gov. Elmer L. Andersen and others who launched this endeavor certainly deserved the thanks of everyone," Ainley said.

"We are real proud of our boys," said Roger Jordain, secretary of the Chippewa Tribal Council.

On at least one day, Ainley said, all of the uniformed guides were pressed into service to meet the demands of parties wanting to tour the reservation.

The tours caught on with resort operators and they steered their guests to the Paul Bunyan and Babe the Blue Ox statues, on Lake Bemidji, pushing off point for expeditions to Red Lake.

An Indian guide piles in beside the driver and the party heads out of the city along Highway 2, switching to Highway 89 six miles west of Bemidji.

During the 35-mile ride to Red Lake, the guide gets acquainted with his new-found friends by filling them in on statistics, such as, the reservation is populated by 3,500 persons representing 600 families who reside principally in three villages sprouting in a vast 640,000-acre wilderness of trees and water. The reservation boundaries excompass 230,000 acres.

Red Lake, the guide continues, is divided into upper and lower sections, and together they form the largest body of water in Minnesota.

The reservation is governed by the Tribal Council of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians, the guide explains.

First stop is the village of Red Lake, the reservation's administrative headquarters. Here the tribal council has its office, along with the U. S. Forest Service and the Department of Indian Affairs. Several schools serve youngsters of the neighborhood.

A six-mile drive on a surfaced road skirting the south shore of Lower Red Lake brings the visitors to Redby, the reservation's industrial center. At the fishery, 650,000 pounds of walleyed pike taken from reservation lakes are packed and shipped annually to market. Fishing is carefully regulated by the U. S. Department of Interior which permits nets to be set only when orders are to be filled.

An old sawmill, one of the first in the state, is being dismantled to make way for a modern $250,000 layout, financed entirely with tribal funds.

Another 35-mile drive around the east end of the lower lake takes the tourist party to Ponemah and the site of additional schools. The last lap, a five-mile stint, ends at a picnic grounds overlooking the narrows connecting the upper and lower lakes.

"If the visitors find us interesting, we also are interested in them," remarked 16-year-old Roger Head, one of the guides engaged in the know-us-better effort, to Jim McMahon, Bemidji Pioneer reporter, who went along on one of the tours.

Serving as guides, in addition to Roger Head, are Collins and James Oakgrove, cousins, Curtis Roy, Leo Downwind, Robert Cook, James Loud, Lawrence Van Wert, Harold Cobenais, Matt Sayers and James Strong.

The guides started late in June and will wind up their activities Labor Day. Before beginning the new program, the boys visited the capitol in St. Paul and Governor Andersen presented each with a shoulder patch.

Community Plans Placed in Charge of New Director

N. L. Howenstein to Aid State Cities in Securing Federal Planning Grants

The state department of business development has a new director of community planning. Commissioner Tom Swain today announced the appointment of Norman L. Howenstein, formerly a planning supervisor with the Pennsylvania department of commerce.

He succeeds Guy J. Keinhofer, Jr., who resigned in July to become a planning consultant with the government of Venezuela in Caracas.

In Pennsylvania Howenstein was supervisor of the state's "701" planning program, which refers to Section 701 of the Federal Housing Act of 1954. The act authorizes payment of federal funds to state planning agencies for technical assistance in planning projects for communities of less than 50,000 population.

Howenstein's principal duties as director of the business development department's division of community planning will involve supervision of the Minnesota "701" program.

Swain said Howenstein assumes his new duties at a significant stage in the development of Minnesota's 701 program. This statewide community planning program he said, already has benefitted many communities and promises substantial dividends for the state in the years ahead. Collectively, he said, community planning programs point the way to a healthier Minnesota, both economically and socially.

The community planning division is relatively new in Minnesota's state government. Its formal organization took place in 1960. Since then 47 Minnesota planning districts including the Iron Range area, have taken advantage of 701 benefits, involving a total investment of $227,000 in federal and local funds.

The federal grant money is available on a matching basis. A community or group of communities provide one-third of the cost of a planning project. Services of community employees to assist in the planning study may be used to represent that cost or as a supplement to the one-third requirement.

HOLLYWOOD MOVIE and TV star Robert Young joined Minnesota's current Salk Institute building campaign during the national VFW convention in Minneapolis when he accepted the Salk vaccine syringe used to inoculate some 12,000 youngsters in the Minnesota Salk clinics in 1955. Mrs. Merton Tice of Mitchell, South Dakota, newly installed national president of the 375,000 member VFW Auxiliary, is shown inspecting the syringe with Wayne Field, Minneapolis, right, co-chairman of the Hennepin county Salk campaign. Young said the syringe represented Minnesota's outstanding work in behalf of the March of Dimes cause and would be placed in the cornerstone of the new Salk Institute at San Diego when he helps dedicate the building in 1963.

3 steps to teaching your child thrift

First, set an example. Show the youngster how you get the things you want by saving for them.

Then, come in and see us at the bank, together. We'll show your son or daughter how other boys and girls save for bicycles and trips to camp.

And finally, open a savings account. Encourage the little saver to deposit allowance and gift money. When that first savings goal is reached, thrift has been learned.

We're here to help you get what you want

THE RELIGION OF THE GREEN LIGHT

Go and sin no more . . . go and teach . . . go up higher! Again and again Christ gave the simple command: "GO."

And this positive emphasis on dedicated action best expresses the spirit of His teaching.

Christianity continues to inspire earnest, believing, determined souls eager to translate their faith into constructive and unselfish effort.

In every congregation energetic Christians find opportunities without number for service to Christ and their fellow man.

So GO to Church.

And keep on GOING.

Explore these exciting realms of spiritual adventure to which Christ wants you to GO.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wheat Referendum Is Scheduled August 30

List Polling Places In Pennington and Eastern Marshall Co.

Polling places for the wheat referendum to be held Thursday, August 30, have been announced by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee offices in Pennington and Marshall counties. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Growers eligible to vote in the referendum will be those who produce more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1963 in any of the 39 commercial wheat states in the nation. Producers who signed applications under the feed wheat provisions permitting them to grow up to 30 acres of wheat for use as feed on the farm for 1962 will not be eligible to vote in the referendum on quotas for the 1963 crop.

All growers in the two counties have received their allotment notices or will receive them in advance of the referendum date. At least two thirds of the growers voting in the referendum August 30 must approve marketing quotas if they are to become effective.

What Happens If. .

If quotas are approved, the minimum price support on wheat would be at a national level of $1.82 per bushel, 75 per cent of parity. Marketing quota penalties would apply to excess wheat of growers with more than 15 acres of wheat who did not comply with acreage allotments.

If farmers disapprove of marketing quotas, there would be no restrictions on wheat marketing in 1963. Acreage allotments would remain in effect and be used to determine eligibility for price support at the 50 per cent of parity rate required by law. Under this rate the national average price support would be about $1.21 per bushel.

Polling Places

Penning county polling places and townships served by each will be as follows:

Highlanding Hall — Highlanding, Cloverleaf, Hickory, Deer Park, Mayfield, Kratka, Reiner, Goodridge and Star townships;

St. Hilaire Council Rooms — Black River, Bray, Sanders, River Falls, Polk Center and Wyandotte townships;

Courthouse, TR Falls — North, Rocksbury, Norden, Numedal, Silverton and Smiley townships.

Eastern Marshall county polling places will be as follows:

Steiner Hall — Agdar, East Valley, Excel, Grand Plain and Holt townships;

Eckvoll Town Hall — Eckvoll, Espelie, Moylan, Valley and Veldt;

Middle River Sportsmen Club—Como, Cedar, Huntly, Linsell, Rollis, Moose River, Spruce Valley, Thief Lake and Whiteford;

Lincoln Town Hall, Strandquist—East Park, Lincoln and Nelson Park;

Newfolden Fire Hall — Marsh Grove, Newfolden, New Maine, Viking, West Valley and New Solum; and Radium Hall — Comstock.

Reports indicated that the 1962 wheat stabilization program was effective in reducing production. The crop for 1962 may be one of the smallest in recent years. August estimate was 1,063 million bushels of which more than 76 per cent was winter wheat. The current estimate is 14 per cent below last year's crop. Total supply indicated for 1962-63 will still be the fourth largest of record, being exceeded only in the last three previous years.

Overseeding of a farm wheat allotment in 1963 will result in loss of wheat production history for the farm, county and state, ASCS officials advise. Acreage allotments will continue in effect whether wheat marketing quotas are approved in the referendum or rejected by the voters.

The grower who harvest grain from more acreage than his allotment provides receives historical credit only for his allotted acreage. He incurs a loss of history in this regard, since the man who stays within his acreage allotment receives credit for both is allotted acreage and his diverted acreage. Diverted acreage, in this program, is the difference between the individual's historical base acreage and his actual allotment.

Governor Asks "Lights On" Drive During Holiday

Campaign Directed To Curb Traffic Mishaps for Labor Day Weekend

Gov. Elmer L. Andersen is again calling on Minnesota drivers to turn on their lights for safety during the Labor Day weekend. The campaign starts at the close of business August 31, when thousands of motorists will start holiday trips. It will extend through September 3.

Governor Andersen said the lights-on crusade is a major tool in Minnesota's accident-prevention program and is an effective reminder to every driver to protect himself and save lives.

He said he is "very grateful" to the news media for cooperating in this vital effort, which has been widely publicized throughout the country as an effective warning system.

The highway department's safety division said that 75 per cent of the cars on the road during daylight hours July 4 were traveling with their lights on. Lights should be kept on low beam, the department advised.

Minnesota ranked third in the nation in the reduction of traffic fatalities during the first six months of the year. The state decreased its traffic toll 13 per cent while the toll for the country as a whole increased 7 per cent.

No Restrictions On Sugar Beet Acreage in '63

Langen Notes Action by USDA Will Be Given To Red River Valley

Good news for the Red River Valley and other sugar beet growers in Minnesota has been provided in the Department of Agriculture decision to permit unrestricted sugar beet acreage in 1963, according to Odin Langen, Ninth District Congressman. Cooperation from the department will provide the opportunity for some expansion in the valley, Langen said.

Under provisions of the Sugar Act, the congressman explained, sugar beet proportionate shares are required only when the Secretary of Agriculture determines that the production of sugar from any crop will be greater than the quantity needed to enable the beet sugar area to meet the quota and provide a normal carryover inventory for the area.

Langen said the agriculture department advised him that probable year-end supplies of beet sugar and estimates of the 1962 and 1963 crops indicate that there will be no over-production. The decision not to restrict sugar beet acreage in 1963 was made at this time to assist producers and processors in planning their operations for the next crop year.

Muzzy Cow High In Production As 2-Year Old

New official production records by registered Holstein cows in this area were highlighted today in a special report from The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Northwest Valerie Homestead 4653384, a four-year-old registered Holstein cow owned by University of Minnesota, Crookston, has completed an official 305-day record of 13,900 lbs. of milk and 510 lbs. of butterfat.

According to the national Holstein organization, the new production figures compare to an annual output of 7,211 lbs. of milk and 270 lbs. of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow. The University of Minnesota supervised the weighing and testing of the Holstein records as part of the breed's nation-wide herd testing programs.

Neighbors Stage Barn Raising Bee On Albaugh Farm

Week of Work Builds Structure To Replace One Lost to Lightning

Old-fashioned good neighbor spirit was displayed at the Lynn Albaugh farm southwest of Newfolden last week as a large number of friends and neighbors turned out for a barn raising bee. Work was begun when the rafters arrived about 10 a. m. Monday, and was virtually completed last week. The original barn burned as a result of lightning on August 5.

Albaugh originally lived in the Angus community and purchased his present farm in 1950. The new barn is 32x48 and 18 feet high from floor to peak with a loft making it a two-level structure. Albaugh plans to have more than 20 head of livestock this winter.

Further testimony to the good neighbor attitude displayed by the community was the donation of 100 acres of hay stumpage east of the Albaugh farm. When lightning struck the original barn about 7:45 p. m. August 5, the winter's supply of hay which had been stored in the structure was also lost.

Construction work on the barn was done under the supervision of Harvey Heggen of Rosewood who served as chief carpenter on the project. Others working on the barn raising were Bennie Rood, Louis Bonnette and Daniel Halsa of Angus, Percy Hagen, Robert Leigh, Duane Laidley, James Rooker, Albin an. Hans Langlie, Clarence Larson, Raymond Saurdiff, Allen Leigh, Adolph Heggen, Boyd Wilson, Lynn Albaugh and his son Richard. Work was nearly all volunteer labor with Wilson being the instigator of the project.

It has been reported that another similar project will be undertaken on the Marvin Koop farm southest of the city where a large barn was destroyed as a result of lightning on August 14.

Ronald Schultz Injured in Fall From Elevator

Ronald Schultz, 19, 1115 LaBree av. N., is reported in good condition at Northwestern hospital following injuries received Friday afternoon in a fall while working on the Farmers Co-Op Grain and Seed association elevator in this city. It was reported that he fell about 14 feet while working on construction of the elevator's new cleaning plant.

Attending physician's report indicated that the major injury resulting was a stab wound inflicted by a splinter of board about 4½ inches long and ¾ inch wide, tapering to a point, which was driven into his side by the impact of the fall. The splinter penetrated four inches into muscle and tissue but missed the lungs and vital organs.

No bones were broken in the fall which happened about 3:30 Friday afternoon.

Local Women Touched By Conincidence

Two rather unusual coincidences came to light this week with the disclosure that Mrs. Clarence Gross, who came to this city as a French bride of an American G I, recently learned that one of her countrymen also lived here. When she contacted the Frenchwoman, a Mrs. Eddie Pederson, who lives with her husband and two sons at Northwestern Trailer Court, she was surprised to learn that Mrs. Pederson had lived in the same town in France, Metz, where Mrs. Gross once lived. Moreover, their conversation revealed that Mrs. Pedersen was a friend of the sister of the girl who was Mrs. Gross' closest friend throughout most of her school years.

Another incident which falls into the catagory of the unusual occured when Mrs. Kenneth Lindberg and daughter Nancy, as guests of NW Airlines, in whose Seattle office their daughter and sister, Janice, is employed, returned from a trip to the west coast on Saturday. After visiting with Janice and at many points of interest, among them Mt. Rainier; Westport, on the Pacific; Snoqualmie Ski Lodge and the World's fair at Seattle, all in Washington, they booked a flight for the trip home. To their amazement, the stewardess on the flight was the girl from across the alley back home in Thief River Falls, a friend of long standing, Miss Judy Gessner, who lived here until several years ago and graduated from the local high school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gessner.

The Library Corner

by Tom Lynskey

Last week I was in the Twin Cities' area for several days and I toured the new Minneapolis Public Library for the first time. Beautiful is the single best word that I could use to describe the library. A mammoth sculptured Hebraic scroll commands the main entrance with strength and dignity. A low marble reflecting pool lends a peaceful note to the imposing architecture of the library.

When you enter the library proper you are immediately filled with a feeling of spaciousness and ease. The rooms are immense and the ceilings are high, but a friendly warmth seems to pervade the gigantic vaults. There are several comfortable and well-lighted reading rooms and row after row of open stacks filled with general readings for the browsing public. Most of the books, of course, are on closed stacks and must be called for.

I was very impressed by the friendliness of the librarians. I was interested in viewing some geological survey maps of the Thief River Falls' area, but I was not too sure that the librarians would be very happy or willing to do this for me, considering that I was not a Minneapolis resident. But to my surpirse I was given personal access to all the maps available and was told that if I wanted more all I had to do was holler—I mean whisper, of course.

Susan Mills has provided the Carnegie Public library with an interesting display of Scandinavian handiwork. A handmade gnome-doll with a large head covered with stringy straw hair, is the most captivating article on display. The little gnome is playing a long flute with his brown twig hands. A large steel medallion with a leather neck band reminded me of the Vikings when I noticed the inscribed boat and figures on it. Perhaps this medallion is a replica of something that Leif Erickson might have worn many centuries ago. A Norwegian piggy bank complete with coins and paper money hardly failed to miss my scrutinizing glance. I am glad that I took time to view the display, and I am equally certain that you will be too, when you see it.

While down in Minneapolis, I naturally took time to see some movies. "A Taste of Honey" starring Rita Tushingham, was the best movie that I have seen this year, and I think that it is one of the best movies that I will ever see. Based on the 1960 hit play, the movie is about a sensitive teenager who is confronted with the immensity of adult life.

When I returned home I immediately went to the library to find the stage play version. "The Best Plays of 1960-1961" is my choice as the book of the week. The book is edited by Louis Kronenberger and is illustrated with drawings by Hirschfeld.

The book includes the following plays: "The Hostage" by Brendan Behan, "A Taste of Honey" by Shelagh Delaney, "Becket" by Jean Anouilh, "Period of Adjustment" by Tennessee Williams, "All the Way Home" by Tad Mosel, "Rhinoceros" by Eugene Ionesco, "Mary, Mary" by Jean Kerr, "The Devil's Advocate" by Dore Schary, "Big Fish, Little Fish" by Hugh Wheeler, and "A Far Country" by Henry Denker.

HEART TRANSPLANT IS DOCTORS' DREAM

Heart transplantation, a dream long cherished by medical science, is the subject of research by two Cornell University professors, Dr. S. Frank Redo and Dr. Frank Glenn of the university's Medical College have shown that it is possible to restore to full function the heart of a guinea pig that has been dead as long as 15 minutes. They hope this work will be a guideline as to the time within which a heart must be taken from the body of a deceased person and used as a replacement for the damaged heart of a patient. A big hurdle that must be overcome before this operation is possible, the doctors report, is the tendency of the human body to reject tissue other than its own.

ENTERTAINERS at Oakland Park Nursing Home on Friday were Miss Connie Ekeren, 1962 Miss Aquacade, and Miss Susan Kvikstad, runner-up in the Aquacade queen pageant. Connie and Susan entertained about a third of the home's residents at an afternoon program in the Oakland Park chapel. Connie told of her experiences as an exchange student in Greece and showed colored slides of her visit there. Susan, shown standing at the left above, played her Aquacade piano talent number, "Prelude" by Rachmaninoff.

Prescription Is No Good Unless Taken as Ordered

If the doctor could see what his patients do with his prescriptions, he's tear out what's left of his hair. A check at an out-patient clinic showed that people were doing just about everything except what the doctor ordered.

Get the prescription filled — the doctor didn't make out that prescription just to give his pen some exercise. You need that medicine.

Take the medicine — the bottle sitting on the bathroom shelf isn't going to do you any good.

Don't add to the prescription—some people get attached to a non-prescribed drug and continue to take it along with what the doctor ordered. Don't do it. The doctor wants to find out how well his medicine is working for you. He can't check results properly if you're taking something he didn't prescribe for you.

Take the right amount — it isn't true that if one pill will do you good, two will do you twice as much good. Medicine doesn't work that way. And over-dosage can be dangerous.

Take the medicine when you're told to take it — three pills once a day is not the same as one pill three times a day. Again overdosage can harm you. And the interval between doses is an important part of your treatment. The doctor may want the medicine to keep working in you all day.

Throw away old medicine — you may have some medicine left over from previous treatment of the same ailment or perhaps another ailment altogether. Throw old medicine away. If you take it along with your present medicine, you'll be getting too much. That can be dangerous.

There's no magic about paying the doctor a visit, and getting prescription from him. That alone won't cure you. You must cooperate with the doctor and do exactly as he tells you.

Yard'n'Garden

Watering the Lawn and Garden

Proper watering is important to the health and devlopment of landscape materials, since good growth is dependent on an optimum supply of water. Too much watering can result in shallow-rooted plants or even death of the plant. On the other hand, an inadequate water supply will cause wilting or retarded growth of plants, and peristent lack of water will result in death of the plant.

Most plants require from 1 to 1½ inches of moisture per week. If this is not provided by normal rainfall, you should supply supplementary water by soaking the soil or using a mechanical sprinkler. Soak the soil to a depth of 6-8 inches, using a soaker hose. Or when sprinkling, place a coffee can within the radius of the sprinkler. When a needed amount of water has accumulated in the can, move the sprinkler to a new location.

Frequent light sprinklings of the lawn will cause grass to become very shallow rooted. Grass grown under these conditions will not survive drouth if you stop watering!

Watering in the evening may increase the hazard of diseases in both ornamental plants and lawns Continuous, moist leaf surfaces provide a good environment for disease to develop. However, if evening is the only time you have to water, it's better to take your chances with the possibility of disease problems.

Having guests? Call the Times

SMILES were exchanged by Dan Syverson, Thief River Falls native and resident of Oakland Park Nursing Home for the past several months, and Connie Ekeren, Miss Aquacade of 1962, when Connie visited the home for the aged on Friday. Winner of the Joycees Aquacade queen pageant on August 4, Connie has been making a number of appearances in the city. In addition to personal visits with the home's residents, she also showed slides and told of her experiences in Greece as an exchange student.

VISITING with a number of residents of Oakland Park Nursing Home was part of the afternoon's activities Friday for Connie Ekeren, Miss Aquacade of 1962. Prior to presenting the afternoon program, she chatted with residents of the home for the aged. In the above photo she poses with Mrs. Clara Sorenson of Newfolden. Mrs. Sorenson, 71 years of age, has been a resident of the home for about three years.

Carpenter Heads DFL Fund Drive in Pennington Co.

Cy Carpenter of Thief River Falls, Pennington county DFL chairman, has been named chairman of the Minnesota DFL's 1962 Friends and Neighbors Fund Drive for Pennington county to be conducted from September 12-15. The appointment was announced by State DFL chairman George Farr.

Farr said that the DFL-FAN drive is the first fund raising effort of its kind in the history of the DFL in that an attempt will be made to contact every DFLer in Minnesota and ask for their financial support for the party.

He said that the drive will be a concentrated, all-out crash program to raise money for the DFL's '62 campaign and could prove to be the single, most successful fund drive of the entire campaign.

"Responsibility for the success of this fund raising campaign rests with the DFL county chairmen. Upon their shoulders falls the responsibility of organizing the drive and providing direction and guidance to the workers in the precincts and townships," Farr said.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

School bells will once again be ringing throughout the area. As the boys and girls go back to school, the homemaker should take a check to see what quality of lighting under which her school children will be studying. You want to conserve precious eyesight. Good lighting encourages concentration and good posture. Very dark or bright surrounding colors would be a distracting contrast to reading and writing materials. You get the best results if desk tops are light (add a large, light color blotter), adjacent walls are light too, (tackboard can be used), lamp shades are fairly dense; or opaque in a light but strong color.

If you are using a table or floor lamp, center the lamp shade 15" left of work center. If desk is more than two feet deep, select types with an extending or swing arm by which you can adjust the light.

When it comes time to store your summer garments for the fall-winter season, these storage tips will be useful:

Before storing any garments, clean them well, remove belts from their loops and hang them by the buckle from a coat-hanger so the backing won't crack. Close all fastenings so garments won't hang out of shape. You can store garments either by hanging them or folding them in boxes. Sweaters and knit garments should be stored flat. Stuffing them with tissue paper prevents fold marks. Then use a reliable moth preventive in the clothes containers or closets and seal them shut. Label boxes, for example, "Bill's shirts," so you can find things more easily. Keep storage areas cool, dry and away from sunlight.

Prevent dents on your floors by using furniture cups under legs and large casters on pieces that must be moved often. Replace metal gliders with flat nylon ones.

The Thief River Falls Newcomers Club is a unique organization in that its sole purpose is to welcome new citizens to Thief River Falls and to make them feel at home and a part of things while they are becoming established.

After encouragement and deliberation the leaders of the group decided to begin making personal visits on new residents rather than the simpler phone call that was being made before. This requires a great deal of leg work by the members as well as a practical system of compiling names, etc.

To justify the personal call and to prove that they really mean "Welcome" the group decided to make up a "Newcomers Welcome Packet" with brochures and maps, as well as gift certificates from various businesses enclosed. Thus far, this program has met with a shower of success and the girls are most pleased with it.

Problems always arise, however, and the Newcomers are already having their own. This is where I would like to help if I am able to. You who are operating businesses and reading this should understand the next few comments.

First of all, we urge you to cooperate with this project if you can find room for it in your business promotion program. Secondly, you will not necessarily have to furnish your own certificates as the Newcomers have had a supply printed up that need only simple filing in. Third, you do not have to put a certificate in every packet unless you want to. Just give the girls the instructions and they will follow them. Fourth, there is no minimum or stringency attached to what you should or might want to offer in the form of a gift with this certificate. That fact offers you a lot of freedom for your imagination.

In any event, we urge you to participate and to do that you need only to call Mrs. Herman Dargus at MU 1-4139 and give her the word. She is in charge of this new project and she deserves credit for getting it off the ground. The least we can do is try to keep this worthy program rolling.

Everybody can help keep things rolling if we all Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made—Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—I have heard that many veterans and widows are not taking advantage of VA pension plans that would give them more money. Is that true?

A—Yes. Apparently thousands do not fully understand the new pension law and the VA is still anxious to explain all the facts. Suggest you contact or write to nearest VA office.

Q—I am in the armed forces overseas and plan to enter training under the War Orphans Educational program. I understand the VA is authorized to provide transportation at Government expense to and from my place of vocational counseling. How can this be arranged when I am overseas?

A—It cannot be arranged. VA does not provide vocational counseling overseas nor can travel be authorized back to this country for such counseling. You should decide where you will go to school when you return to this country. If you then write to a VA regional office near that school, advising when you will be there for counseling, time will be saved in setting up your counseling appointment.

Q—Do the Veterans Affairs Offices of the State Department act as an overseas arm of the Veterans Administration?

A—The offices have the function of administering directly VA educational and training benefits and VA medical care and treatment benefits for eligible veterans in the countries comprising Western Europe and in Mexico. In addition, the offices furnish information and assistance to veterans, their dependents and beneficiaries on the full range of veterans matters, as do U. S. embassies and consular offices throughout the world.

Q—Can an eligible U. S. veteran get medical care at Veterans Administration expense while he is temporarily living in a foreign country? If so, where would the treatment be given?

A—He might receive outpatient treatment or hospitalization at VA expense by applying at the nearest American embassy or consulate. The medical care might be from physicians of the foreign country or at the nearest United States overseas military hospital.

Q—My NSLI term insurance policy is becoming much more expensive because of periodic increases in premiums. I would like to convert to permanent plan insurance but cannot afford to convert the entire policy. Can I convert part of it and keep the rest as term insurance?

A—Yes. You may convert as little (but no less than) $1,000 at a time to a plan with fixed premium amounts in order to avoid the periodic increases of the term insurance.

Q—Will my mother's re-marriage bar me from war orphan benefits?

A—No. You are still an "orphan" as far as being eligible for this benefit is concerned. Even your own marriage will not bar you. Only your increasing age will bar you. The customary deadline is 23 years, but in certain instances this may be extended. See the nearest VA office.

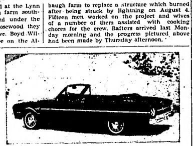
Elling Iverson Visits Cimarron Boy Scout Ranch

Elling T. Iverson, a member of Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls and active in scouting for seven years, recently returned from a week spent at Philmont scout ranch at Cimarron, N. M. He attended the camp on a Boy Scouter Lutheran Leaders' Training Course scholarship presented by Lutheran Brotherhood, fraternal life insurance society.

Upon recommendation of the Lake Agassiz Council of the Boy Scouts of America and the National Lutheran Committee on Scouting, the scholarship was presented to Iverson for outstanding service as a scout leader in the Lutheran church. Iverson is associated with L. B. Hartz Wholesale in this city. Scouting has been an important part of Lutheran Brotherhood's fraternal and benevolent program since its founding and has received about a quarter of a million dollars from the society since 1936.

VOLUNTEERS gathered at the Lynn Albaugh farm southwest of Newfolden last week and under the direction of Harvey Heggen of Rosewood they built the 32x48 barn pictured above. Boyd Wilson organized the barn-raising bee on the Albaugh farm to replace a structure which burned after being struck by lightning on August 4. Fifteen men worked on the project and wives of a number of them assisted with cooking chores for the crew. Rafters arrived last Monday morning and the progress pictured above had been made by Thursday afternoon.



Low-slung and spirited, Ford's all-new compact Falcon Futura convertible leads off Detroit's 1963 parade of new car models. Wire wheel covers, bucket seats and a floor mounted, 4-speed transmission are a few of the many options available.

This newest addition to Ford's industry leading compact line—more than a million Falcons have already been produced—will be introduced in dealer showrooms Friday, September 28.

Outstanding Minnesota tree farmer for 1961 was Mrs. Beatrice Neubauer, of Gilbert. The Neubauer tree farm covers 657 acres, mostly covered with natural stands of jack pine in various age classes. Yearly plantings have been carried out for over 30 years. Mrs. Neubauer's nomination was submitted by Dayton Larsen, St. Louis County extension forester; she is the widow of August Neubauer, former county agricultural agent.

"Despite high lime soil and severe lack of rainfall, all but one tree survived," says Harold Olson, Chippewa SCD supervisor, of the 800 Colorado spruce he planted last spring. Supervisors of the district were so pleased with Olson's results they ordered 3,000 additional Colorado spruce for planting this spring. If this year's planting does as well as Olson's, an all-out tree planting program planned by the district will begin in the spring of 1963.

In a 2-year test conducted by scientists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, milk cows, heifers and sheep did as well or better on low moisture hay crop silage than those fed carefully preserved alfalfa hay.

With soils maps and conservation planning maps, Mahnomen County SCD supervisors took a turn as land use planners during their annual farm tour last fall. They went over the Leo Bettels, Sr. farm making notes on soil and water problems found. Supervisors discussed their findings with Mr. and Mrs. Bettels and planned crop rotations, a pasture improvement program, drainage system and a farmstead windbreak. "An interesting, educational experience —let's do it again next year" were comments made to John Vogel, SCS technician at Mahnomen.

No fish story: When an Iowa angler fished Rainy River and Rainy Lake several days last fall with no success Peter Boorman suggested he dip a line in his dad's farm stock pond. Net result: One 2-pound-4-ounce northern and one a bit smaller. The Boorman pond is one of 47 built in Koochiching County by SCS and ACP during the past three years.

Henry Pierce's land eroded little this spring despite heavy rains. With help from his Soil Conservation District, Pierce, who farms north of Verndale in Wadena County had earlier built terraces and laid out sod waterways and contour strips. The heavy rains did show him that he still needs more contour strips and sod waterways. According to Extension Soil Conservation Specialist Roger Harris, improved land use methods coupled with a good fertility program has boosted the production of Pierce's farm almost beyond expectations.

Excess surface water draining from farm lands along the banks of the Red River of the North caused serious erosion in Clay County several years ago. This caused Lyron Ogren deep concern for his bordering cropland. After looking over his problem, SCS technicians at Moorhead designed a pipe drop structure along with a wide grass waterway immediately above the structure which completely solved the problem. The Clay County ASCS Committee approved ACP cost sharing on the erosion stabilizing practices.

Contour strips have a new use in Carver County. George Ruediger, who owns the Marsh Lake Game Farm three miles south of Victoria, has laid out narrow 54-foot wide contour strip cropped fields on his farm to control soil erosion and to benefit pheasant hunting this fall. By limiting the width of the contour strips, Ruediger has increased the amount of field "edges" where hunting is expected to be better. Land use conservation measures on the game farm are being used to help increase the bob white quail, chukkar partridge and duck hunting.

Thieves Win Region 2B Championship Sunday

Sweep Two Games from Twin Valley by 5-1 and 18-9

Winning on day-night doubleheader from the Twin Valley Twins at Twin Valley on Sunday, by scores of 5-1 and 18-9, manager Joey Poole's surprising Thieves won the Region 2B baseball championship. It was the first Thief River Falls Region 2B title since 1951.

The Thieves are scheduled to open their state tournament competition at Springfield on Friday night, when, at 8:30 p. m., they meet a highly-regarded Gaylord team from Region 16B.

In Sunday's night championship finale at Twin Valley, the Thieves erupted for twenty hits off the righthanded offerings of Bob Hallameck and Phil Peterick, including ten extra-base blows, to score a decisive 18-9 win. The locals bunched their scoring, getting five runs on four hits and an error in the first inning, adding eight runs, on six hits, two errors and a sacrifice in the fourth inning, and closing out with a five runs, on five hits, in the seventh.

Righthander Dick Palmer, hurling for the Thieves, limited the Twins to but three hits in the first six innings of play, but in the seventh two walks, a hit batsman, an error, a wild pitch, and a pair of singles accounted for four runs, and brought in Rod Olson for relief duty.

Eliminate Kennedy

To reach the Sunday night finals, the Thieves had to eliminate the Kennedy team, which they did by scoring a 9-3 win on Saturday Rod Olson sharing the pitching duties, and with Olson being credited with the win.

And following the Kennedy win on Saturday night, the Thieves moved into the championship finals, and scored a 5-1 win behind Freddy Jensen's three-hit pitching on Sunday afternoon. The Twins, on a walk to Jerry Thompson, a ground single by Al Santwire, and a wild pitch scored a run in the first inning, and from then on the Thieves' southpaw was invincible, giving up an infield scratch hit to Gerry Olson in the seventh, and solid single, in the same inning, to John Peterick.

Free Hitting Affair

In the Thieves' free-hitting win in the championship finals, Joey Poole and Dick Williams were credited with five runs-batted-in apiece, with Poole having four hits in five tries.

And a feature of the Thieves' play in the doubleheader on Sunday was the defensive play of the locals, with only one miscue, that a bad throw by Joey Poole on Sunday night, entering the scorebook.

Newfolden Grid Coach Forsees Good Season

With a squad liberally sprinkled with returning lettermen and seasoned regulars, Coach Sheldon Elseth of the Newfolden high school football team is looking forward to a winning season. Last year the Nordics won three, lost four and tied one and placed seventh in the 10-team Top-of-State conference.

"We have an experienced squad returning," Coach Elseth said. "All of the lettermen had extensive experience last year. Our heaviest player weighed in at only 172 pounds so it doesn't look as though we will be overpowering anyone. This is much the same team as last year so our experience will have to compensate for lack of size."

Returning regulars for the 1962 season include Wesley and Keith Grandstrand, Harlon Halvorson, Lester Bakke, Dean Anderson and Terry and Jerry Strandquist. Other lettermen returning are Winslow Grandstrand, Hjalmer Lofstrom, Wayne Smith, Alan Leigh, Ken Anderson, Merlin Anderson, Ken Carlson and Harley Lind. Tri-captains will be Wesley and Winslow Grandstrand and Harlon Halvorson.

"With our lack of depth this year, I don't even want any of the boys to peel potatoes for fear I might lose them because of an injury," Coach Elseth added. "We look to finish higher in the standings than last year but I think the nod will have to go to Hallock as the team to beat for the trophy. Stephen and Greenbush are also going to give other teams all they wish for in the line of battle.

The conference includes Argyle, Stephen, Kennedy, Hallock, Lancaster, Karlstad, Greenbush, Warroad, Baudette and Newfolden.

Schedule for the season includes: Sept. 7, at Goodridge; Sept. 14, Stephen; Sept. 21, at Karlstad; Sept. 28, at Hallock; Oct. 5, at Lancaster; Oct. 12, Warroad; Oct. 19, Kennedy; and Oct. 23, Greenbush. All home games start at 1:45 p. m. Night games at 8 p. m. will be played at Goodridge and Hallock.

In addition to lettermen returning, others trying out for the team include juniors Verne Hagenbeck, Jon Fosholm, Bruce Elseth, Larry Harstad and John Bjorsness and freshman Gary Hook. Frank Kohoutek will serve as assistant coach for the Nordics during the gridiron season.

City softball league playoffs have reached a seventh and deciding game in the double-elimination competition, and the championship game, between the Hartz Stores and the V. F. W., will be played under the lights on the fair grounds diamond on Wednesday, August 29, with game time at 9:00 p. m. Admission to game will be free, but a collection will be taken and the net proceeds will be donated to the Thieves baseball team to aid in defraying the expenses of the club's trip to the state class B tournament on Friday.

A seventh and deciding game in the playoffs was necessitated when, on Friday night, the Vets outlasted the Hartz to score a 6-5 win. In the game, which was tied at 2-all at the end of four innings of play, the Vets rolled up four runs in the fifth frame for a 6-2 lead, and appeared in command of th result. But the Hartz, picking up a run in the sixth, scored two runs in the seventh, and had the bases loaded with two out when Harlie Drees made a stop of hard smash and on a throw to Don Engelstad at first base, got the decision on the side-retiring out.

Wally Grovum, who had started on the mound for the Vets, pitched four-hit ball and, until the seventh, when he tired and experienced control trouble, was effective with his "raise" ball. Joey Poole came on in relief, and tossed "lob" pitches to avoid giving up bases on balls.

Game time on Wednesday is at 9:00 p. m.

Floyd Ball's Dog Wins Fargo Trial

Black Labrador Bests 27 Entries in Derby

With only two months of training with the Thief River Falls Retriever club, Mike's Black Court, a male Black Labrador owned by Floyd Ball of St. Hilaire, swept first place honors in the derby class at the North Dakota Retriever club trial held Sunday at Glyndon.

The derby class, for dogs under two years of age, consisted of 27 dogs from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin and Canada. Nearly half of the dogs entered were handled by professionals. Sunday's event was the third trial for the Ball dog which is only one and one-half years old. A blue ribbon and silver cup trophy was the first prize.

Cedar Valley Pockets, owned by Harry Pluth and a veteran of area field trials, placed third in the qualifying class for older dogs and also won a trophy. The local retriever club has been in operation only a short time but the advantages of a group organized for dog training has already been shown.

Langen Visits District During Congress Recess

Congressman Odin Langen returned to his native Minnesota last week for a brief visit with constituents while Congress was in recess. Langen plans remained in the newly-formed 7th District until Sunday, returning to Washington for Monday's session in the House of Representatives.

While home, Congressman Langen visited the Becker, Douglas and Grant county fairs at Detroit Lakes, Alexandria and Herman, and made other visits throughout the area.

Langen said he had hoped to spend an entire week in the district during the 10-day Congressional recess, but that committee hearings on the investigation into the grain storage activities of Billie Sol Estes kept him in Washington longer than expected.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Some of the Prospects

Included in the group of Prowler football candidates who, under the supervision of coaches Joe Mrkonich and Bill Herzog, are engaging in a two-a-day pre-school practice sessions, are some sophomore boys, who, before they conclude their high school play, will have illustrious careers.

Such boys as Joe Taylor, Dick Nelson, Mark Pream, Dave Froehle, and Jerry Forsberg, judged by their actions in the pre-season drills, have great potential.

Of this group it is probable that Taylor, a powerful and aggressive 160-pounder, and who was a standout on coach Al Shaff's Prowler varsity wrestling squad last season, will be a particularly bright star in Prowler football. He is a rugged boy who runs with crunching power, and does not flinch from bodily contact. His lack at present is experience, and judging by the "thinness" of the varsity squad, coach Joe will give Taylor plenty of experience. Taylor, along with Dave Froehle, has been given work at a line-backer spot, and has proven effective.

In the signal drills that have been run, and the limited scrimmages that have been held, it is probable that the Prowlers will line up on offense in their season-opening game against Warren here on Sept. 3rd, in this manner: ends, Ray Ulrich and Jim Ranum, tackles, Tiny Mhyrer and Bob Benson, guards, Tom Morben and Elroy Froiland, center, Terry Nelson or Brian Lofberg, quarterback, John Aune, halfbacks, Paul Klungness and Ron Olson, and fullback, Steve Mittelstadt.

Season's First Holdout

From the reports that are circulating around the Family Bowl lanes it appears that the honor of being the bowling season's first "holdout" must go to Helmer Skomedal of the Monday night Daleford Farms team.

Helmer, from all accounts, feels that he is entitled to a sizeable bonus from Jim Muzzy, the coach and captain and sponsor of the Daleford Farms team. Helmer puts forth the argument, and he has the averages and results to prove his point, that the Daleford Farms team wasn't a league champion until he, Helmer, joined the club. Jim, of course, can counter with the fact that when Helmer was bowling with the Steiner Farmers, that team didn't go any place, and it was because he, Helmer, was bowling with Joe and Jim and Percy and Bernard last season that he had such a good year.

Well, the boys have a lot of fun with Helmer and his "holdout", and "bonus".

A Real Competitor

There cannot be much argument but that the all-round play of Bob Hallameck, Twin Valley's draft choice from Erskine, made the difference between a win or loss for Twin Valley in the Region 2B game played at Twin Valley on Thursday night. The Twins defeated the Thieves, 6-5, in a ten-inning game.

In four previous games between the two clubs, the Thieves had scored wins, but not so on Thursday. Bob had some anxious moments during the game, particularly in the fifth and sixth innings when the Thieves' reached the righthander for four hits and five runs to take a 5-4 lead. But Bob proved his competitiveness by shaking off this brief spell of unsteadiness, and the effects of a pair of costly Twin Valley errors, and finished strongly. In fact, he was getting stronger as the game progressed, and during the final three innings he set down the Thieves in order. And in addition to his game-winning pitching, Hallameck proved an adept fielder, having a putout and six assists from the mound.

The righthander didn't limit his activities in Thursday night's game to pitching for he proved to be a factor in the Twins' offense. In the seventh, with the Thieves' leading by a run, Bob drew a walk to open the inning, was sacrificed to second by Frank Gunderman, and, after Tom Hanson had struck out, came home on John Peterick's ground single into left field to tie the game. And he came within an eyelash of scoring the winning run in the ninth inning when he drew a walk, stole second and third, and his attempted steal of home just missed being successful.

It's not a secret that there is a considerable feeling between several members of the Thieves and Bob Hallameck, and this rivalry has intensified the desire for victory. In this instance the decision, and rightly, went to Bob.

And as far as I'm concerned, Bob showed plenty of guts and poise on Sunday night when he stood in there and took a lacing in the Thieves' 18 to 9 win over the Twins. It is pretty easy to take the bows when you are a winner, but to keep your head up when the breaks and the hits roll up, well, that takes courage. And Bob pitched as hard in the fourth inning, which proved to be his last, as he did in the first.

Tunberg Team Wins Golf League Title

Seven Teams Will Share in Playoffs Wednesday

The second half of the city golf league's schedule was concluded on Wednesday evening, and Roger Tunberg's Tunberg Motors squad gained first place, holding an eleven-stroke margin over the runner-up First Federal team.

A league playoff will be held on Wednesday, with the top four team from the first half of play—Sportsman's Store, American Hardware Mutual, Hamm's Beer, and Soo Line—joining the top three teams of second half—Tunberg Motors, First Federal, and S & L Stores—in five-man net score basis for the city golf league title.

In Wednesday evening's finale, the S & L Stores foursome of Rudy Mehlhoff, Lloyd Bennes, Glenn Krenz, and Harvey Patten posted the low team net, a 141-stroke total. The net scores carried by the players were as follows: Mehlhoff, 35; Bennes, 34; Krenz, 32; and Patten, 40.

Krenz and Orvis Olen of the Sportsman's Store shared low net honors for the evening, with 32's. Five players shared the low gross scoring honors in the final matches, with Stan Larson, Bob Wurst, Wally DuChamp, Earle Anderson, and Rudy Mehlhoff having 40's

Thieves Edged by Twins in Playoff

Jerry Thompson's looping single to right field, scoring Jim Hann from second base with two men out in the last half of the 10th inning, gave the Twin Valley Twins and righthander Bob Hallameck a well-earned 6-5 win over the Thieves in a Region 2B baseball tournament game played at Twin Valley on Thursday night. The win boosted the Twins into the playoff finals, having a two wins and no losses record and established Les Hoien's club as a heavy favorite to win the regional title.

Hallameck, a draft choice from Erskine, weathered a Thieves' uprising in the fifth and sixth innings, when the locals tallied five runs to take a 5-4 lead, to hurl steady ball in the late innings and give the Twins the win. In the eighth, ninth, and 10th innings, Hallameck set down the Thieves in order. Rod Olson, the Thieves' draft choice from Fertile, absorbed the loss, with the youthful righthander coming on in relief of starter Freddy Jensen in the sixth inning, with the Thieves holding a 5-4 lead.

The Twins, on a single by Mickey Hoien and a long single by Gerry Olson, picked up a run in the first inning. And the Twins held their 1-0 margin until the fifth when a walk to Dave Carlin, a double by Marv Lundin, an infield out, a double by Fred Jensen, and a single by John Aune accounted for three runs, and a 3-1 lead for the locals.

Twin Valley added a run in the last half of the fifth inning when Al Santwire beat out an infield hit, advanced to second on a muffed ball to center field, and scored on Gerry Olson's ground single to left field.

The Thieves, on Joey Poole's single, a sacrifice, a pair of walks, and a successful double steal, scored two runs in the sixth frame to move ahead, 5-2. But the Twins refused to wilt, and came back to drive Jensen off the mound, with a single by John Peterick, a triple by Santwire, and a double by Joien doing the damage. Olson, with two men out, came on in relief and struck out Gerry Olson, a draft choice catcher from Fertile, for the third out.

Hallameck tallied the game-tying run for the Twins in the seventh when he led off with a walk, moved to second on Frank Gunderman's sacrifice, and scored on John Peterick's ground single between short and third. And in the tenth, with two men out, Hann drew a walk, stole second, and scored on Thompson's fly ball to right field.

On European Junket . . .

Phyllis Simon Answers Call of "Far Away Places"

By Mrs Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

Drawn by the lure of far-away places, Miss Phyllis Simon, daughter of the Melville Simons of this city, took to the air and the sea this past summer in the company of three fellow teachers from Minneapolis.

The four flew to Montreal, Canada, where they boarded the liner Homeric for Southampton, England, with an itinerary of 12 countries in their AAA-planned junket which allowed for a measure of flexibility in their schedule. And, contrary to popular conception of the foibles of feminine travelers, these young ladies traveled light—one suitcase each.

A few of the highlights of that trip are recorded here.

In London, sans fog during their stay, Miss Simon and her companions were particularly awed by the solemn antiquity of Westminster Abbey, steeped in its traditions.

At Mme. Tussaud's Waxworks they were intrigued by the amazingly life-like wax models of history's notables, and felt right at home with the figures of Pres. Kennedy and John Glenn, who were so realistic-looking "They seemed as if they could almost talk to us."

In Amsterdam, Holland, they were delighted to find that one of Miss Simon's relatives had no trouble singling her out from the crowd on the station platform. In the city itself they found the populace in western dress. (They did not visit the rural areas, as did the Elmer Bensons, whose commentary we featured last week.) There, they rented the little Volkswagon which would see them through the remainder of the trip—comfortably at the outset, but literally "stuffed to bursting" by the time they reached journey's end. . . There, too, they noted that the Dutch people seemed to consume vast quantities of bread.

"They ate everything on bread. . strawberries, salad, meat. . .everything."

Paris traffic fouled them up occasionally, but they loved driving the Paris streets, nevertheless, especially at night. On one occasion the little Volkswagon, parked too inconveniently to suit some of the French workmen, was picked up most unceremoniously (passengers baggage and all) "and plunked down a little farther up the block." Miss Simon said that they all "loved" Paris, and were especially impressed by Notre Dame Cathedral and the other timeless landmarks. "It was thrilling."

As women will, they were fascinated by the manufacturing of perfume in southern France. But the biggest attraction in that area was the French Riviera. "They immediately spotted us as Americans because of our conservative bathing suits. Everybody there wears Bikinis, even those that were as big as three barns or as old as Methusalah."

They stayed at Lucerne, in Switzerland, but missed getting to see the Swiss Alps. In Geneva the four teachers were most vividly impressed by the Peace Palace—"a smaller edition of the U. N., I guess you'd call it."

The centers of interest in Rome were St. Peter's—the church and the square. "Of course, we threw our three coins into the famous fountain. . ." She told us what a tremendous experience it was to witness the light-and-sound performance of Orson Welles' orating the history of Rome in the ruins of the Coliseum, with the flicker of red light as the backdrop of the dramatic sequence of the burning of Rome, when Nero purportedly fiddled.

While in Italy, the travelers toured Florence, with its priceless art treasures, and Venice with its gondolas, some of them plying the canals with a full load of fruit aboard, and a full complement of flies in tow, a far cry from our supermarkets. . . St. Mark's Cathedral and the square they thought were "simply marvelous," with music from the nearby shops literally wrapping the place in sound.

Austria's mountain scenery was described as "spectacular!" They stopped at a mountain inn and enjoyed a yodel-serenade with their wienerschnitzel. In Heidelberg, Germany, they attended a philosophy lecture, "Too deep. We'd sooner remember Germany and Austria for their wonderful feather-beds." In Frankfurt, there was a reunion and visit with a former classmate of one of their number.

Copenhagen, Denmark's, Tivoli Park was a place they will also long remember. "You could spend months there, and still be entertained." They aren't likely to forget the Danish food, either. "It was delightful: tastefully prepared, attractively garnished, beautifully served."

The girls toured a Danish school, and incidentally, envied the Swedish teachers their luxurious lounges. At a Swedish shoe factory each of them received a free sample; a pair of finely-crafted Swedish shoes.

In Finland, they enjoyed a "Sauna" (steam bath). 'Out of the steam, into the cold lake, and back into the steam. More fun!"

It was on to Stockholm, Sweden, finally, and then to Oslo, Norway. From there, they flew home on an SAS jet, with a stop at Idlewilde airport in New York City, thence home to Minneapolis. "Six hundred miles an hour in perfect flying weather. It was good to relax . . we were tired out by them. But we are going back — we hope — come another summer!"

Dollar Devaluing in Canada Affects Border Business

Restrictions on Buying Merchandise in U. S. Also Reduces Volume

Canada's dollar devaluation and sharp cut in the amount of goods her citizens are allowed to bring home duty-free is having a telling effect on business in Minnesota and North Dakota border cities.

Canada recently pegged its dollar at 92 cents in relation to the U. S. dollar, and trimmed from $100. to $25 the value of goods Canadians can take home after a 48-hour stay in the United States.

The austerity measures were installed to improve Canada's financial position.

The measures are held responsible for most of a sharp drop in vehicular traffic from Canada into the United States at International Falls. The number of cars showed about a 3,000 decrease during July compared with the same month last year. Another large drop is indicated for August.

Cool, wet weather, however, is believed to have discouraged some Canadian tourists. Eating establishments frequented by them, as well as bars and American plan resorts report far less revenue from this source this year.

Aviation Exhibit at the State Fair

Aeronautics Department Is Sponsoring Display

"Aviation and aerospace manufacturing in Minnesota is growing at an astounding pace," Lawrence E McCabe, Minnesota commissioner of aeronautics, said today. "The department of aeronautics is sponsoring a state fair display this year with the theme of aviation products made in Minnesota. The department's 2200 sq. ft. area in the State Exhibits Building will contain a good sample of these products.

"For example, Honeywell displays their new aircraft lighting system which is just one of the staggering number of products they produce for the Space Age. The G. T. Schjeldahl Company of Northfield, which announced just this week a new $200,000 contract to make two 135-foot-diameter Satelloons for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, is displaying a 6-foot-diameter model of a Satelloon. MMM will show various adhesives used for aircraft and airports. Gould-National Batteries, Inc., include in their display cylindrical, nickel-cadmium cells similar to the ones they provided for the TELSTAR satellite."

Lawbreakers Target on Labor Day Weekend

Motorists who show only a casual interest in traffic laws and safe driving rules during the four-day Labor Day weekend will not be treated so casually by law enforcement officers of the state, according to a warning today from the Minnesota highway department.

State, county and local police are expected to coordinate efforts in support of the "Operation Survival" safety program which is aimed at the law-breaker. All available Minnesota highway patrol personnel will be on duty during the four-day holiday, August 31 through September 3, using plane-to-ground controls, radar and other electronic equipment.

The highway department pointed out that Labor Day is one of the most dangerous holidays for motorists, and that both drivers and pedestrians must use extreme caution.

During Labor Day weekends of the last five years, traffic accidents in Minnesota have taken an average of two lives daily, and injured an average of 90 persons daily. There has been a total of 2,700 accidents during Labor Day weekends of the last five years.

Labor Day traffic is complicated by back-to-school movement, state fair traffic, and the fact that many summer vacationers leave the state for their out-of-state homes at this time of the year, according to the Highway Department.

Enforcement agencies are expected to concentrate on apprehending the drinking drivers and speeders, the causes of about 60 per cent of the fatal mishaps occurring in the state. Illegal passing, improper turns, and defective vehicles also are expected to attract more than usual attention of police.

Inactivity Often Cause of Fatigue

Physicians Prescribe More Physical Exercise

Tired, "worn out" all the time, even though you're not doing very much? Have you rested and slept more, but still don't feel more energetic? Well, according to the Minnesota State Medical Association, you may need more activity instead of more rest.

Fatigue, they say, is a normal incident of normal living, but when its pattern changes radically or it interferes with ordinary activities it becomes a serious problem and needs medical attention.

For a long time the approach to the problem of fatigue was thought to be simple, said the Association. If a person was tired, he was doing too much. If he did nothing more than sit in a rocking chair all day long, he was advised to stop rocking and go lie down.

Now physicials know better. Following the surgeons' practice of getting patients up soon after surgery, they now prescribe physical activity.

The pattern of American life is designed to avoid physical activity and stress—to the point where physical exertion is virtually eliminated. Young people keep in fairly good physical condition through sports and play, but as they grow older they tend to give up these things. With the help of labor-saving devices such as the electric golfmobile, they being to suffer rapidly and too early in life from not using their muscles.

This brings with it a loss of muscular tone and functional reserve of all parts of the body, so that the slightest added stress causes undue tiredness. Maintaining an adequate physical reserve against stress is the best preventive for such fatigue.

"There is a lot of fiction and fog around the words conservative and liberal. My idea of a conservative is one who desires to retain the wisdom and the experience of the past, and who is prepared to apply the best of that wisdom and experience to meet the changes which are inevitable in every new generation."

—Herbert Hoover

Homes Are Dangerous

Most of the Russians who live in the large cities are crowded into small apartments but individual families have been permitted to lease a bit of land from the regional government and build homes of their own. The trend toward the small family-size homes was understandably popular. The owners were proud of their dream houses.

But now the authorities have recognized the evil of one-family homes, and the encouragement they generate in the idea of private property and individual enterprise. The Communist officials have concluded that "a home of your own" is a source of corruption.

The authorities have taken proper action. From now on there will be no more one-family homes and the people will be housed in Communist apartments—sill to be built.

Sound Advice

It is comforting to know that Dwight Eisenhower is opposed to tossing additional billions into the space race in an effort to be first in landing a man on the moon. In a recent Saturday Evening Post article, Ike, after noting that he had approved the project for selecting and training this nation's astronauts and was gratified by the results so far achieved, asks, "Why the great hurry to get to the moon and the planets?"

According to the former president the United States already leads the world in every aspect of scientific space exploration except brute rocket power, and concludes:

"From here on, I think we should proceed in an orderly scientific way, building one accomplishment on another, rather than engaging in a mad effort to win a stunt race."

This is sound advice which should be heeded by those who now are making the decisions for us. The additional cost of landing a man on the moon in a hurry has been variously estimated at from 20 to 40 billion dollars. Those dollars, we are sure, could be used much more effectively in the further exploration and development of our own space ship, the planet we now are occupying.

Local Headaches

Minneapolis is complaining again. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that Minneapolis continues to complain. The Daily Bellyache, published by an organization that has been seeking unsuccessfully for years to find out what makes a newspaper great, continues to misrepresent to the outside area, and to neighboring states, the thinking of its many good citizens.

At the present time the community's complainer is unhappy because the metropolitan area is not getting its share of the interstate highway system construction projects. And of what is spent in the metropolitan area, too much is being spent in St. Paul.

Our community has no direct interest in this problem. The interstate system, supported by the dollars all of us contribute to the federal government for this super highway program, has no special local appeal. Our only interest in the system, as it is now planned, is that we may have better expressways in and out and around and through the metropolitan area, where, obviously, there are the bottlenecks. There is no crying need for the advantages of an interstate highway system in the outstate area at this time.

We have supported the recommendations of the engineers that most of the funds made available for an interstate highway system in Minnesota be spent in the metropolitan area, where the traffic problem is most difficult, and where the need for expressways is most urgent. But, if the Daily Bellyache continues its unreasonable campaign of unwarranted complaints, then we will join, and support, the small group of outstate communities that are seeking immediate action on projects that could not be justified on a "comparative need" basis for the coming decade.

But according to the Bellyache, it isn't only in roads that Minneapolis is being discriminated against by the outstate area. The main gripe is the inconsiderate attitude of the state toward the University of Minnesota. The school hase been shamefuly neglected. At the present time it is only the third largest university in the United States. With just a little effort it could become the greatest University in the whole country, in terms of enrollment.

Well, we will repeat a suggestion we have made several times before. Maybe the best solution for this problem would be for the state to donate to the city of Minnepolis the University of Minnesota, and let it be operated by the City of Minneapolis as the University of Minneapolis. Then the state of Minnesota could establish a new University of Minnesota, located in central Minnesota, but at least a hundred miles from the metropolitan area, a new school of learning that would be devoted primarily to education, as such, and in which the cash register interests of the local community would not be a harmful influence.

We are sure that by getting the University of Minnesota out of the metropolitan area, the cost to the taxpayers of the state would be greatly reduced.

The Profit Motive

Back in the year 1940, after many years of job scarcity and failures in various kinds of schemes to solve the unemployment problem, and to provide jobs by government work projects, the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, adopted the following resolution:

"We have learned the lesson that when opportunities for profit diminish, opportunities for jobs likewise disappear."

This recognition by the officers of a leading labor organization is interesting mainly because it recognizes a fact that too often does not receive enough recognition. Profits can serve a good purpose as well as an evil purpose. The profit motive has been an important incentive in the development of our modern economy.

Critics of the free- enterprise system have based their objections mainly on the profit motive. When things generally are going well much criticism gets little attention, but when the booms have run their course and are followed by the declines that are essential to the restoration of a natural balance, the critics become noisy again. We now are in that stage of the ever-recurring cycle. It is interesting to note that the defenders of the profit motive are now beginning to present their views.

Recently George Meany, president of AFL-CIO, challenged the National Association of Manufacturers to show him how profits make jobs. The NAM answered:

"The point is not that profits as such create jobs, or that profits after they are earned can be translated into jobs at some calculable rate . . . It is business activity undertaken in the expectation of profit which creates jobs. If the profits are realized, the jobs continue and perhaps grow in number. If the profits are not realized, the jobs and the companies which offer them eventually disappear."

Do you suppose that even the benevolent George Meany would buy stock in a company that was organized solely for the purpose of creating jobs and without any expectation or hope of ever receiving a cash dividend on the investment? We doubt it.

Not all business ventures are successful and many investment dollars are lost. It is reasonable to assume that profits may properly vary according to the risks assumed. The government's proper role in this field, acting in the public interest, should be to encourage competition by curbing monopoly.

The venturesome, who seek to enrich themselves by making available a better service or a better product, should not be discouraged. The number who will succeed will be comparatively few. In the meantime the failures will have created some employment as long as their investment dollars last.

Free Jamaica

Jamaica has now become an independent country. This Caribbean island 90 miles south of Cuba, with a population of 1,600,000 people, has been a part of the British West Indies. The British no doubt are happy with the new arrangement. Jamaica has been an expensive possession. Now, it seems, Jamaica becomes our problem

The new government of the independent country has indicated that it will seek membership in the Alliance for Progress. One of its first official acts was to open negotiations with our country for a loan of $2.5 million. Commenting on this development, Senator Ernest Gruening, Alaska Democrat, made the following interesting remarks:

"Presumably this is only the beginning. A nation so poverty stricken as Jamaica is alleged to be can scarcely repay loans, and doubtless loans will be followed by grants.

"Time was when the leaders of nations seeking independence realized that independence brought its blessings but also its responsibilities and that the burdens of self-maintenance were obligations that would have to be borne.

"It has become customary of late in some government and other circles to equate the independence of these new mid-20th century nations with our own in 1776 and the statesmen of these emerging peoples with Washington, Hamilton, Franklin and Jefferson. No one mentions that the United States got no foreign aid.

"Nowadays it is different. Whenever a new nation is born, simultaneously, as in the case of Jamaica—or maybe even in anticipation—arrangements are made for uncle Sam to pick up the tab. The mother country is promptly relieved of this burden.

"With the two score or more of new nations born in the last few years, and more to come, we can, on the basis of present and past performance, reasonably expect that Uncle Sam will be waiting, checkbook in hand. Meanwhile, our national debt is increasing, our balance-of-payments situation is not improving materially, and our gold reserves are dwindling."

Interesting Opinions

"Is there a university president present who when he has a million dollars spends it on scholars rather than stone? Buildings may well be the curse of university education."

A letter from St. Louis

You may remember reading of our trade trip to St. Louis on July 30 together with a group of Minnesota business men including Tom Swain, commissioner of business development, and Cliff Sommer of Owatonna, chairman of the department's advisory board.

We had a group of St. Louis executives to lunch, let them fish for Minnesota walleyes and northerns in a ten foot wading pool and then I gave a presentation of Minnesota's assets for industrial location, with particular emphasis on "brain power"—the superior training and ability of our people.

There was wonderful St. Louis publicity on our fishing attractions and many letters of interest and appreciation from those who attended. One of the most significant came from the executive vice president of a large St. Louis firm whose brand name you would recognize instantly. Here is the letter:

"My dear Governor Andersen:

"The wonderful lunch on Monday, July 30, your excellent message to all of us, and your nice letter of August 7 are all most appreciated. The lunch was particularly refreshing and mainly because it reminded me again, probably in a nostalgic way, of the experiences I enjoyed so much during my schooling at Carleton College. Thank you for your hospitality.

"I was most interested in your remarks about the availability of technician and engineering type labor as it applies to electronics development and manufacturing. To date, the only decentralization we have undertaken has involved electrical devices such as fractional horsepower motors where the level of skills needed are considerably below those you described. However, there is every probability in the not too distant future that we may have need for just such facilities associated with electronics work that appear to make sense in Minnesota. If and as this should happen, we will be in contact with your office to determine the advisability of considering Minnesota as a location for decentralized electronic development and assembly plants.

"It was a great pleasure meeting you and hearing from you. I look forward to another opportunity to spend some time with you."

You can be sure we will keep closely in touch with this firm. This is exactly what we want—fine new firms coming to Minnesota looking for superior talent and prepared to pay good salaries and wages.

The real answer to the burden of high taxes is more industrial development, more tax base, more payrolls and jobs.

I believe that the selling and promotional work I am doing to publicize Minnesota and its products is paying off in many ways. One evidence is our mounting employment — up 265,000 jobs over January 1961, a 21 per cent gain compared with the national average, of 7.7 per cent.

Business firms throughout the country are looking at Minnesota with a new interest, and it is mighty encouraging.

Water safety

In an item some time ago on water safety I failed to give adequate credit to the training programs of the American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, YMCA, YWCA, Civil Defense, 4H, FFA, FHA and a host of others — all of these are a most vital part of water safety and many other training programs

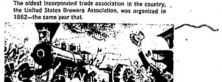
It happened 100 YEARS ago
The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862—the same year that



IN MINNESOTA, the St. Paul and Pacific, the first railroad to move a wheel in the state, began regular passenger service on July 2. Proud Minnesotans toasted the new railroad with foaming steins of beer.
For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation. But beer means more than enjoyment to our state. The Brewing Industry contributes more than 4 million tax dollars to Minnesota each year, money that helps support our parks, hospitals and schools.
TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

of Rhyme & Reason

BY MARY LUNDIN

THERE IS NO COMMON MAN. This is the conclusion drawn by Gail Smith, director of advertising and market research for General Motors, in a speech delivered at the National Editorial Association convention in Hershey, Pa. "The myth of the average man is a comfortable one for the fearful, the lazy, the incompetent," the director said. "Only one thing is wrong with it. The average man does not exist." The following is taken from her talk.

"Let's examine this so-called "Common Man." I don't think his like has ever before existed in history. He is tougher fibered, more nervously resilient, more tenacious, better educated, and more quietly courageous than any other man in history. And more cynical. He is the first man since the dawn of time who is concerned with the future in terms of the flight time from the nearest enemy missile base. Compared to his father and his grandfather, this man of ours is comparatively rootless, geographically and spiritually. He works quite likely at an occupation which did not exist in his father's day, and lives in a suburb which may have been a cornfield ten years ago.

"This man of ours is a hard-rock, emotionally, to entertain or to sell. He has money — more money per capita than any other age in history. He is determined that his children will have the best college education and is prepared to pay for it. Sometimes he discovers that somewhere along the educational trail someone forgot to teach them to read and write, and they can't get into college with a search warrant.

"If he spends money freely, he is accused of being a wastemaker. If he saves money, he is charged with hamstringing the economy. He works hard to be able to feed his family, and when he is able, the whole bunch go on a diet.

"This public of ours is a strange and wonderful mixture of caution and carelessness, of faith and desperation, of logic and laissez-faire. He is consistent only in his contradictions. Common man, indeed! He plans a moon landing but can't get to the office because of a two-inch snowfall. He proposes to explore the ultimate loneliness of outer space — but goes nuts with boredom on a rainy Sunday afternoon.

"He moves through life with the desperate care of a barefooted man at night in a field of broken beer bottles — every step is a victory in itself. His main hope is just in missing that next piece of glass. If he acted as he is certainly entitled to act under the pressure, the men with the net would be around tomorrow. Instead of skating on thin ice he has learned to tap dance on it. And to top it all his wife is getting that Jackie look — not Kennedy—Gleason."

Words of welcome to faculty members returning to Thief River Falls or beginning their teaching duties here. May the school year be rewarding in experience gained, mission accomplished and friendships solidified with your fellow workers and residents of our fair city.

HANDY HOUSEHOLD HINTS: (not recommended for practicality) If you are troubled by mosquitoes, turn three or four bats loose in each bedroom before retiring. . . A lion kept in the garage will discourage night-time borrowing of garden tools by your neighbors. . . A tethered elephant is useful for stamping out crab grass. . . Sulphuric acid will remove any gravy spots from the tablecloth. It will also remove the tablecloth.

WORDS TO THE WISE. . .

Although being ubiquitous
May seem at times iniquitous,
And constant intrepidity
May seem bred of stupidity,
Those who move with circumspection
Often find upon reflection
'Tis better to precipitate
Than merely sit and speculate.

Growers' Views Asked on U.S. Wool Program

Wool producers are being asked to make recommendations on two phases of the national wool incentive-payments program, Winton Knutson, chairman, Pennington Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today. The recommendations requested concern the incentive level for shorn wool for the 1963 marketing year, and the advisability of changing the wool marketing year from the present April 1 through March 31 to a calendar year basis.

Producer views regarding the two points are requested by Tuesday, Sept. 4, the chairman said, and they should be submitted directly to the Livestock, Dairy and Poultry Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

The incentive level for shorn wool for the 1963 marketing year will be announced within the next few weeks, so that growers may have the information this fall when they shape up their flocks for next year's production. The incentive price has been 62 cents per pound during each of the 8 years of the wool payment program, from the 1955 through the 1962 marketing years.

Officials have pointed out that the need for keeping the program on a sound financial basis, coupled with the improved outlook in the industry, indicates the desirability of maintaining the price at the present incentive level of 62 cents per pound. Under this incentive level, sheep numbers and wool production were on the increase until the discouragingly low lamb prices of 1960 and 1961 interrupted the upward trend. Lamb prices this year, however, are running $3 or more per hundredweight above a year ago. The higher prices likely will induce a more normal rate of holding lambs for flock replacement, thus providing the foundation for an increase in wool production in keeping with the objectives of the National Wool Act. The Act directs that the support price for shorn wool shall be at an incentive level necessary to encourage an annual production of about 300 million pounds of shorn wool.

The question of changing the marketing year from the present April 1 through March 31 to a calendar year basis has arisen because some producers have pointed out that March 31 falls within the peak shearing season in many areas. This may result in early shearing and sale of wool before March 31 in order to get incentive payments the following summer rather than a year later.

Soybean Is Fifth Ranking U.S. Crop

Acreage Has Doubled in Nation in 10-year Period

The soybean, an obscure crop 30 years ago, has climbed to fifth place among cash crops in the U. S. During 1959-60 soybeans furnished more income to Minnesota farmers than any other field crop except corn.

According to James P. Houck, Jr., University of Minnesota agricultural economist, soybean acreage in the U S. about doubled between 1947-49 and 1957-59, rising from 12 to 23 million acres. By 1960-61 cash income to U. S. farmers from soybeans reached $1.23 billion per year.

Minnesota farmers grew 2.35 million acres of soybeans last year, twice the acreage they'd grown 10 years earlier. The beans were worth over $129 million.

Houck, who is studying the soybean market, says that assuming a strong export market, continued growth in the livestock economy, a vigorous Food for Peace program and moderate increase in acreage, the U. S. soybean industry will probably continue to grow at its present rate for at least the next few years.

The soybean is the only major U. S. farm commodity which is an oilseed. Nearly all soybeans used in the U. S. are processed into oil and meal. The crushing and processing industry is currently growing about 5 per cent per year.

The soybean is one of the few major farm commodities with expanding markets both at home and abroad. Our export level has grown to about six times its 1947-49 level Today about one of every five bushels of soybeans we harvest goes to foreign markets principally in Western Europe, Canada and Japan.

Value of a bushel of soybeans is about equally split between meal and oil. Each 60-pound bushel yields approximately 47 to 48 lbs. of meal and 10 to 11 lbs. of oil.

State Pulp & Paper Industry Expands

Production in 1961 Was Estimated at $188,000,000

Expansion spending of an estimated $12,700,000 was reported by Minnesota's pulp and paper industry last year. Executive Secretary John V. Hoene of the forest industries information committee outlined that growth picture today.

Hoene said that in an area of Minnesota where the general economic recession was particularly felt, the pulp and paper industry boosted its employment by 153 and increased payrolls and fringe benefits by more than $700,000.

Hoene pointed out that the total value of production by the industry was estimated at $188,000,000 in 1961. Total production of paper, plus building board and insulation amounted to 823,123 tons and over 1,100,000 cords of pulpwood and wood pulp were consumed. While the total cost of payroll was over $59,000,000, some of the other major items were $29,600,000 for pulpwood and wood pulp; over $58,000,000 for other materials and supplies; over $21,900,000 for freight; $12,700,000 for expansion; over $10,000, for federal, state and local taxes; and $474,000 for management of 545,000 acres of company owned tree farms.

Nine companies with 12 mills were responsible for this production. Since World War II, more than 3,438 new jobs have been developed in the pulp and paper industry of Minnesota, with over 9,000 persons presently earning a livelihood in this Minnesota business, Hoene said. The basis for that growth, he pointed out, has been modern forest management in which more timber is grown than is used, allowing for healthy mill expansion as growing markets permit.

Let Child Help Select Clothes for School Wear

Home Agent Gives Tops On Proper Selection for Fit and Appearance

Letting children help in selecting their clothing for school gives them training in developing color preferences and standards of taste. Moreover, they'll enjoy their clothes more. Children who like their clothes will usually take better care of them, reports Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent.

One way to help a young school child in clothing selection is for the parent to choose two or three garments in a similar style, quality and price range and then let the child select from this group.

Parents should remember that oddity in dress contributes to self-consciousness and timidity. It's imporant for children to have the same kind of clothes as their playmates. When they do, they get a feeling of self-confidence and of belonging to the group. By recognizing this fact and selecting clothes accordingly, parents can help children make desired social adjustments.

Though children will usually know the style and color of the clothes they want, it's still Mother's job to see that they fit properly. Miss Duerst gives a short checklist to help mothers select clothes that fit well.

Before buying school clothes, examine:

Neckline — Is the collar low enough in front to be comfortable and snug enough in back so it will neither ride up nor slip down?

Shoulders — Are they wide enough and roomy enough for free arm movement without binding, yet not too full for shoulder seams to stay in place?

Sleeves — Are they roomy enough so they won't pull out with strain?

Waistline — Slight looseness will allow for growth and longer wear.

Elastic part of the way around the waist will help to adjust the garment as the child grows. Trousers that slide down affect posture, just as straps do that slip off shoulders.

Length — Shirts and blouses should be long enough to tuck in and stay tucked in. Avoid overlong slacks and trousers but look for generous hems in skirts. Oversized garments hinder active participation in play.

Bolt of Lightning Causes Siren at Kennedy to Sound

The more than 500 residents of Kennedy arose early Thursday to deal with what they feared might be a desperate emergency. It wasn't desperate but it was loud.

What happened was that a powerful electrical storm hit the Kittson County community at about 4 a.m. There were blinding lightning bolts and heavy thunderclaps. After one such bolt, the town's fire siren sounded and continued to scream. When a siren sounds continuously for more than three minutes it is considered to be the alarm for an enemy attack.

Most members of the 34-man volunteer fire department rushed to their posts and, finding no evidences of fire or other calamity, finally were able to silence the siren after it had howled for many minutes. They were working Thursday seeking the short-circuit which was believed caused by lightning striking.

Classes for expectant parents will again be presented at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls beginning on Wednesday, September 5, according to hospital officials. Classes will be held once each week on September 12, 19 and 26 in addition to the initial session.

Both mothers and fathers are invited to attend the classes which will cover subjects of interest to all expectant parents, even if the coming addition to the family is not the first baby. Subjects covered will be growth and development of a baby, importance of proper health habits and nutrition and preparation for childbirth.

All of the sessions will be held in the hospital cafeteria beginning at 7:30 p. m. Immediate registration of persons interested is encouraged. The classes will be led by the medical staff and supervisors of the obstetrical nursing staff at the hospital.

To Explain Program

Set Conservation Meet Here in Sept.

Governor Andersen has announced that a public meeting will be held in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, September 18, to be conducted by Minnesota Department of Conservation officials to acquaint citizens with Department objectives and programs. The time and place of this meeting will be announced later.

This will be one of a series of nine meetings to be held thruout the state, and Clarence Prout, Commissioner of Conservation, and directors of divisions within the Department, will attend the meetings. The Department has completed a proposed ten-year program for the development and perpetuation of natural resources based on present and estimated future needs.

In a letter to the editor of the Times dated August 21, Governor Andersen mentioned the land acquisition problem in eastern Marshall county. Referring to it briefly, he said:

"On the Mud Lake matter, there has now been a very careful analysis of all of the land involved. The recommendation of use will come out and then we'll see to it that there are complete and adequate hearings up in the area so that all the farmers will have an opportunity to be heard."

This area problem no doubt will receive special attention at the September 18 meeting.

Att'y. General States City Can Sell Natural Gas

Mondale Opinion Adds TRF Could Condemn Rural Right-of-Way

With the city of Thief River Falls considering the possibilities of natural gas service in the future, an opinion has been received by Robert Wurst, city attorney, from Walter F. Mondale, Minnesota Attorney General. The opinion states the following:

"A city of the fourth class is authorized to establish a gas distribution system and to acquire necessary land or easements without the limits of the city by eminent domain. Subject to reasonable regulations by the road authority it may construct pipe lines along public highways."

In the letter requesting an Attorney General's opinion, the city attorney noted that Thief River Falls is located about 25 miles from a point where a natural gas trunk pipe line is now located.

The letter asked if the city could own and operate a municipal gas distribution system, if the city could acquire right of way by purchase or condemnation over private lands outside the city limits in order to construct a lateral to connect with the trunk pipe line and if the city could follow the rights of way of public highways for the purpose of constructing such a lateral.

Schools Open Amid Usual Commotion

Workshop Sessions for Teachers End, Coffee Hour Is Held

Schools opened in Thief River Falls Wednesday among the usual commotion of unfamiliarity with classroom assignments and the general excitement over the beginning of another school year. A full day of classes was held on Wednesday following group meetings for junior and senior high school students in the morning. All students began the school day at 9 a.m. yesterday but many started the normal 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. shift today.

Enrollment figures are not yet available since the earlier school opening this year has resulted in a number of students being out of town with their parents on late summer vacations or attending the Minnesota state fair. Total enrollment will be announced for comparison with last year' figures at a later date, school officials stated.

A two-day workshop for teachers on Monday and Tuesday was held with two breaks from the routine session. At 3:30 p.m. on Monday, the Chamber of Commerce sponsored faculty coffee hour was held in the school cafeteria under the direction of Sid Lieberman and Arnt Aune, sub-committee cochairmen for the Chamber's educational committee.

The address of welcome was given by Dr. A. E. Jacobson of the education committee. He reminded the teachers of their responsibility as instructors of the community's youth and the impression which they make on young, inquiring minds. He welcomed new and returning faculty members and invited them to take advantage of the city's business and social offerings, encouraging them to contribute to the cultural aspects of the community.

M. R. Hankerson, superintendent, responded for the faculty and Sid Lieberman served as master of ceremonies for the program. Presentation of the table centerpiece was made to Miss Gayle Altstatt, home economics instructor, following an introduction of teachers who are new to the faculty this year.

On Tuesday evening a dinner for faculty personnel was held in the school cafeteria under the sponsorship of the local education association. Invited guests were school board members and their wives, office workers, custodians and faculty members together with their wives or husbands.

PROSPECTS for community assistance under the programs offered through the Rural Areas Development and Area Redevelopment Administration programs are reviewed in the above photo by three individuals expressly concerned with the programs. Left to right are Hiram Sorenson, RAD coordinator who headed the meeting held Monday evening in the Pennington county courthouse; Fred Sorensen, agricultural coordinator for the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school; and C. W. Rodekuhr, Pennington county auditor. Attendance was good at the meeting called to explain the two programs and what is possible to accomplish through them.

Some Grain Coming Into Area Elevators

Harvest in the Times area will be only a fraction of normal this year with small acreage seeded and even smaller acreage being fit to harvest this fall. This statement comes as no surprise to most area residents, but elevator men polled by the Times early this week generally stated that the little grain which has been received is in greater volume and better quality than they had expected.

Elevator managers agree, with one exception, that the grain volume handled this fall will be far below last year which in itself was far below average. Managers of three elevators in Thief River Falls who were questioned by telephone on Tuesday stated that nearly all of the grain received has come from areas west of the city. For all intent and purposes, the rain-plagued sections of the county to the east have little grain for sale.

Most of the grain being brought to the elevators is being sold outright and being shipped out by the grain firms. Large crops of grain in other portions of the nation are serving to depress the market price, particularly on barley. It was also assumed by those questioned that farmers with livestock are binning much of their oats crop and light, thin barley for livestock feed. Other grain, whenever possible, is being stored on the farm to take advantage of CCC storage payments and support price loans.

Viking Is Exception

The one exception to greatly decreased volume, mentioned earlier in this story, is the Viking Cooperative Elevator association. Manager Lawrence Melvie told the Times Tuesday afternoon that the elevator has been more busy in the past week than at any time in its history. The area south and west of Viking, where about 90 per cent of the seeding was completed, has provided the bulk of the volume.

Melvie told the Times Tuesday afternoon that last Saturday alone he had received 74 truckloads of grain and that trucks were lined up until midnight nearly every night last week. Estimated receipts totaled about 119,000 bushels of grain including 15,000 bushels of wheat, 70,000 bushels of oats, 15,000 bushels of barley and 19,500 bushels of rye.

This year's volume is expected to run from 15 to 20 per cent above a normal year with generally good to fair quality on grain harvested. Early grain is better than late planting. Some small fields of wheat have run up to 45 bushels per acre, oats from 50 to 85 bushels per acre and wheat is averaging abut 57 pounds per bushel. Rust is becoming a problem in late oats.

Other calls to area elevators include the following reports:

Plummer Elevator

Grade A Producers Take Precautions Against Fallout

Producers of grade A milk in this area, whose product is marketed by Land O' Lakes and Bridgeman's of this city, have put their herds on dry feed as a precautionary measure to guard against radioactive fallout, according to Wallace Jordet, manager of the Land O' Lakes milk and ice cream department here, and William LaFave, local manager of Bridgeman Creameries.

This feeding program was adopted on the advice of the state advisory committee to the dairy industry. The committee stated that this action will continue to assure the public that the Iodine 131 level in grade A milk will be kept well below the guideline established by the Federal Radiation Council. Herds producing milk for manufactured products are not affected because much of the activity is lost by the time such matter reaches the consumer

The activity level in feed stored for a 21-day period is reduced to approximately 12.5 per cent of its original content. Activity in milk produced from this feed will be even lower by the time it reaches the consumer.

In an August 17 release from the National Health, Education and Welfare Department, it was reported that there are no areas in the United States where Iodine 131 has reached the dangerous proportions where action is advised. Actions taken by states have not been on recommendations of the National Department of Health, Education and Welfare and in most instances have come as voluntary action by the industry itself.

The local managers reported

Only the state senator and representatives are to be elected without party designation.

Daylight Time To End Tuesday

Area residents are reminded to set their clocks back one hour before retiring Monday evening to gain the hour of sleep that they lost last spring.

Elaine's CHATTER

Everything goes in cycles, happiness, religion, marriages, business . . . you name it and some experts will quote figures and percentages on whatever the subject might be.

Since "black" Monday, May 29th and the decline in the stock market, there has been talk of a business recession. We never have mentioned these things as we are a cock-eyed optimist and also, the more you talk about a thing the more it becomes a reality. Dad always told us, "Fight fire, don't fan it."

Well, anyway, it looks as if things are on the up turn and experts claim it has a great deal to do with women's skirts! In the early twenties, hemlines dropped and so did business. In the late twenties there was a definite rise, in skirts and business; in the thirties they reached an all time low, and so on. Well the happy news is that the hem lines on skirts will remain up and so will business!

For a starter, why don't you check at Elaine's on the skirts from GARLAND, JANTZEN, PENDLETON and many others. Also the sweaters to match or contrast. Don't forget the bulky sweaters to go with skirts and slacks. Another thing to check on is the knit dresses. One, two or three piece sets.

There is SO much we tell you about but space is gone. We invite you to Elaine's and see for yourself.

Welcome back teachers, hope your stay will be a happy one. Thought that speach Doc 'Jake' gave was a good one. Lots of 'meat' to chew on, but he always makes sense when he says something.

Bell System To Switch To Dial On Teletypewriter

Two Local Business Firms To Be Affected By Change on Friday

Two Thief River Falls business places will be affected when the Bell System exchange teletypewriter network (TWX) servig about 60,000 stations across the nation will be switched from manual to dial operation on a "flash cut" basis at 8:30 p. m (CDT) on Friday.

J. M. Wilson, manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone company in Thief River Falls, said nearly 1,000 teletypewriters located in Minnesota will be involved in the massive and complex nationwide cutover — the largest ever undertaken by the communications industry. Included will be Osborne-McMillan Elevator and Falls Supply in this city.

"The new service will be faster, more flexible and will open the door to further improvements in this 31-year-old business service," Wilson said. "The cutover will culminate two years of planning and preparation by the Bell System and by independent telephone companies."

In the past six weeks, more than 2,200 calls have been made from teletypewriters located in Minnesota to others throughout the nation to test the new equipment in preparation for dial.

At present, some 2,500,000 written messages are transmitted each month via teletypewriters. These connections are now made by manual switchboard operators and a special network is used for transmitting the typed messages.

With dial operation, each TWX will be connected to the dial switching network and will have its own number, just like a telephone. By utilizing regular local and long distance facilities, business customers will dial another TWX across town like a local call or across the nation by Direct Distance Dialing. Once the connection is made, communication will be in typed messages just as now.

Kathleen Hjelle Becomes State's 9th Princess Kay

Attendants named to the new Princess Kay were Julie Ann Jarvinen, 18, Wanamingo, representing Southwest Minnesota, and Barbara Warren, 17, Lake Wilson, representing Southwest Minnesota.

Miss Jarvinen also won the second annual Dairy Princess Candidates' dairy cattle showmanship contest held in the State Fair's Hippodrome earlier Saturday. Marvel Berquist, 18, Dassel, representing American Dairy Association Region VI, was runner-up in the showmanship event.

Minnesota's new Princess Kay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertil Hjelle who operate a 160-acre farm a mile east of Argyle in the famous Red River Valley section of Minnesota.

A 1961 graduate of Argyle high school, Miss Hjelle was a freshman coed at North Dakota State College in Fargo, N. D., during the past year. The 5-foot 4-inch, 118-pound princess is a home economics major and hopes to become an extension home agent.

She has been an active 4-H member for the past nine years with projects in clothing, food preparation, sheep and poultry. Kathleen won the state championship with her 4-H poultry exhibit in 1960. She won a trip to this year's fair as the Marshall county 4-H style queen.

Her extra curricular activities in high school and college have included radio speaking and drama, dancing, spectator sports and riflery. She is a member of the girls' rifle team at North Dakota State and has worked on the school's yearbook during the past year.

Kathleen's parents milk Holstein dairy cattle and market their milk at the Argyle Co-op Creamery. The Hjelles also raise sheep and poultry and wheat, oats, corn and hay on their farm.

For Kathleen, there was no jinx connected with the number 13. She advanced to the state Princess Kay contest by winning the dairy princess title at the 13th annual Northwest Dairy Day held in Thief River Falls, June 12. As Northwest dairy princess she represented Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Norman, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Roseau and Marshall counties.

As Princess Kay, she is the goodwill ambassador for all of Minnesota's 81,000 dairy farm families and all of the state's dairy processors. She won her title from a total of 1,592 dairy farm girls who competed in various contests throughout the state earlier this year. She began her reign immediately with a round of appearances daily at the State Fair.

One of her first assignments after the fair will be competing against girls from 31 other states in the eighth annual American Dairy Princess contest which will be held September 9-12 in Chicago. Princess Kay is a full-time employee of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, state unit of the American Dairy Association.

Other candidates in the ninth Princess Kay contest were Barbara Fenner, 18, Aitkin; Karen Schenck, 18, Hawley; Lois Strandquist, 17, Montrose; Karen Ackman, 18, Lake Lillian; Kathy Murphy, 17, Newport; Janelle Luther, 17, Lewisville; and Karen Blaschko, 18, Le Center.

Junior Livestock Show Winners To Be Named At Fairgrounds Sept. 8

Pennington county winners of trips to the Junior Livestock Show in St. Paul will be chosen Saturday, September 8, at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, county agricultural agent. Judging will begin at 2 p.m.

All 4-H club members are urged to bring their project steers, wethers and barrows to the show with the top animal in each division to receive a trophy from the Northern Minnesota Livestock Shipping association. Presentation of the trophies will take place at a livestock roundup banquet later this fall.

Club members must have a blue ribbon exhibit and blue ribbon project record to qualify for the trips and must have been 11 years of age by January 1 of this year. County winners will participate in the Junior Livestock Show from October 1 through October 4.

"All livestock should be well groomed and fitted for the show," Stelmaschuk said. "Sheep need to be properly blocked for this contest."

Volunteers Honored at Thank You Party at Hospital on Tuesday

Langen Says Service Academy Exams Will be Given in November

Congressman Odin Langen has announced that November 10, 1962 has been designated as the date when written examinations will be given for young men who wish to be appointed to the United States Air Force, Merchant Marine, Military or Naval Academies in 1963. Langen said applicants should contact his office by October first if they wish to take the exam this November.

Congressman Langen pointed out that the November date was set up for those who have not taken the exam before and for those who unavoidably missed the July testing date. However, he pointed out, candidates for the academies who have taken the exams before may take them again in November, but must contact his office for permission.

Information and application forms can be obtained by writing to Congressman Odin Langen, 1519 New House Office Building, Washington, D. C. The actual locations where the examinations will be given are to be announced later, but will be in towns and cities as near the applicants homes as possible.

Congressman Langen reports that the age limitations require that candidates be not less than 17 and must not have reached the age of 22 upon entrance to the academies. (July, 1963). Langen also noted that the examinations will not require any special preparation by candidates who have a good knowledge of high school algebra.

CORRECTION

In Monday's Times story covering the 1912 Lincoln high school class reunion held Saturday in this city, the name of Mrs. Theone (Walker) Brown was omitted from the list of those attending. The name was not included on the list provided to this office and would bring the total number attending the event to seven of the 26 graduates.

Some Grain Is Being Taken at Area Elevators

had received about 3,000 bushels of wheat and about the same amount of oats. Wheat averaged between 56 and 58 pounds and late oats and late flax is yet to be harvested. Rye was exceptionally good with yields averaging about 30 bushels per acre and farmers expressed the intent to plant more rye and winter wheat this fall.

Newfolden Co-Op Elevator

Manager Ray Tunheim reports that quality of grain received has been "pretty fair" but that there is not much of it. Only four loads of grain have been brought to the elevator from east of the village with most coming from the area west and south. A drop of 50 to 60 per cent from the 800,000 bushels handled last year is expected.

About 20,000 bushels of wheat has been received with bushel weight varying from 54 to 60 pounds. About 20,000 bushels each of oats and rye has also been received to date on Tuesday. Rust on late oats is expected to be a problem on quality and yield. The Strandquist elelevator, operated by the same association, received 62 loads of grain on Monday but will be far below its normal volume.

St. Hilaire Co-Op Elevator

Very little of anything along the lines of new crop grain is being brought in, according to Gerald Morkrid, manager. Barley is light and of poor quality, wheat weighs generally from 54 to 56 pounds and very little oats has been sold. Much of the grain being gleaned from fields which were planted is being used on the farm for livestock feed.

Thief River Falls Reports

John Kotaska, grain buyer for Farmers Co-Op Grain and Seed association, expects that his elevator will purchase only seven per cent of the grain volume handled last year. Quality is fair on most grains with receipts being about 7,000 bushels of wheat, 3,000 bushels each of barley and rye and 7,000 bushels of oats. Most has come from west of the city. One load of new crop flax had been received.

Jerome Latta, manager of Thief River Grain, estimated receipts at about 4,000 bushels of wheat, 5,500 bushels of barley, 3,400 bushels of oats and 3,500 bushels of rye. Quality varies widely from load to load with barley weighing from 34 to 44 pounds, wheat from 51 to 58 and oats from 35 to 36 on the average.

Jorgen Austad, foreman at Osborne-McMillan elevator, said most grain received to date would average out to a No. 3 test. Rye was the best overall crop in regard to quality with weight averaging 54 pounds. Receipts include about 8,000 bushels of wheat and 3,000 bushels each of oats and rye.

Fate of late crops will depend much on the weather and how late the arrival of frost is this season.

that the cooperation of producers throughout the area from which milk is received locally has been excellent. Increased market prices are being offered as an incentive to farmers to place their herds on dry feed, the men said, and the larger payments will be reflected in increased prices to consusmers.

Precautionary measures are being taken because of the uncertainty involved in regard to further Russian nuclear testing, weather patterns and related factors. It is designed to keep milk completely acceptable and wholesome for all segments of the population.

Views on Wool Plan Sought by September 4

Wool producers are being asked to make recommendations on two phases of the national wool incentive-payments program, according to Winton Knutson, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county organization. The recommendations requested concern the incentive level for shorn wool for the 1963 marketing year, and the advisability of changing the wool marketing year for the present April 1 through March 31 to a calendar year basis

Producer views regarding the two points are requested by Tuesday, Sept. 4, the chairman said, and they should be submitted directly to the Livestock, Dairy, and Poultry Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

The incentive level for shorn wool for the 1963 marketing year will be announced within the next few weeks so that growers may have the information this fall when they shape up their flocks for next year's production. The incentive price has been 62 cents per pound during each of the 8 years of the wool payment program, from the 1955 through the 1962 marketing years.

The question of changing the marketing year from the present April 1 through March 31 to a calendar year basis has arisen because some producers have pointed out that March 31 falls within the peak shearing season in many areas. This may result in early shearing and sale of wool before March 31 in order to get incentive payments the following summer rather than a year later.

'63 Beet Acreage to Be Unrestricted

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today that proportionate shares will not be established for the 1963 crop of sugarbeets. The announcement is being made at this time in view of the interest of producers and processors in planning their operations for the next crop year, especially in California where fall plantings take place. Acreage would be limited by processors' capacity.

Under provisions of the Sugar Act, as recently amended, sugarbeet proportionate shares are required only when the Secretary of Agriculture determines that the production of sugar from any crop will be greater than the quantity needed to enable the beet sugar area to meet the quota and provide a normal carryover inventory for the area. On the basis of probable year-end supplies of beet sugar, the Aug. 10 Crop Reporting Board's estimate of the 1962 sugarbeet crop, and estimated production from an unrestricted 1963 crop and probable marketing opportunities for the beet sugar area, this situation is not expected to prevail.

Company Builds Road for Timber and Game Harvest

Paper Company Joins Game & Fish Division In Construction Plan

Construction of four miles of road in Itasca county will open up 35,300 acres of public and private forest lands for timber management and game harvest, according to M. J. Latimer, chief forester, Blandin Paper company.

Blandin and the Minnesota Department of Conservation are cooperating in the road construction project near Sugar Lake, 12 miles southwest of Grand Rapids. It will provide access to 10,300 acres of the company's forest lands in the Shingle Mill tree farm area and to an additional 25,000 acres of adjoining county and state wood lands.

The road, which will be open for use on Nov. 1, 1962, is being constructed on a cost-sharing basis by the paper company and the Division of Game and Fish under the Pittman-Robertson federal aid program. It will afford access to timber stands and an excellent deer hunting area.

"This is an outstanding example of cooperation between private and public agencies," Latimer said. "The project is advantageous to both parties and is an excellent example of the multiple use principle of forest management."

Milt Stenlund, regional game manager for the conservation department, said that an area such as this, near a population center like Grand Rapids, lends itself to more intensive game management activities. "Access roads, he commented, "are an important management tool which provide for high levels of production of both wood and wildlife and sustained yields of both resources."

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

Following is a letter I have written to Senator Humphrey about our problem with ducks. If you think it might be of interest to others you are welcome to use it as a public opinion contribution.

Johnny Lillevold,
Grygla, Minn.

Senator Hubert Humphrey
Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator:

Upon reading about your views on the upcoming "Wetlands Bill", I feel obligated both to you and the farmers in this territory to tell you our side of the story—a side one seldom sees in print. I ask most sincerely that you give it your utmost attention. I shall try to present our case as best I can.

Not too long ago, Mr. Senator, you stated that farmers should write their own Farm Bill. I subscribe wholeheartedly to this, yet here we have a Bill where farmers have nothing whatever to say. At least not any of the farmers who would be affected. It is a Bill subscribed to, by Sportmen and Ducks Unlimited members. Not only are the farmers without a voice in the matter, but the Bill is designed so as to discriminate one farmer against the other. To explain, my neighbor has a Forty of ground. He pays taxes, the same as I do, yet his Forty is suitable for ducks—consequently, no aid from the government for drainage. My Forty—not suitable for ducks— government gives me aid. It could even mean, Mr. Senator, that maybe some farmers would have a little more pull than others and possibly get theirs appoved.

To continue, the article also mentions perhaps if the farmer could get no subsidy, he would like to lease or sell part of his land to game and fish, so that they might make a duck pond out of it. Certain times of the year, ducks can get mighty destructive to crops and I'm wondering if someday they'll want us to put aside some land for grasshoppers, crickets, army worms or things of that nature.

Yes, the Bill says the farmer can sell if his land is suitable for ducks. Would the Game and Fish Department be kind enough to sell if their land is fit for farming?

I want it understood that I certainly feel ducks and geese have a place, but a Congressional Investigation, if necessary, will show, I'm sure, that the Department already has plenty of room to hatch ducks. Mr. Senator, we try to raise grain for livestock. This Bill is designed so as to let Mr. Duck infringe on Mrs. Holstein. I believe records will show some farmers in Marshall County have been refused Federal Crop Insurance, because of the hazard. So, again we are told, no, they are not harmful! All right, Could we get a bill to re-emburse any farmer for looses suffered?

Are we completely against game? No, SIR. I can safely say almost to a man, no one in this area has ever complained of upland game (chickens, pheasants, deer, moose and the like). We did have a slight problem with elk.

It has been said, why spend Federal funds draining potholes? I ask, why spend Federal funds irrigating deserts?

I don't know, Mr. Senator, what you have been told about Northern Minnesota, I can only guess, but as far as our land is concerned, with favorable weather conditions, we can compete with anyone else, with the exception, possibly, of farmer, who irrigate.

I fully realize Mr. Senator, that we are most certainly in the minority on this Bill. That factor, in this case, most certainly should have no bearing whatsoever. We are the ones adversely affected!

You might ask me. Have I had any duck damage? As yet, I would have to say no. Have I seen duck damage — yes, I have and it compares favorably with the worst hail damage anyone has ever witnessed.

Please, Senator Hubert Humphrey, take a long look before acting on this "You Raise 'Em and We'll Shoot and Eat 'Em "Bill," and let's not have any more like it.

Most Sincerely,
Johnny Lillevold,
Grygla, Minnesota

PS: I fully realize you were not alone in favoring this "Bill."

Drury's .410 Mark Tops Thieves Club

Poole Leads in RBI's, Drees Has Most Hits and Most Runs Scored

John Drury, the 34-year old-veteran on the Thieves baseball team, has taken over the batting average lead of the club, having a mark of .410. Youthful Paul Klungness was the batting leader for a considerable spell, but the switch-hitting outfielder had his average pared during the past two weeks and his average has dipped to .327.

Drury, who played American Legion baseball at Moorhead, and later was a member of the Fargo-Moorhead Chix, has rapped out 32 hits in 78 times at bat. His runs-batted-in mark, with 22 rbi's, is second to team manager Joey Poole, who has driven 24 runs across the plate. Poole drove in five runs in the Thieves' 18-9 win over Twin Valley in the Region 2B finals on Sunday night.

Harlie Drees, a veteran member of the Thieves, and a former Prowler and local American Legion star, is the leading run-scorer, with the St. Hilaire native having tallied 24 runs. He also leads in times at bat with 103 and hits with 36 and ranks third in batting average at .349.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
DIRECTOR OF GAME & FISH

Certainly 1962 will be known as the year of the duck hunters' dilemma

If you have been a reader of this column you know that for the past three years you truly has been predicting that we were going to get into species management of ducks. To the hunter this means that you do not just go duck hunting but that you shoot ducks by individual species. Now, any duck hunter who has read this year's regulations knows that he is up to his ears in species management.

You will recall that we recently recommended a September teal season to be carried out in very limited areas throughout the Flyway, primarily for the purpose of teaching hunters to identify ducks before they shoot them. The critics said, "It can't work. Hunters can't tell the difference between teal and other species," etc., etc. Now take a look at the 1962 regulations.

You have a limit of two ducks a day with four in possession. However, you are allowed no redheads, no canvasbacks, only one mallard or one black duck, two wood ducks, one hooded merganser. Other mergansers you can have five a day with 10 in possession. In addition to your two ducks per day and four in possession, you can have two scaup (bluebills) as "bonus" ducks a day with four in possession.

In other words, we have jumped from no species management into total species management in one year. To be sure you are a legal duck hunter you should be able to identify canvasback, redhead, three species of mergansers, wood duck, black duck, ringnecks and scaup.

It is problem enough to tell the difference between a female redhead and scaup but it is even more difficult to distinguish between scaup and ringnecks. As a matter of fact, many hunters do not know there is such a duck as a ringneck. They call them "local bluebills" which frequently have a white band around their bills. Distinguishing between these two with one in each hand is difficult enough, and now, my friend, you are instructed to make this judgment before you pull the trigger on a foggy morning when they are coming over your decoys at 50 miles an hour.

The situation is not going to be as impossible as it first appears, but before we get into that let us analyze what brought about the 1962 federal regulations. The northern states of the Mississippi Flyway wanted either a very restricted season or a closed season this year realizing that the duck population in this flyway is at a low ebb.

In order to protect waterfowl and to keep well-meaning sportsmen out of jail, Minnesota and some other northern states have delayed the opening of the "bonus" scaup. In other words, you can start shooting ducks in Minnesota on October 13th but the daily limit is two until October 20th at which time the limit becomes four if two of them are scaup. If the weather is anywhere near average, this will eliminate much of the identification problem because by the 20th of October most of our redheads, canvasbacks and ringnecks have moved south. The scaup migration is generally later.

This action also will protect our ducks on the opening week end when the heavy hunting pressure always occurs. It is feared that many ducks would be shot and wasted by hunters who could not identify ducks but would try vainly to shoot a couple of scaup in order that they could take four rather than two ducks. For the first year, at least, we believe there will be plenty of trouble starting October 20th without wrestling with the problem from the frist day on.

If you are going to hunt ducks this fall, I would like to offer two suggestions. Starting now, get a pair of binoculars in one hand and an identification guide in the other, go out on the marsh and start learning your ducks. If you don't have a duck book write to the Department of Conservation for the leaflet "Know Your Ducks" It is not the best but will certainly help. On October 20th when you can have the two extra scaup, shoot them first if possible. Then you can't go too far wrong on the second two unless, of course, they both turn out to be mallards.

Thieves Carry State Hopes for Region 2-B on Friday

Local Baseball Club To Meet Gaylord in First Round Action

Hopes of good representation in the Minnesota Class B baseball tournament from the Norman-Polk league and Region 2B with the surprising Thief River Falls Thieves who are making their first state amateur baseball appearance in 11 years on Friday. The Thieves will meet Gaylord at 8:30 p. m. Friday in first round action of the state tourney at Springfield.

Other opening day games will include Benson against either Caledonia or Rollingstone at noon, Warroad against Rogers at 3 p. m. and Pipestone against Virginia at 6 p. m. The state tourney will continue through September 9.

Generally considered out of contention after only a mediocre 7-7 season, the Thieves have shown a remarkably good brand of baseball in the past two weeks. Forced to win a play-off game with Fertile to enter Norman-Polk League tourney action, the local club appeared to be out of the running when they lost a first-round, last inning heart-breaker to Crookston.

Double elimination rules provided a second chance and the Thieves capitalized on it by defeating Fosston 3-0 on a two-hit shutout by Fred Jensen, edging Crookston 6-5 on a four-run eighth inning rally and then dropping Twin Valley 11-8 and 7-4 for the Norman-Polk League championship.

Opening Region 2-B play with a 24-1 win over Stephen of the Northwest Border League in 6½ innings, the local club then suffered its first set-back from Twin Valley this season by losing 6-5 in 10 innings. The loss appeared to be a big one, since the winner need only win one game for the championship while the loser would be forced to take three straight victories.

Upset the Odds

Again the Thieves beat the odds by eliminating Kennedy 9-3 last Saturday night, handing Twin Valley a 5-1 defeat Sunday afternoon and collecting 20 hits, 10 of them for extra bases, in Sunday's nightcap for an 18-9 championship win.

During tournament play the team has shown unusual ability to come up with a big inning by bunching its hits, showing alert good defensive baseball. In the two final play-off games on Sunday, the club committed only one error in 18 innings. Exceptionally good defensive plays overshadowed the single miscue in the field.

Class B baseball competition on a state level is strong and the Thieves are not overly optimistic about their chances. First round games are single elimination with the local club needing a victory over Gaylord to stay in the tourney.

Hartz Whips VFW for Softball Title

City softball league playoffs were concluded on Wednesday night under the lights on the fair grounds diamond, and the Hartz Stores team, exploding for fifteen hits and taking advantage of fifteen bases on balls doled out by the Vets hurlers, scored a lopsided 28-6 win to win the city softball championship.

The Vets, on a double by Harlie Drees, an error, a fielder's choice, and a sacrifice fly by Wally Grovum, gained a 2-0 lead in the first inning.

In the second inning, three walks, a single, a double by Gene Halvorson and a costly muff of an infield pop scored four runs for the Hartz club. And in the third inning Kermit Malberg's team tallied another four-run cluster, with Dwight Tangquist's three-run double being the "power" hit of the inning.

The Vets, after tallying single runs in the second and third innings and holding the Hartz scoreless in the fourth inning, trailed by four runs, 8-4, entering the fifth inning. But in the hectic fifth, Hartz poled out eight hits, including a triple and a double by Jim Weckwerth, to chalk up twelve runs.

And in the sixth inning, the red-jerseyed Hartz squad sent eight runs across the plate for a 28 to 4 lead. Marv Olson tallied a home run in the inning when (Pony) Toulouse, the Vets leftfielder, failed on a shoestring catch try of Olson's drive.

The Vets did make an effort in the last half of the sixth inning when Pat Poole and Joey Poole opened with singles, and Drees' single, followed by a safety by Don Engelstad, accounted for two runs. Les Olson's fly ball to center ended the brief rally. And in the eighth, Kerm Malberg set down the Vets in order to nail down the city softball title.

Leading the Hartz attack on the Vets' pitchers, Wally Grovum, Doc Carlson, and Joey Poole, were Gene Halvorson with three hits in four trips to the plate, Dwight Tangquist with three hits in five tries, Jim Weckwerth with two-for-six, and Lloyd Noreen with two hits in four attempts.

The line score:

Hartz Stores	044 0 (12) 8 0	28	15	5
V.F.W.	211 0 0 2 0	6	7	5

Batteries — Malberg and Noreen; Grovum, G. Carlson, J. Poole.

Play 3 Matches for Local Golf Championship

Only three matches, all in the upper bracket, have been played in the sixteen-man championship flight in the Thief River Golf Club's annual tournament. On Sunday, Lloyd Bennes defeated Bob Flynn, 3-2; and on Tuesday afternoon, Larry (Shorty) Perkins, the tournament's medalist, defeated Bob Wurst, and Jim Solsten edged Rudy Mehlhoff, 1-up in a 20-hole match.

First-round matches in the championship flight remaining to be played are Wally DuChamp vs. Jack Boyer, Ron Kvikstad vs. Steve Embury, Jarvis Prichard vs. Phil Jorgenson, John Moum vs. Les DeBriyn and Ron Solheim vs Rod Max. The losers of the first-round matches in the championship flight will then compete in the first flight.

The tournament, in all the flights, is scheduled to be concluded on Sunday, September 9.

Let's Look at the Record

The senior baseball Thieves, the surprise winners of the Region 2B title, will be participating in the state amateur baseball tournament being played at Springfield. The Thieves will meet the Gaylord team of Region 16B in a first-round game on Friday night, with game time at 8:30 p. m.

Most of the team will be leaving for Springfield, a drive of about 340 miles, on Friday morning, but several of the players, including pitcher Freddy Jensen and draft choice catcher Dave Carlin, will leave on Thursday afternoon. Fred, who will be given the pitching assignment for Friday's game, explained that he wanted a "good night's rest."

And from the reports that have been received here, manager Joey Poole's club will be facing a strong Class B team in Gaylord, and the odds will be against the Thieves. But the Thieves have had much experience the past several weeks in coming into a game as the "long odds" club.

Since August 2, when they met the Fertile Independents at Fertile in a game to determine fourth place in the Norman-Polk league, and including the second game on Sunday's doubleheader, August 26, the Thieves have engaged in 11 playoff games. And in only two of these games, against Stephen on August 18 and Kennedy on August 25, were the odds in favor of the locals.

And what is more remarkable is that in this eleven-game span, the Thieves scored nine wins and had but two losses. The two defeats were at Crookston, by a 5-4 score on August 5, and at Twin Valley, by a 6-5 score on August 23, and these losses could very easily have been victories for the Thieves, with the locals holding a scoring lead moving into the late innings of both games.

And during this eleven-game stretch run, southpaw Freddy Jensen saw action in eight of the games, racking up five wins and absorbing one loss. Freddy will long remember the first three weeks of August, 1962.

Reunion Reminiscences

There have been a number of high school class reunions held in this area the past summer, and the reminiscences have been flowing freely.

Just recently a group of St. Hilaire high school graduates Woody Almquist, Connie Swanson, Harlan Olson and Klem Gigstad— held a gathering. And with this group, baseball was the main topic of discussion as they were star players with the St. Hilaire high school team, and later with the St. Hilaire Saints. In those days Woody was a strong-armed righthander, the possessor of a blazing fast ball, but with control problems. Woody started one anecdote by saying, "Connie, do you remember when I hit you in the head with a pitched ball?" To which remark Connie replied, "Who didn't you hit in the head in those days."

And the other week the Warren high school class of 1937 held a reunion and during the evening's festivities a number of the Ponies' football squad of that season — Robert (Hon) Hirst, Arthur (Red) Bossman, and others — got together with their former coach Herschel Lysaker, who was a guest at the reunion. And the talk swung around to the Ponies vs. Prowler football game of that season, and which was won by the Prowlers 14-0. One play in particular was brought up, and there were six different versions of how the play was run. Listening to the argument, coach Lysaker exclaimed, "Now I can understand why we lost some of those games, you boys didn't know the plays".

Sylvia Olson Is Again Women's Golf Champion

Sylvia Olson repeated as champion of the Thief River Falls women's golf club Tuesday when she won medalist honors in the championship flight. Sam Rasmussen was runner-up in the flight with Yvonne Bredeson as consolation winner.

First flight honors went to Marvel Van Rooy with Mary Jane Wurst as runner-up and Claire Johnson winning consolation honors. Ruth Legvold won the second flight with Marge Swenson as runner-up and Eunice Flynn as consolation winner.

Tuesday's activity was part of the last meeting of the season for the club. Three tables of bridge were played with Ruth Olson winning high honors and Vi O'Hara taking honors for low. Hostesses were Marilyn Charlson, Jean Hellie, Mary Smith, Alice Jacobson and Carmen Quam.

Statistics indicate that one out of two women in this country will work sometime this year at a job outside the home, Ewan Clague, United States Commissioner of Labor Statistics, reported during a recent conference at Columbia University's Arden House.

Visiting Drivers Sweep Speedway Class B Events

Detroit Lakes Drivers Use Modified Cars in Competition Sunday

Detroit Lakes drivers invaded the Falls Speedway with modified cars Sunday and swept Class B competition cleaner than Johnny's ears on the first day of school. One of the visitors will have not-so-fond memories of racing here, however, as his car blew a tire between the number three and number four turns in an A and B feature race and executed an end over end flip. Roy Adams was treated and released from Northwestern hospital with severe bruises.

Local racers showed knowledge of the track and Class A superiority, however, as Lyle Bjerge won the time trials at 16.5 seconds with Spud Manning second at 16.9 and Don Gulda of Detroit Lakes third at 17 seconds flat. Time trials next Sunday will start at 2:30 p. m.

Bill Schaleben of Detroit Lakes won the Class B race with Gulda second and Duane Cogger third. The feature race was also won by Schaleben with Cogger second and Gulda third among Class B. contenders.

Bjerge won the Class A heat with Spud Manning second and Red Monroe third. Manning won the Class A and B feature with Ralph Wilde second and Bjerge third. In the trophy dashes, Gulda took Class B. honors and Spud Manning won the Class A event. The burning wall crash was executed by Bob Sheets to the delight of racing fans attending the evening program.

Courts Speak Out on Weakness in our State Traffic Laws

A sampling of views held by Minnesota Judges, Justices of the Peace and law enforcement officers reveals that a large majority of these officials are concerned about the drunken driver, the driver under suspension, the old driver, and the young driver.

The replies are in answer to a letter sent to all Judges, Justices of the Peace, law enforcement officers, County Attorneys and Safety Councils by Highway Commissioner James Marshall soliciting their views and recommendations on safety legislation.

Hardest hit by those who replied was the drunken driver. Almost all felt that penalties should be made much stiffer, and some recommended that plates be impounded and time served in lieu of just a fine.

The driver whose operator's license has been revoked or suspended also came in for much discussion. Some jurists point out that these offenders are taking advantage of a loophole in the law by simply purchasing another car after their plates have been impounded. They recommend that no auto license be issued to any individual who does not have a valid driver's license.

If several of the judges had their say, all applicants for renewal of a driver's license who have reached age 65 would have to pass a physical examination, and all of those who apply for renewal, regardless of age, would have to pass a driving test. The feeling here is that there are thousands of drivers on Minnesota highways who have never been required to prove their ability to operate a vehicle safely.

Very few of those who replied had any kind words for special handling of juvenile offenders. An overwhelming majority recommended that juvenile offenders be handled in the same manner as adults; and several went a step farther by advocating raising the minimum age from 15 to 18, thereby bringing all drivers into the same court and subject to the same type of handling.

Other recommendations included stiffer penalties for second offenses, compulsory insurance, more unmarked patrol cars, stricter drinking laws including closing of all taverns on Sundays and the removal of politics from local law enforcement agencies.

A letter from the Minnesota Juvenile Court Judges association emphasized the importance of driver training, and recommended that driver's licenses be presented to new applicants in person at a formal ceremony to be held periodically in each county. They feel that too little importance is attached to the winning of this privilege and that a ceremony of this type would lend dignity to the accomplishment in addition to affording an opportunity to pass on a few words of wisdom

There was also the local sheriff whose most important recommendation was for a workhouse in his town. He complained that it didn't do any good to put violators in jail because they lived better there than at home and considered a sentence anything but a form of punishment.

School Bus Again Poses Hazard for Minnesota Drivers

Motorists Urged To Be On Alert for Flashing Lights and Youngsters

"With school doors swinging open this month, local motorists will again have to be on the alert for young students, and also the huge school bus," stated Charles Richards, Pennington county sheriff and chairman of the county safety council.

"The school bus was the unusual during the summer months, but now we can expect to see one at any time and especially in the early morning and evening. As motorists we are obligated to ease up on the gas pedal and drive cautiously when meeting or overtaking them. They carry a precious cargo—our children.

"In like manner, we must brush up on driving manners when near schools, playgrounds, or any other place where children are likely to congregate. During the summer, it's often too easy to become a little careless in our approach of these areas. Now, it could be a matter of life or death," Sheriff Richards said.

He explained that local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating with agencies throughout the state in support of the safety program, "Operation Survival" which places an emphasis on traffic violations that contribute to accidents. During September, the program theme accents the failure to stop for loading and unloading of school buses.

"State law requires motorists to stop when meeting or overtaking a stopped school bus that has a stop arm extended and red lights flashing as school children get on or off the bus, and to remain stopped until the stop arm is retracted and lights are extinguished.

"A driver upon a highway with separated roadways does not have to stop if the bus is on a different roadway. A separated roadway means a road which is separated from a parallel road by a safety isle or safety zone. A double yellow line is not such an isle or safety zone," he said.

Crime Increased in First Half of Year

Crime in the United States during the six months, January thru June, 1962, increased three per cent over the same period in 1961, according to a report issued this week by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Geographically, the Western States reported a crime increase of six per cent, the Northeastern States four per cent, Southern States two and the North Central a minus one per cent. Robbery had the most consistent increase in the Northeastern States while aggravated assault and larceny $50 and over led the general crime rise in the Western States. In the North Central States decreases in the crimes of robbery and burglary prevailed in most states. No significant changes in any particular crime classification were noted in the slight crime increase in the Southern States. Auto theft was up in all regions.

Sister M. Placid At Music School

Sherwood Music Course Offered in Chicago

Sister M. Placid, O. S. B., recently returned to Thief River Falls from Chicago where she attended the 25th annual seminary of Affiliated Teachers of the Sherwood Music School, August 6 thru 18.

The seminar is essentially a "refresher" course by means of which affiliated teachers of the school are kept informed of the latest developments in music education. It includes private lessons from distinguished artist teachers, advanced theory studies, and lectures on methods and materials. A special event of this year's seminar was attendance at the Chicagoland Music Festival.

Sister M. Placid is in charge of a branch of the Sherwood Music School in this community, offering complete conservatory training to local music students thru the school's extension division. This week will mark the beginning of the ninth year of her service in Thief River Falls.

"At his best, man is the noblest of all animals. Separated from law and justice, he is the worst."

Proper Distinction

A bill that would have permitted all veterans of World War II and the Korean war to reinstate lapsed government insurance policies, has been amended by the House to limit this privilege to those veterans who have a service-connected disability. If this bill is adopted in its amended form it will apply to an estimated 1,800,000 former servicemen who deserve special consideration. It would not include an estimated 16,000,000 former service men for whom commercial insurance is available.

According to the Christian Science Monitor:

> "The distinction which has been made here is one which should be observed in veterans' legislation generally. Granting that it is not always easy to identify which disabilities have stemmed directly from military service, the effort must be made; otherwise the nation assumes an intolerable responsibility for all who have worn a uniform, including some who actually benefitted from military service.
> "To respect this dividing line in the insurance bill helps preserve a difference which should be understood in connection with a still pending measure for pensions to all veterans of World War I."

Do We Talk Too Much?

Have we become a nation of blabbermouths? Do we reveal too much information about our political and defense programs for our own good, making available to the enemy information that will be used to destroy us?

As a nation we have come to expect information as to what is going on. We want the facts. But, in the interests of security, should some of the facts be withheld?

It is a good question, that was discussed recently at some length by Allen Dulles, who retired last year after nine years of service as director of the government's Central Intelligence Agency. Here are a few of his observations, condensed by the National Observer from a speech he made recently at Wesleyan University:

> "As a people, we talk too much. We all want to be in the know. As a consequence, there are strong pressures on our Government to disclose information which might be of strategic importance to our potential enemies.
> "I would not have us ape the Soviet's passion for secrecy; we are an open society and must not allow anything to diminish our traditional freedoms. But there are areas of particular sensitivity which we should protect better than we now do.
> "The Soviets are extremely secretive because they think—and to a good extent they are right—that if they preserve their own rigid security, our own programing of military hardware is going to be much more difficult. They, of course, can find on any American newsstand intelligence of a type that we would go to great trouble and expense to obtain about the Soviets.
> "The Soviets don't notify us when they make major changes in their strategic preparations. Some time ago they were committed heavily to the Bison, their intercontinental bomber comparable to our B-52. We knew they were producing these at quite a rate. Then—although we didn't learn it right away—they cut back. In time it was apparent that they were downgrading this particular weapon and turning somewhat from dependence on bombers to intercontinental missiles.
> "For a while we had the very difficult task of trying to analyze their program. So in this instance, from a military point of view, their secrecy gave them an obvious advantage. This sort of thing costs us money—not just the cost of obtaining the intelligence, which naturally comes high—but the military cost. Our defense budget is seriously affected when we have to build for what seems to be a threat but which in fact may no longer be a threat.
> "By contrast, the Soviets would have learned of one of our strategic decisions merely by purchasing a Washington paper with the headline: "Mobile Minute Man Canceled, Underground Sites Stressed." (If our intelligence agencies had been able to get that kind of information out of the Soviet Union, they could have saved a lot of money.)
> "Recently, Senator Cannon of Nevada observed that a potential enemy could purchase for one dollar—the price of the printed copy of the budget—military secrets given to the Senate behind closed doors. He indicated that funds requested by the President will support by the end of 1963 an operational force of almost 1,200 bombers, about half of which will be kept on a 15-minute alert. Does the average citizen need or care to know how many planes?
> "I want to stress again this timing factor. If we could delay the release of such information, much would be gained, and I do not think the general public would be in any way deprived of what it should know.
> "I have come to the belief that without any infringement of freedom of the press we can find ways to keep the American people advised of our military posture and plans without giving away to an enemy such intimate and detailed facts and figures as we tend to expose today.
> "I am not proposing a wartime type of censorship or even at this time the adoption of a British-type official secrets act, but I think the time has come for a serious study by the various departments of the Government—with the the co-operation of the Congress and the press—to see what stepts might be taken to reduce our present serious leakage of valuable information to the soviets. Within the framework of our traditional freedoms we must bring more cohesion and self-discipline, into the field of publicity in sensitive areas affecting national security."

We are satisfied that Allen Dulles' proposals have a great deal of merit and should be given serious consideration by our representatives in Washington.

Old-Fashioned Ideas

Lieutenant Governor Rolvaag, who aspires to the governorship, has indicated that he is very impatient with the slow progress we are making as a state. We gather that if he were governor things would be different. Old fashioned ideas would be set aside as obsolete and our economy, under his direction, would zoom forward.

Well there isn't much in Mr. Rolvaag's past personal record to indicate that he has the know-how and the capacity for leadership that would convert our state quickly into a "land of milk and honey." He has likeable qualities and a pleasing personality, but he certainly hasn't impressed us as being a ball of fire. We are satisified that he lacks the understanding of government that is essential to good political leadership, and does not have the background of training that would qualify him for the office of chief executive of our state.

But that is neither here nor there. What we wanted to say is that there still is a lot of merit in old-fashioned ideas. We wouldn't write them off merely because they are old. On the contrary, perhaps the mere fact that they have survived is proof that many of the old ideas are basically true and still serve a useful purpose if adjusted sensibly to modern problems.

We like the Wall Street Journal's defense of its "old-fashioned" ideas which were criticized recently by a reader of that paper who was inclined to the Rolvaag approach. Said the Journal:

> "Well, some of our ideas about economic matters are indeed old-fashioned. They are old because they have endured a long time, and if they have not been wholly discarded they are certainly out of fashion among the apostles of the new economics in Washington.
> "One of our quaint ideas, for instance, is that a nation which persistently spends more money than it takes in is headed for trouble. Another is that a government which tries to meet this problem by simply printing more money will depreciate the value of all the money that belongs to people. Still another is that a nation which continually gives its wealth away will thereby grow poorer, not richer, and find that the whole world grows less confident about the worth of that nation's money.
> "From this we are led to the old-fashioned conclusion that if a people are going to remain strong & great they must discipline their desires, have some sort of priorities about what they will postpone until another day. To believe that you can have everything at once is the faith of children.
> "So we believe also that a people do not prosper when an ever-greater proportion of their labor is taken away to support an ever-growing bureaucracy that produces nothing. The thought that the good State is that which lightens the burdens levied upon the people, not that which afflicts them with new ones, is even older than the 19th Century. It was old in the generation of Moses and Aaron.
> "Nor was it just in the 19th Century that men discovered they all prospered more when the farmer could freely exchange his wheat for the cobbler's shoes. They learned it at least as far back as the days of the Emperor Diocletian when all these things had been arranged by the edicts of the State and the people went hungry and shoeless.
> "Perhaps none of these old principles are any longer true. Certainly there are many who say they are not. In any event we are not so ignorant of the ways of the world as to believe that the world is always going to live by the lessons of experience. The new economics is simply more tempting, and hard to resist even now when the first faint signs of its consequences are beginning to appear.
> "Still, the question is only whether the old principles are true, not whether they are old-fashioned. For all that our friend in the pulpit may say, men will commit adultery, steal, kill and covet their neighbor's house. But no one would suggest that he is wrong just because the practice doesn't fit the preachment."
